THE SILLY SEASON

IT DOESN'T require the imagination of a seventh daughter of a seventh daughter to see that the silly season is at hand, when it is deemed proper to break all rules of normal human deportment. It is a strange thing that a residence, long or short, within sight of water and salt air, is always provocative of indiscretions and ephemeral intimacies.

Possibly it is because life at the seaside is one series of pink teas and bonfires and dances that the average pleasure seeker's thoughts turn to "romance." That is the nice word for it, but straight-from-the-shoulder would probably call it by a harsher name. Possibly it is the call of the blood.

Some sage said most happily, "Praise the sea, but remain on shore." When you go vacationing, keep your little head on your shoulders and your balance wheel in order. The summer hotel brings in into contact with more people and more kinds of people than come to see us in our own home, which is ample reason why we should demand credentials as to birth and breeding and general conduct in double measure. But, oh! my no—the correct thing at the beach is to let down the bars and scrape acquaintance with all comers. No matter who or what they are, that you meet them at the summer hotel is sufficient unto the day. When you return to town, all is different. Then my cold and impassive matron and maid again.

In the good old summer time all hearts open up and hands spring in salute. Your life must be shared with all to be truly lived at the seashore. Meet and mingle and meander with Tom and William and Grover and Paul. They are only vacation friendships, and may be discarded at pleasure. Make your manners as free and easy as the street urchin, and have your fling. Then come back to town, don clean linen and the strain is removed. These are beach manners.

Many tragedies have their beginning of the bride's parents on East Ninth street north. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the immediate family by Rev. H. S. Black, of the Second Baptist church. Mr. and Mrs. Kramer left last night for Chicago, stopping en route at various places of interest.

Mrs. C. M. Meredith and Miss Helen Meredith are summering at the Colonial at Seaside.

To Properly Freeze Ice Cream.

ices or sherbets, first crush the ice fine, then pack around the freezer can in alternate layers with rock salt or ice cream salt and even with top of can. When the can is thoroughly chilled, pour in the liquid to be frozen, cover can, and keep top as well as sides covered with ice and salt while turning. When frozen, remove dasher, cork hole in cover, drain water from freezer, pack with ice and salt even with top and cover with old sack, blanket or piece of carpet. Thus packed, the frozen stuff will remain in fine condition for many hours, even in torrid weather.

Bridge Coats.

BRIDGE coats fashioned from voile are smart and practical, and while adding to the beauty of the toilet also serve to conceal any defects of the gown worn underneath. Thus this garment does double duty in an attractive way. These coats are built like the Russian blouse and may be black or harmonize with the color of the gown worn. The former is, of course, the most serviceable because it can be used over every colored frock.

To Remodel Old Chairs.

CANE seated chairs that are worn out can be made available for porch and outdoor use at little expense. The chairs can be mended and painted with white enamel, and in place of the cane, a fine quality of Japanese matting carefully put on backs and seats with brass tacks. Chairs can be painted light green and green tinted matting can be used with good effect.

Cauliflower and Beans.

ONE cauliflower, one pint of butter beans, one pint of white sauce, grated cheese to taste, soak beans in just water until perfectly tender in just water enough to cover. Let the water boil away toward the end of the cooking, and salt to taste. Put the cauliflower in a little boiling water and boil gently for about 20 minutes, then break into small sprigs. Mix the beans and cauliflower gently together so as not to mash them, turn them into a buttered earthenware baking dish, pour over the pint of white sauce, add a generous layer of grated cheese, and put into the oven to brown. Just before taking from the oven add a teaspoonful of tarragon vinegar.

For Colored Summer Dresses.

TO keep light colored summer dresses and stockings pretty and fresh looking, purchase packages of any standard dye, as many colors as you have different colored dresses.

Hot Weather Drinks.

ORANGEADE: Use two glasses, which can be fitted together, or if accessible use a regular shaker. Squeeze into one glass the juice of half a lemon, the juice of half an orange, one teaspoonful of sugar, the white of an egg. Then shake, by fitting the two glasses air tight together, until the egg foams, and lastly add some cracked ice and enough water to fill the glass. This drink is very strengthening.

The Summer Traveler.

YOU can carry waists in a suit case with little crushing if you place one above another on a padded coat hanger. Lay them in with the width of the waists along the length of the suit case. Five or six waists can be carried in this way and when reaching your destination it is easy to lift out the hanger with the waists on.

Moths in Carpets.

FOR moths in carpets scrub the floor with strong salt water which is hot, then sprinkle carpet with salt once a week and sweep.

Children and Temper

CHILDREN cannot be taught too young to control their temper. Outbursts of rage soon become almost hysterical if unchecked, and should be guarded against as one would fear to become dependent on drugs or drink.

Acute hysteria is a dreadful sight and may endanger life. While it is usually due to nervous derangement, or the result of weakness from illness, it is often caused by uncontrolled emotions.

Instead of laughing about your child's "tantrums" seek to overcome them before they have become a fixed habit that will be untold misery to the child through life, as well as a torment to others.

For the Housewife.

STUFFED potatoes are made by mixing cheese and bread crumbs in with the contents.

When boiling fresh potatoes try putting a sprig of mint in the water to give a delicious flavor to the vegetables.

Plaster figures in hard or alabaster finish are easily cleaned by dipping a stiff toothbrush in gasoline and scrubbing into all the crevices.

If you have a black gown that needs freshening, cleanse it thoroughly with clear black coffee diluted with water and containing a little ammonia.

After the weekly washing rub a little vinegar and spirits of camphor over the hands. This will keep the hands in good condition summer and winter.

Garments that are to be hung out to dry can be put on hangers rather than pinned to the line. This prevents sagging or marking with the clothespins.

Mother and Child.

OTHERS are not infrequently grief-stricken that their daughters as the girls grow older, keep them from their thoughts and ambitions, giving confidence to others. In most cases this is the mother's own responsibility, because she tries to exert authority or pressure when others give only sympathy. To sympathize is not to agree; it is to understand the other side. Mothers should bear this in mind and meet their daughters on a common mental basis, even when trying to make the younger see that her attitude is mistaken.

Anecdote for Cigar Smoke.

THE smell of cigars is apt to hang about a room where there are heavy curtains and stuffed chairs. Air the room thoroughly and then heat a shovel until nearly red hot, place it in the coal scuttle in the middle of the room, and scatter in it some coffee grounds. This will quickly freshen the air of the room.
