

JEHO'S CAPTAIN DRIVES OUT RATS IN NOVEL MANNER

Rope Is Run Ashore and Rodents Walk to Land—Are Brushed Off on Attempt to Return.

A novel method of getting rid of rats was that used by Captain Frivold of the Norwegian steamer Jehu, which arrived in port this morning to load lumber for China. The rats which infested the steamer, were walked ashore on a rope, but on their attempt to return were dumped overboard.

On her last voyage to Europe about 14 months ago, the Jehu carried a cargo of beans from Manchuria and the rats, attracted by the good fare, swarmed by the beam, went aboard the craft in large numbers and in spite of all attempts to get rid of them they continued to inhabit the vessel.

One day while walking around the steamer, while she was in the drydock at San Francisco, recently, Captain Frivold and one of the other officers noticed a rat disappear into one of the ports on a rope which was hanging out. Getting a longer rope they passed it into the port and placing the other end ashore stationed themselves where they could watch results.

Very soon a rat made his appearance on the rope and went ashore, another following soon after. The captain and mate watched 13 go ashore and when they attempted to return to the steamer they brushed them off onto the drydock, from which they were chased into the water. Later the watchman served 34 more rats in the same manner. To assist in the extermination of the rodents five cats, two dogs and any number of traps are carried by the steamer. On one occasion one of the dogs was caught in a trap and since that time all of the animals have been cleared of them.

The Jehu, which has last here about four years ago, arrived at the Eastern & Western mills at 7 o'clock this morning from San Francisco. She made the trip in three days and six hours, in spite of the fact that a strong northwest gale blew all the way from the Golden Gate to Cape Blanco, the blowing being very hard for 26 hours, according to Captain Frivold. The steamer is under charter to Balfour, Guthrie & Co. and will load about 3,500,000 feet of lumber for Shanghai.

LIGHT DISTRICTS CHANGED
Reorganization Makes This Seventeenth Lighthouse District.
According to an act of congress of June 17 and approved by the secretary of commerce and labor, the present lighthouse districts are being reorganized, the rearrangement beginning today. In the new order of things a part of this district, comprising Alaska, has been made a separate district.

All of the districts up to and including the eighth will remain the same. The third subdistrict (Port Rico) will be the ninth district, the tenth and eleventh will remain the same, the ninth will become the 12th, the 15th will be the 13th, the 14th will remain the same, the 16th will become the 15th, the Alaska, a portion of the 15th, will become the 16th, the 17th will become the 17th and the 12th will become the 18th. The Hawaiian Islands and other American Pacific Islands will be the 19th district, as shown by a communication from the secretary of commerce and labor to Commander J. M. Elliott, inspector for this district.

BEAVER SAILS LATE
Large Amount of Baggage Arriving at Last Moment Delays Liner.
Three-quarters of an hour late in getting away this morning because of the large amount of baggage brought down to the dock at the last moment, the steamer Beaver, Captain Kildon, sailed at 9:45 o'clock for San Francisco and Los Angeles. She had a larger passenger list than usual this trip, all of her first-class accommodations being filled and her second class list was also well taken. Many who wished to take passage were turned away at the dock. She sailed with 408 passengers aboard and her freight amounted to 2200 tons.

Titan will begin dredging in front of the supply dock tomorrow and will deepen the channel there to 35 feet at the zero stage as far out as the 200 foot mark.

With passengers and freight from San Francisco and Los Angeles, the North Pacific steamer Geo. W. Elder will be due to arrive at Martin's dock this afternoon.

Laden with 522 barrels of asphalt and 200 tons of general freight, the latter coming from the American-Hawaiian Steamship company, the steamer Capistrano will be due to arrive at the supply dock tonight. The steamer Casco will be here tomorrow, both steamers coming on the Richardson Steamship line.

Inspect Celilo Canal.
Lieutenant H. H. Robert, Corps of Engineers, United States Army, and Assistant Engineer F. C. Schubert, returned Saturday night from an inspection trip to the Dalles-Celilo canal. During their stay up there they examined the work at both ends of the canal. The contractors are starting the work at the Celilo end and an excavation of rock is under way at Big Eddy, where the work is being handled on the day labor plan. Lieutenant Robert and Mr. Schubert report that work on the buildings at the Big Eddy camp are progressing rapidly and the most important ones, such as the powerhouse, masonry work will be completed in about two weeks.

