

CANNON'S RIGHT BOWER DEFEATED BY GOOD MARGIN

James A. Tawney, Next in Power to Speaker, Quieted by Insurgent Vote in Minnesota Primaries.

Minneapolis, Sept. 21.—James A. Tawney, chairman of the house committee on appropriations, was defeated for renomination in the First Minnesota district at the primaries yesterday by Sidney Anderson, according to practically complete returns today. Anderson's plurality exceeds 2000.

Tawney who was considered the "right hand man of Speaker Cannon," was fought bitterly by the insurgent forces and was backed by the administration. President Taft openly supported him, while Roosevelt, Pinchot and Henry spoke against him.

Tawney's managers today concede his defeat by 2000 to 200 and his headquarters is closed. Returns have been received from 260 of the 271 precincts in the district.

Congressman Nye, standpatter in the fifth, against whom A. H. Hall, insurgent, made a hard fight, was renominated.

Congressman Stevens, standpatter in the fourth, also won his renomination, though the fight against him was bitter. Halbert, insurgent, was his opponent.

The other congressmen were renominated practically without opposition. Tawney was the only congressman from Minnesota supporting the Payne tariff bill. The Republican primary fight centered in his district.

Washington, Sept. 21.—The defeat of Congressman James A. Tawney for renomination in the First Minnesota district is hailed by the insurgents as the most important victory they have won. They consider Tawney the man next in power to Speaker Cannon and believe that his views on tariff and conservation are responsible for his downfall. As chairman of the appropriations committee, Tawney abolished Roosevelt's conservation commission and interfered with the whole conservation movement. If the next house is Republican it is predicted here that Congressman Smith of Iowa will be chairman of the appropriations committee.

This is what is called a "piece-meal" policy and it is the most unsatisfactory that could be imagined. The supervising board of engineers should recommend to congress improvements in the order of their importance and have the power to advise that the beginning of certain improvements be postponed until others are completed."

MAGAZINE READERS ATTENTION!

Here are several wonderfully attractive clubbing combinations to enable you to secure your winter's reading at an extremely low cost. There is only one point to be remembered about these offers, and that is the time is the essence of the contract; in other words, the offers are void after October 31, as new rates go into effect with the various magazines. These prices are good only in the United States and its insular possessions and the order must be sent direct to The Pacific Monthly and received in our office not later than October 31:

Spokane Press. "Spokane Press" Message. The president's repeated part of the message sent when he threatened to veto the last rivers and harbors appropriation bill, in which he said:

"The evil in corrupt control of congress or of legislatures by private interests is manifest always and calls for condemnation. It is in neither legislative abuse as dangerous and that is the selfish combination of representatives of the majority to expend the money of the government for the temporary benefit of a part of the people with little benefit to the whole. It is the duty of the majority and of the minority to legislate for the benefit of the whole people. Enactments looking to the selfish exploitation of less than the whole people at the expense of the whole is a species of legislative abuse which comes near corruption in its effect. Perhaps it is more dangerous than corruption, because those supporting such a combination are usually bold in its defense. The days of the 'pork barrel' should be numbered. The country is aroused against corporate corruption and the tendency of legislative agencies are yet doubtful whether congressmen are yet able to perceive the higher obligation on the part of themselves and their representatives not to use votes in combination to appropriate to a part that which belongs to the whole."

CRIPPEN AND GIRL BOUND OVER TO CRIMINAL COURT

being conducted has been put under a triple guard.

The demonstration against Miss Leneve is believed to have resulted from the testimony of Mrs. Jackson at the inquest Monday.

Crippen's Office Man Testifies. W. M. Long, an attaché of Dr. Crippen's office, was the first witness called when the hearing was resumed today. Long testified that he had been by Dr. Crippen to buy the suit of boys' clothes which Miss Leneve wore when she fled with Crippen to America. He identified the suit which the girl wore when she was arrested as the one he had bought.

"Crippen appeared worried when he reached the office on the morning of July 9 and said Long in answering questions of Travers Humphreys, a lawyer for the crown. "He explained to me that he was worrying about some sort of scandal in which he was involved, but he didn't go into details. He told me to go and buy a suit of boys' clothes and bring it to him. He told me the size and explained about what kind of suit he wanted, but didn't let me know what he wanted it for."

"Crippen contemplated flight before the indictments were returned against him and Miss Leneve. Two days after his flight I received a letter from Crippen telling me to wind up the affairs of the office and take charge of his business affairs."

