NEW KINGDOM OF MONTENEGRO IS BORN TO WORLD

Principality Elevated by Act of Ruler in Honor of Golden Jubilee of His Reign—King Is 69 Years of Age.

Vienna, Aug. 13.—A dispatch from Cetingje, the capital of Montenegro, says: The simple folk of the Black mountain are rejoicing greatly today after their own peculiar fashion, and the welkin is resonant with the sharp and stunning reports of rifles, muskets and revolvers. Old and young, men and boys, gather in street and village, and on the mountains, and by the crack and pink of firearms give expression to their joy as long as ammunition lasts. In the afternoon and evening, when the cartridges are spent, they will gather in front of the royal palace, a term which gives an inadequate idea of the sedate farmhouse occupied by the Montenegrin ruler, and there they will shout their "zivio's," and even plunge into the measured excitement of the national dance, the "kolo." In this monotonous dance the men join hands and form a circle, some 30 strong, and gently swaying to and fro, sing in strophe and antistrophe, the praise of old Servian heroes, the most popular of these songs having been written by the present ruler.

If—and the hypothesis is wildly possible—there were some native witness of these rejoicings who did not know the cause of them, he would surely ask, "Is it because the crown prince's youngest born has killed his first wild boar?" or, "Has a new mail coach come down from Mount Loveen?" But the cause, as all the world knows, is that Montenegro has emerged from a principality into a kingdom and now ranks on an equality with Servia, Bulgaria and other of her proud neighbors.

Nicholas Now King.

Yes, Montenegro has at last realized her ambition of years and become a kingdom. And Prince Nicholas, the beloved ruler, is no longer Prince Nicholas, but is entitled to be called king or czar. All of which momentous changes have been brought about by the simple act of Nicholas in proclaiming the change in the style of government to mark the golden jubilee of his reign. He came to the throne 50 years ago today.

Of course, the little principality could not have been elevated to a kingdom without the consent of the European powers. But the latter could hardly withhold their approval in the case of Montenegro after they had permitted all the other Balkan princes to assume the dignity of kingship. And so when Prince Nicholas notified the kings of Great Britain and Italy, and the emperors of Russia and Germany that he proposed to make the change they acquiesced, though doubtless they would have preferred to have things in the little country go on as they were.

The new king was born October 7, 1841, and on November 8, 1860, was married to Milena Petrovna Vicoticova, daughter of Peter Vukotic, senator and vice president of the council of state. The offspring of the union are three sons and six daughters. The sons are: Prince Danilo, heir to the throne; Prince Mirko and Prince Peter. One Montenegrin princess is the present queen of Italy, and another now would be queen of Servia but for her premature death, while three other daughters of the new king are the Grand Duchess Militza of Russia, the Duchess Anastasia of Leuchtenberg, and Princess Anna of Bottenberg, respectively.

Thirteenth Kingdom in 100 Years.

The new kingdom has only 3630 square miles (just one half the size of Wales) to support the title. Though practically free and self governing for the last five centuries, it was only in 1878 that the powers recognized the independence of Montenegro. Up to 30 years earlier it had been an ecclesiastical state under the government of the vladika or prince bishop, whose combination of secular and sacred rule illustrated the divine right of kings. Since 1696, however, the reins of power had been vested in the Petrovitch Nyegush family, which celebrated its bicentenary in 1896.

Montenegro is the thirteenth kingdom to come into existence within the last 100 years. Six of these kingdoms—The Netherlands, Bavaria, Saxony, Wurtemburg, Westphalia and Hanover—were given birth as the result of the Napoleonic wars. Belgium was the result of the breaking off in 1831 of her union with Holland. Greece, Roumania, Bulgaria, Servia, and now Montenegro, are directly or indirectly the result of the breaking up of the Ottoman empire in Europe. The revival of the kingdom of Norway five years ago was the climax of the national ill will against Sweden, with whom she had long been linked under dual rulership. Within the same period of time there have been 13 kingdoms come into existence, four kingdoms have vanished from the scene, namely, those of France, Naples, Westphalia and Hanover. France is the only one of the kingdoms to become a republic, which would seem to indicate that Europe still inclines decidedly towards monarchy rather than towards democracy.

SIUSLAW JETTY WORK PROGRESSING RAPIDLY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

North Bend, Or., Aug. 13.—The work on the south jetty has been started with funds raised by the Port of Siuslaw, and about 1500 feet of the long pier has been completed. It is very solidly built, being constructed of rocks weighing up to ten tons each.

The government has appropriated $250,000 and $50,000 of this is available for immediate use. The contract for the whole amount will be let soon. The provisions of the government appropriation are that the port or county must raise an equal amount, so it will be necessary for the Siuslaw to raise $125,000 more.

It is expected to take three years to complete the work. The government started this 15 years ago and appropriated $100,000, but this was insufficient and the work was stopped. The amount of jetty that has already been built is said to have deepened the channel several feet.

Coos Shows Growth.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Marshfield, Or., Aug. 11.—The tax figures for Coos county, which have just been completed in the office of the sheriff, show that the total valuation of the property in Coos county has increased nearly $1,000,000 over last year. The total amount of land in the county is 786,495 acres. The total valuation in the county is $14,811,901 and the amount of tax to be paid is $446,457.

