

WOMEN LISTEN TO CHAUTAUQU TALK ON HOW TO DRESS

Efforts of Sadler Company at Gladstone Park Greatly Appreciated by Assemblage—Entertain This Afternoon.

"It is better to be well than rich; it is easier to keep well than get well; don't worry and don't take medicine."

This was the doctrine preached this morning and all day yesterday from the Chautauqua platform. The Sadler company has made a decided hit, but as was expected, did not draw, within a hundred or two, of as large an audience as did Dr. Peters or Dr. Stewart. But this was not the fault of the entertainers, but the misfortune of those who did not attend because the subject appeared not to be as attractive as some of the others. It required seeing them, however, to know that they were no ordinary group of traveling mediocres. Their work is no less interesting than it is unique, and of a character that entertains, while giving the most valuable of all instructions, viz.: How to care for the body.

During the forum hour today a double program was given. In the old auditorium Dr. William Sadler talked to men on "Mental Hygiene," while Dr. Lena K. Sadler, in the large auditorium, talked "Healthful and Beautiful Dress" to women only. Both these addresses were listened to by large and attentive audiences.

Company to Entertain.

This afternoon the entire Sadler company, composed of Dr. William Sadler, Dr. Lena K. Sadler, Anna B. Kellogg and Sarah M. Wilner, will entertain the audience. "What to Do Till the Doctor Comes," will be the topic. The program for Thursday and Friday night having been reversed, tonight Sarah Mildred Wilner will give a dramatic reading, "The Sign of the Cross."

"Double the number we had yesterday," was almost the universal report of the class work this morning. Each day has seen an increased attendance at every class, but this will naturally reach its maximum about tomorrow, when steeper and harder work can be accomplished.

Under Professor F. Berchtold, of the Oregon Agricultural college, the class in English literature is proving one of the most delightful of this Chautauqua course. He holds the class, which is unusually large, in the open under one of those giant firs. The seats are arranged in Greek theater fashion, and the instructor proceeds by the lecture method. The subjects discussed so far are, "The Growth and Development of the English Language," and "Representatives of Early English." Today the class discussed Chaucer and the Canterbury Tales.

Professor Berchtold is an attractive speaker and a gifted teacher which means much to the student in these short courses, where every word must carry its full quota of clearness and meaning.

The same increase was noticeable in the domestic science class today, for more than double the number of yesterday were in attendance. "Cakes" was the subject of today's demonstration, which, next to the salads of yesterday, is always the most attractive subject a teacher can demonstrate.

Five in Glass.

The leather craft pupils now number five, eight being the limit the teachers can accommodate. Last night more than 25 people were accommodated in the Y. W. C. A. tents. Miss Gage herself resigning her bed to some wayfarer who straggled in late.

W. C. T. U. Meetings.

The meetings at the W. C. T. U. headquarters are increasing in interest and even so early in the season are attracting a crowd that tests the capacity of the commodious headquarters.

The topic yesterday was "Recruiting for the Future," and the thoughts expressed by the various speakers all centered around the protection of the boy and the development of the man. The Loyal Temperance Legion, a branch of the W. C. T. U., was spoken of by many as the best organization through which to train boys in temperance sentiment. The power of song among children, the wisdom of taking advantage of the well known "gang spirit" and the power of example were all dwelt upon by interesting speakers. By request, Mrs. Ururu, who is the presiding genius of these discussions, told of the special dangers to boys in the messenger service, closing by saying: "I would rather send a boy of mine to the reform school than into the messenger service."

The large number of white ribbons and "Oregon Day in 1910" buttons is a clear indication of the prevailing sentiment among Gladstone Chautauquians. The kindergarten, under the auspices of the Mother's congress, is well patronized, and should be better, for it is sadly needed. If there is one serious criticism to be made it is the noise and confusion that results from the large number of children that are taken into the auditorium. And in justice to the children, he it said, that the mothers often make more noise in their frantic efforts to keep their children quiet than the children themselves make.

Ideal for Children.

Chautauqua is an ideal place for children. There is no danger of their being hurt or getting into trouble if given their liberty, even if there were no kindergarten for them to attend, and the mother that must have them with her and can't keep them quiet by gentle means should absent herself and not disturb the speaker and audience.