Another Associate on the Stand. Miss Curnow, who succeeded Crippen as manager of his patent medicine business, was a witness. She testified that she had never known Crippen to use hyacin.

"The only medicines I knew him to use he got from our house," Miss Curnow said. "He also used a preparation of his own. I am not positive just what drugs it contained."

Miss Curnow stated that Crippen had warned her to answer no questions regarding his absence.

Inspector Dew was called to the stand and he repeated what Crippen had told him of the case, both before and after his arrest.

Defense Professes Confidence. Both Crippen and Miss Leneve were visibly affected when the court held that they must be tried for murder. Both turned pale and were nervous and worried during the conclusion of the police court proceedings. When they were taken from the building and back to their cells, both were depressed and Miss Leneve showed signs of positive collapse.

"I am not expressing any opinion on the evidence that has been submitted, particularly with reference to Miss Leneve," said Magistrate Derutten, "but I think sufficient facts have been adduced to warrant the committal of both for trial."

Attorney Newton explained at the close of the hearing that his failure to produce witnesses for the defense should not be construed as an admission of weakness. He said the defense had its case well in hand, and that it was ready to go to trial, but he believed it was evident that the magistrate intended to hold the couple for trial, and that it would be unwise to produce the line of defense that would be presented when the final hearing came up.

The next step in the proceedings will be the indictment of Crippen for murder and Miss Leneve as an accessory. This will be a purely formal matter.

UMATILLA COUNTY DEMOCRATS OUT FOR HARRY LANE

tive and wide awake man be mentioned as a candidate for congress in this district—one whose name may be written in at the primary election and given the nomination.

"A number of prominent Democratic and independent voters were interviewed yesterday, and their unanimous choice was Hon. Harry Lane, ex-mayor of Portland. All of them stated emphatically that they would write his name on the ballot. It was understood, of course, by all of them that Mr. Lane is not seeking the nomination—that he does not want to make the race.

Ability and Fitness. "Colonel J. H. Raley, now and for many years one of the leading Democratic politicians and lawyers in Eastern Oregon, and upon whose word and advice hundreds of people are quick to rely and abide, was very emphatic in his statement that Mr. Lane's name should be written on the ballot, given the nomination and forced to run, for the reason that few men in the state, regardless of politics, stand as high in the splendid estimation of the people in Eastern Oregon—his name being a symbol of honor, integrity and clean politics and his ability and fitness for congress unquestioned.

"Senator C. J. Smith, than whom no man is more highly esteemed in eastern Oregon, was equally as emphatic as Colonel Raley in his opinion of Mr. Lane's fitness for congress, and stated that in his judgment, an able man, regardless of politics, could not be found, and that it was born in Mr. Lane, and is the principal part of his nature, to give everybody a 'square deal'."

Umatilla Is for Lane. "Colonel Will Moore, T. J. Tweedy, James Laine, William Wyck, James Jones, Charles Marsh and Tom Robertson were among the many other prominent and influential citizens interviewed and all of them said: 'Let us have Dr. Harry Lane.'"

"Hence, in Umatilla county, without the consent of Dr. Lane, we are going to give him a big vote, and if the other voters of the other counties of this congressional district view the situation as we do, it will be 'Congressman Lane of Oregon' in a short time, and when he goes to Washington the people will know, more than ever before, that our state is on the map—in other words, 'he will deliver the goods'; he will work like a Trojan and fight like a Roman. Therefore, give us Harry."

"WILL M. PETERSON, Chairman Democratic Central Committee."

Dr. Lane this morning declined to say what course he would pursue if he is nominated despite his protest. He reiterated his former statement that he is not a candidate for the office. "It is known to be the purpose of many Democrats in Multnomah as well as in other counties of the district to write his name upon the ballot, because of the sentiments expressed by the Democrats of Umatilla."

J. N. Teal, whose name has also been suggested for the congressional nomination, declares he could not accept the nomination if it came to him. Under no circumstances, he says, would he accept the nomination.

ward and district in yesterday's primaries.

Utica, N. Y., Sept. 21.—Corrected returns from Oneida county show that Roosevelt's followers elected nine delegates and the Sherman forces 14. Marvin K. Hart, leader of the anti-Sherman forces, received a telegram from the colonel today saying:

"I need not say how pleased I am. Congratulations to you and fellow progressives with all my heart."

Sherman, who is in Atlantic City today, has sent no comment on the result to his supporters.