MAGIC RESERVOIR READY JANUARY 1

Big Wood River Project Shows 10,000 Acres Under Water.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Richfield, Idaho, Aug. 13.—Construction on the big dam at the Magic reservoir is proceeding as rapidly as men and machinery can do the work. The dam has now reached a height of over 100 feet and the superintendent at the dam reports that the structure will be completed, the gate tower built, the gates installed and the work be ready to turn over by the first of next January. This year at the time of high water in Big Wood river, the dam had reached a height of about 70 feet, and the company was enabled to store about 40,000 acre feet of water.

April 1 the company began the delivery of water to Carey act lands on each of its four tracts—North Gooding, South Gooding, Richfield and Dietrich. Up to the present time something over 10,000 acres of the Carey lands sold have been placed in cultivation, and plans looking to the development of at least 20,000 acres more this fall are under consideration. It is felt that the progress of development on the company's tracts has been unusually great for a first year, and there is every prospect that 1911 will see at least half the lands under the company's canals fully developed.

Of the various tracts under the company's ditches, the Richfield and South Gooding have shown the greatest percentage of development, in each case about 2500 acres of Carey act land, now being in full process of development. In addition to this, through the completion of the company's canals and works, about 5000 acres of non-Carey lands have been enabled to commence improvement. The greater portion of the land is in the vicinity of Gooding and Shoshone. About 5000 acres more of deeded land will be improved during the coming fall and winter under the Idaho Irrigation company's system.

WANT GOVERNMENT TO AID PROJECT

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Kennewick, Wash., Aug. 13.—When the board of army engineers arrives in North Yakima during the latter part of August to consider various irrigation projects, a committee of the Kennewick Commercial club will place before the board complete statistics and facts relative to the Benton project, in an effort to secure favorable consideration for that great irrigation enterprise.

According to the original plans for the Benton project the Sunnyside canal is to be enlarged and extended so that vast bodies of land on both sides of the Yakima river and extending along the west bank of the Columbia river are to be irrigated. While this project met with approval from the reclamation service only the preliminary surveys have been made.

Efforts have been made by men in North Yakima, Sunnyside, Toppenish and other towns of the Yakima valley not only to secure government approval of the Yakima high line canal proposition, but to include part of the Benton project.

LEWISTON PAYROLL $100,000 MONTHLY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Lewiston, Idaho, Aug. 13.—Secretary Talkington of the Commercial club has compiled a very interesting list of figures pertaining to Lewiston as a "payroll" city. While the data is not complete, enough is known to place the monthly payroll figures at $100,000 or more. The list does not include school employes or clerks in the various mercantile establishments. The Camas Prairie railroad carries off honors for the greatest number of employes and the largest payroll by many thousand dollars. The road gives employment to 217 persons, with a monthly payroll amounting to $15,037; the Northern Pacific, 42 employes, with a payroll of $5000 and the O. R. & N. with three people employed pays out $350. In this connection it is well to state that the O. R. & N. and Norhern Pacific business is largely merged into the Camas Prairie road, which is the holding or operating company in this district.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Pasco, Wash., Aug. 13.—From less than three fourths of an acre from which the sagebrush was cleared last fall William Bowers of Richland has taken four four horse loads of water melons which he has sold for $150 and he has many melons left on the vines. The melons were planted early in April and the first load was taken from the patch July 6. A four horse load of melons which Mr. Bowers brought to the Charles H. Collins company were the finest that have been marketed here this year, some of them being as large as two or three ordinary sized melons.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 13.—The general conference of the Methodist church, which will be formally opened here tomorrow with religious services, is destined to be one of the most important meetings of the denomination ever held in Canada, if the plans of legislative discussion and enactment are carried out. Among the matters to receive attention are the following: The publication of a new hymn book, the proposal to extend the pastoral term beyond the present limit of four years, the establishment of the superannuation fund on a firmer basis, church union, and changes in the methods of administration of missionary funds, especially in home department. The election of all the general conference officers will be among the first items of business. A successor is also to be appointed to the late Dr. Sutherland, as secretary of the foreign missionary department.

SUMMERFALLOW LAND PAYS PROFIT

North Idaho Farmers Use 3000 Acres for Bean Production.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Kendrick, Idaho, Aug. 13.—It is estimated that there are more than 3000 acres of beans growing within a radius of 10 miles of Kendrick.

It is predicted that the average yield will be not less than 1000 pounds an acre, which will bring at least 3c cents a pound. In other words, 3000 acres, which, under the old summer fallowing system, would be not only non-producing but a source of expense, as it costs from $2.50 to $3 an acre to summer fallow land, produce 3,000,000 pounds of beans, worth $195,000.

Last fall John Phillips and Gorden Heath, young Southwick farmers, had a 40 acre bean field that netted them $3300, and W. E. Mays of Leland harvested 40 acres, which netted him $5000, an average of $125 an acre.

Warehouse companies who heretofore were prepared to handle only grain have installed bean cleaning plants and a local firm of implement dealers has introduced a 300 sack capacity bean thresher, the first in the northwest.

About eight years ago agriculturists with the University of Idaho experimental station at Moscow, advocating the substitution of crop rotation for summer fallowing, made tests of the soil in this section and found it to be particularly well adapted to the growing of beans.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W, Notre Dame, Ind., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.