The two magnificent songs given by Professor Glen last night were ruined for the music lover, by the hum of children's voices, and the controlling parents that were heard all over the house. It was little wonder Professor Glen would not respond to an encore.

The ball game last night was one of the hardest fought and best played this year, and exciting. People fairly shouted their throats sore and one woman was seen to jump up and down in her glee when an Indian made the home run and won for Chemawa over Eagle Creek by a score of 11 to 7.

The week end is always looked forward to as "the big days" of the season, and knowing this the management endeavors to provide some of the best talent for these times, and this year is no exception, for the good things begin early and last late. Two unusually fine addresses will be given at the forum: One by Dr. Leonard W. Riley, president of McMinnville college, on "The Ideal Education," and Professor L. R. Alderman of the State university will give a talk on the unusually attractive subject, "When Knighthood Should Be in Flower."

All those who heard Dr. Peters in his two previous lectures will be pleased to know that they will have one more opportunity to hear him on Saturday afternoon in what is considered one of his best lectures, "How to Make Things Go."

New Afternoon Feature.

At 4 p. m. a new feature will be introduced in a sort of round table talk, though it will be, in fact, a college reunion, with Honorable H. M. Calk representative Oberlin; Miss Fannie G. Porter, Monmouth, and Francis Galloway, the State university.

To close the week's program one of the greatest attractions of the season will be introduced, in the person of Ross Crane, the wonderful cartoonist, mud moulder and funmaker. His company consists of himself, his canvases, crayons, modeling board, clay and piano. Wrapped up in his clay, he brings some of the most noted people of the earth. You will know them when you see them. Crane is a delight in personality, marvelous in his ability and absolutely per-

ENTRIES FOR LAND IN UMATILLA PROJECT MUST BE ACCOMPANIED BY APPLICATION FOR WATER RIGHTS AND CASH.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Washington, July 15.—The secretary of the interior has issued a public notice to the effect that all entries made hereafter for any and all of the lands shown in the approved plats of the Umatilla irrigation project, Oregon, whether for land not heretofore entered or for lands covered by prior entries which have been canceled by relinquishment of otherwise, must be accompanied by applications for water rights in due form, and by an amount equal to the sum of all unpaid, or paid and unassigned, installments for building, operation and maintenance which have accrued against the land for prior years.

Speculative Filings Made.

A portion of this project was recently opened to entry in units of 20 acres, the entrymen being required to pay three installments of the building charge and the maintenance and operation charge. While the taking up of homesteads under these conditions has not proceeded with the expedition that marked the filing on lands previously opened under the Umatilla project, it has resulted in genuine settlement. Heretofore a great many speculative filings were made, and more often than not the original entrymen never settled on the lands, but sold his relinquishment. Others took up homes here with by small capital and were not in a position to make a success of their entries.

The heavy advance payment now required has resulted in the entries being taken up by people who have seriously weighed conditions, and it is believed that every filing under the third unit has been genuine and will be a success. No other section of the project has shown so great an improvement in an equal space of time.

The first cutting of alfalfa on about 700 acres of established growth averaged about 1 1/2 tons per acre. The cutting of the second crop is now in progress. Considerable garden produce has already been marketed. From one-eighth of an acre of strawberries one settler realized $75.

Gill Netter Is Arrested.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Roseburg, Or., July 15.—Caught gill net fishing at the North Umpqua river dam at Wineburg, five miles north of this city, G. C. Clark, foreman of the Roseburg electric power plant at that place, was arrested at an early hour Wednesday morning by Deputy Fish Warden E. J. Sandry, of Jackson county. Clark came to Roseburg and pleaded guilty to violation of the fish law, which prohibits fishing of any kind at any time of the year within 400 feet below a dam. He was fined $50 and costs.

COOS BAY PORT MAY EXPEND $400,000

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Marshfield, Or., July 15.—The voters of the port of Coos Bay will this fall vote upon the proposition of expending $400,000 for harbor improvements. Three hundred thousand dollars of the proposed fund will be appropriated to make a channel 100 feet wide and 20 feet deep from the bar to the head of the bay; public dock sites will be purchased for $50,000 and $50,000 will be spent for improvements on the rivers emptying into the bay.