15,000 GRAND ARMY VETERANS IN ANNUAL GRAND REVIEW BRAVE

Throughout the parade was strictly military, no women, children or grotesque costumes being permitted in the column. A hearty reception was extended to the veterans all along the route, each of the departments being cheered as it filed past. The demonstration was one of great enthusiasm, old and young turning out to greet the fast fading ranks.

The day was exceedingly hot and it was expected that some of the marchers would collapse. Ambulances and hundreds of attendants lined the route, but in only one or two cases were their services needed.

Silas Taylor was grand marshal. Walter Edge was chief of staff. Commander in Chief Van Sant headed the parade until the reviewing stand was reached, when he took his place beside Sherman and Governor Fort.

It is estimated that the attendance at this year's encampment fell short by 10,000 of what it otherwise would have been, because of the refusal of the railroad companies to grant reduced rates.

The question of erecting a statue to General Robert E. Lee will be the chief topic of discussion tomorrow.

wheat for Portland shipment, or to send any here until further notice. They will only buy that wheat which can be shipped to Puget sound at the same rate as to this port.

While some of the other shippers were more reticent, it is expected that all will divert their grain carriers to other ports until a solution of the question has been reached. As yet no meeting has been arranged for.

DIDN'T LOCK PIANO IN SAFE, SO THIEF GETS IN AND SWIPES IT

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Los Angeles, Sept. 21.—Police Detective Zeigler is conducting a quiet search for a light fingered gentleman who is husky enough under the coat to lift a $700 Baby Grand piano in broad daylight and get away with the trick.

When Mrs. S. Hurbit went shopping yesterday, she carelessly left her Baby Grand alone in the music room of her home.

During her absence it was kidnapped by some unfeeling brute, who made his escape without being seen by the neighbors.

Zeigler last evening located the piano at a music dealer's. The dealer had purchased it for $60. He was unable to provide the detective with any clue to the thief's identity.

Steamer Pay Streak Total Loss.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

New Westminster, B. C., Sept. 21.—The steamer Pay Streak, which ran on the rocks on Pitt river, will be a total loss, it was announced by the salvors today. The Pay Streak was built a year ago for passenger service and cost $24,000. There were only three passengers on board when the vessel met with disaster yesterday. No lives were lost.

MILLIONAIRE'S SON TOURS ON HIS NERVE

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Seattle, Sept. 21.—If his story is true, Harry W. Newman, a son of a millionaire importer of New York, is an adventurer of no mean attainments. To see the country, he says, he worked his way from New York to Albany as a freight clerk on a steamer, drove an automobile party from Albany to Buffalo, worked as a deck hand from Buffalo to Duluth, and completed his trip to Seattle as a student conductor on a Great Northern train.

Earl of Bathurst at Victoria, B. C.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 21.—The Right Honorable Earl of Bathurst, C. M. G., will be the guest of the local Canadian club at luncheon today. He will deliver a short speech. The earl, accompanied by Countess Bathurst, who is proprietor of the London Morning Post and is the only woman controlling a newspaper in England, is making a tour of Canada.

GOV. GILLETT SAYS NO SPECIAL SESSION

Bureka, Cal., Sept. 21.—There will be no special session of the California legislature to remedy an alleged error in the proposed constitutional amendment relating to taxation in support of the Panama Pacific exposition, according to Governor James N. Gillett.

"My action is final," said the governor to a United Press representative today. "I do not feel that the occasion demands the expenditure of money that an extra session would cost the state. I doubt that the omission of the words 'the year ending' would invalidate the measure, anyway."

OSWALD WEST

CANDIDATE FOR DEMOCRATIC NOMINATION FOR GOVERNOR.

Mr. West is known throughout Oregon for his able and aggressive administration as state land agent for four years during the first term of Governor Chamberlain. In the period, he brought order out of chaos in the state land department, searched out and added to the records 40,000 acres of land of which the state had no account, and unearthed the theft by McKinley and Puter, through bogus certificates, of large areas of school lands in the state. He abolished the system of go-betweens by which the purchaser of state lands had to pay agents a fee in order to make purchases, and brought the public into immediate and direct touch with the affairs of the state land office.

His management of the state's land affairs won great applause from press and people throughout the state.

For four years Mr. West has been a member of Oregon's excellent railroad commission, and has been known as one of the three aggressive and valuable members of that body. The reduction of distributing rates out of Portland, the 16 per cent reduction in grain rates in eastern Oregon, the order reducing the rates on wool, the 16 per cent reductions in Wells Fargo and Pacific Express rates throughout Oregon are among the many excellent features of the commission's work.

Mr. West is a man of affairs, strong, able and aggressive. He is 37 years of age.