Repair Dipper Dredge.
In order that she may be in shape to handle the work on the Cowlitz and Lewis rivers, the government dipper dredge No. 1 is being overhauled and repaired at the moorings opposite St. Johns. It is expected that she will be in shape to begin the work of reducing the shoals on the channels of the Cowlitz and Lewis rivers about the end of this month. She will be the only dredge operated on those rivers.

Specifications for Jetty.
Work on the specifications for the Jetty at the mouth of the Siuslaw river is progressing rapidly in the offices of the United States engineers, and it is expected that they will be in readiness to forward to Washington, in a few days. It is probable that about six weeks will elapse before the work on the north jetty will be commenced. Fifty thousand dollars is now on hand for the work and $215,000 more has been given to contract for $415,000 more.

PICTURED CRIME INDUCES MURDER

Denver Woman Attends Show; Same Night Kills Her Husband and Herself.

(United Press Local Wire.)
Denver, Aug. 1.—Following an evening spent at a moving picture show, at which were displayed films depicting the murder of a sleeping girl, Mrs. Margaret Evoland last night shot and killed her husband while he slept. She then shot and killed herself.

The double tragedy came utterly without warning. The couple had been married for several years and had always been markedly happy. Within the past few months Mrs. Evoland had been a victim of nervousness. It is thought the pictures Mrs. Evoland saw last night suggested the killing.

SWEEPS FORESTS OF TWO STATES
(United Press Local Wire.)
Butte, Mont., Aug. 1.—A wall of fire five to ten miles in width is sweeping through the forests from the Idaho to the Montana side of the state line near Trout Creek, Mont., according to reports today from western Montana. Strong winds have caused fires to break forth with renewed vigor and the situation has become so threatening that the forest service is urgently calling for every available man. Flames in the Lolo region today are reported beyond control, though 250 men are fighting. Five new fires have broken out in the past two days.

voice in the election of their United States senators. They have expressed themselves at different times in no uncertain terms upon that question by their ballots at the polls. I myself believe in the theory of the direct election of senators, and I consider that the method provided by the constitution in a caucus means by which the people can attain that end until such time as congress in its wisdom shall see fit to provide a more direct way by submitting a constitutional amendment.

"I am opposed to convention rule and all that the convention rule means now where it is practiced and all that it has meant to the state of Oregon in the past. I believe that the recent so-called 'assemblies' held in Multnomah county, and other counties are simply a step backward in the political development of Oregon. Therefore I am opposed to the assembly movement.

Favor Direct Legislation.
"I am in favor of direct legislation and progressive government, and I do not want to see the state go backward. Therefore, in announcing my candidacy for the position of joint representative, I want to state plainly, so that my position will be well understood by the voters of Clackamas and Multnomah counties, that I am by principle and personal belief strongly and unalterably in favor of the direct primary law; that I believe in the principle of direct election of senators and the method given us to obtain it, Statement No. 1; that I am opposed to the convention rule and the assembly movement and in favor of the people of the counties and the state saying who they desire to serve them as public officers.

"In making my campaign for this nomination before the Republican voters of Clackamas and Multnomah counties, I wish to stand firmly and frankly on this platform. I believe that the people have, under the law, the right to choose their servants, and I believe also that the candidates for office, under the law, have the privilege of an open and equal opportunity to secure the favorable verdict of the voters of their respective parties at the primary election."

Only 30 Years Old.
Mr. Chatten has been in Portland for the past seven years. He formerly lived in Salem, but moved to Portland in 1909, where, in conjunction with L. J. Hicks, he organized the Hicks-Chatten Engraving company. This is the only engraving company on the Pacific coast which has had so long and continuous a business life. Since its organization it has continued without change in management until the present time, having grown from a small institution to the leading institution of its kind on the coast.

Two years ago Mr. Chatten purchased a residence just over the boundary line in Clackamas county at Rock Spur station on the west bank of the Willamette near Oxbow. Prior to that time he had lived on the East Side.

through a window where I would not be distracted by the details of the male garb. I also studied her face through a telescope I made of paper and compared her face with my newspaper reproduction. They tallied exactly.

"Then I cultivated the acquaintance of 'Robinson,' but was unable to become acquainted with his 'son,' who stayed in their stateroom most of the time. While talking occasionally with Crippen, I studied his characteristics and compared them from time to time with the newspaper descriptions. I do not believe, however, that up to the time Inspector Dew boarded the vessel Crippen had any idea that his identity was known."
