

TOWN DESTROYED IN NORTH DAKOTA

Three Dead and Four Injured at Heaton; Freight Cars Blown 400 Feet.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Jamestown, N. D., Aug. 30.—A tornado that demolished the village of Heaton last night left in its wake three dead and four injured persons. The storm was so violent that freight cars were blown 200 feet from the depot and wrecked.
Relief trains are on the way from here, but the report is that the tracks are obstructed by the wreckage of a large grain elevator that was blown down on the railway right of way.

WITH BONDS SOLD WORK ON BRIDGE TO START AT ONCE

Woodman's Bid Disappointing.
The highest of these, it will be noticed, was from Olds, Wortman & King, who bid for $2500 of the issue. It was this bid that prevented the bonds being immediately sold yesterday. The majority of the entire block to Ladd & Tilton, but Councilman Celars, without inspecting the bids, declared he understood there were higher bids. Olds, Wortman & King, it is understood, bid for the bonds to facilitate construction of the bridge, and are willing to retire in favor of Ladd & Tilton.
The bid of the Woodman of the World was a great disappointment. It had been widely advertised as a special aid to bridge construction. City Auditor Hasler and Captain W. C. North, prominent local Woodmen, had done their best to have the bid submitted at as nearly par as possible. But Congressman W. C. Hawley, head of the board of head managers, who had advertised so widely his kindly attitude toward the bridge, and his general desire to invest in Oregon securities, submitted a bid that was absolutely impossible both because Hawley chose to offer but $1.88 cents on the dollar, but added a paragraph to the bid declaring that Woodmen of the World never bought any bonds that were in litigation.
Congressman Hawley had been informed before making the bid that the Kiersnan-Dunaway obstructionists had delayed the filing of their appeal testing the legality of the bonds to the supreme court, and that any bid that was made contingent upon this litigation would be unacceptable. Nevertheless he chose to file a bid whose only value was that it stimulated confidence in the securities at a time when confidence was badly needed.
It will be noticed, too, that many who bid for the bonds during the first campaign were absent in yesterday's bidding. Most of these had failed to get their bids in in legal form. Others had apparently lost interest.

TWO NAMES ARE LEFT OFF BALLOT

J. T. Chinnock and J. H. Lewis Ask Fields to Prepare New Election Notices.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)
Salem, Or., Aug. 30.—James T. Chinnock, candidate for water superintendent for this division, and State Engineer John Howard Lewis, who is a candidate for reelection, yesterday joined in sending a communication to County Clerk Frank S. Fields of Multnomah county in which the county clerk is asked to prepare new notices for the primary nominating election in that county for the reason that on those first prepared, Mr. Fields had omitted from the list of candidates to be balloted upon both water superintendent and state engineer.
Both Mr. Chinnock and Mr. Lewis maintain that the notices do not have to be posted 30 days prior to the election but as soon as possible or immediately after they have been sent to the judges of the election. The law makes it obligatory only that the notices be prepared and sent to the judges 30 days before the election, not posted 30 days before the election, and if amendatory notices were now sent out the actual compliance with the law by the sending out of the original notices would still be sufficient not to invalidate the election should the failure to prepare correct notices be brought in question before the courts.
State Engineer Lewis filed his petitions for nomination yesterday. They contained nearly 2000 names, almost twice the number required to place Mr. Lewis on the primary ballot.

GIRL IN DESPAIR SEEKS REST IN UNKNOWN GRAVE

mistake—a horrible mistake. Oblivion is what I desire.
"You know how earnestly I have tried to help myself to be independent, and with what success. You, of all others, know my life has been a failure.
"I hope and pray my blessings may fall on your life like autumn leaves. I wish you success. Say goodbye for me to my dear ones. Again I ask you to think kindly of me."
The letters appeared to have been signed "Nora," but the signatures had been so nearly erased as to be unrecognizable.
All Identification Marks Removed.
The girl apparently is not more than 25 years of age. She had removed every mark of identification from her blue silk opera cloak, the tasteful clothing and dainty lingerie. As she fired the shot she cried:
"I've shot myself! I did it myself, and now I want to die."
The girl refused absolutely to tell her name at the hospital and wept over her failure to end her life.
Poem Found in Handbag.
A manuscript, in verse, entitled, "Thessalia," closely written on seven pages, was found in the girl's handbag.

"THIRD DEGREE" INQUIRY AT END

Congressional Committee Will Defer Decision in Dr. R. B. Perrin Case.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
San Francisco, Aug. 30.—Whatever have been the conclusions of Senator William J. Stone of Missouri, chairman of the congressional committee investigating charges of alleged use of the "third degree" on prisoners by federal detectives, it was said today that the result of the inquiry into the indictment and prosecution of Dr. R. B. Perrin would not be announced for some time.
The inquiry of Senator Stone into the Perrin case has just come to an end. It brought out many alleged plots and counter plots in which charges were freely bandied against United States Attorney Robert E. Devlin, against attorneys for Perrin and against other persons connected with the inquiry.

FIRE SUFFERERS NOW IN NEED OF FOOD AND CLOTHES

situation soon will be worse than it was before. True, there was rain and the air is more moist. But there was not enough rain to do any lasting good or to prevent the fires from continuing to devour the forests and menace the towns should the winds rise again. Wherever there were fierce flames the embers now are smouldering. These could easily be fanned again into fierce fires. Let the greatest care be taken not only to prevent setting new fires but to keep the old ones from getting a new start.
