

ONLY 4 ASSEMBLY CANDIDATES WIN IN THIS COUNTY

Two of Them Attribute Victory to Fact They Did Not Boast of Assembly Stamp During Campaign.

Multnomah county returns, practically complete, show that clear through the ticket from circuit judge to constable, only four assembly candidates were given the nominations which they sought.

The big fights that were waged against the assembly nominees were all won by the anti-assembly forces.

On the legislative ticket, in both the joint districts and the straight county positions, there was not a single assembly nominee who was given place by the voters.

Robert H. Stevens had no trouble in winning his nomination for sheriff, being away ahead of George W. McMillan, the assembly nominee, and still further ahead of N. H. Bird.

The expected close race between Frank S. Fields and John H. Coffey for county clerk did not materialize.

H. W. Goddard, the assembly nominee for county commissioner, was defeated by D. V. Hart.

J. W. Bell, nominated by the assembly for justice of the peace, and successful at the primaries, owes his success largely to the fact that he shied at any mention of the assembly in his statement on the ballot.

Andy Weinberger in all probability owes his nomination to the fact that he, like Bell, avoided any mention of the assembly on the ballot.

The list of county nominees is as follows: Circuit Judge, department No. 1, John P. Kavanaugh.

Circuit Judge, department No. 2, Henry E. McGinn.

AVIATOR CHAVEZ SUFFERS RELAPSE

Physicians Say Condition Critical; Aviation Mishap in France.

Domodossola, Sept. 25.—Fear that George Chavez, the aviator, who flew across the Alps last week for the first time in history and who fell with his machine near Domodossola, will not recover, was expressed today by physicians attending him.

When the accident occurred Chavez was believed to be fatally hurt. He was taken to a hospital and revived and it was said he would recover.

Paris, Sept. 25.—Aviator Loridan, who attempted to fly from Paris to Brussels carrying a passenger in his aeroplane, lost control of the machine at a great height and both men were hurled to the ground.

Mr. Ridge moved from Pennsylvania to Kansas City many years ago. He represented well known Kansas City firms until he removed to Portland, where he has been living for a number of years.

Mr. Ridge said the statement in The Journal Saturday night that depositions were to be taken in Portland, he says he is the only witness who will testify here.

His deposition will end a spectacular quest of evidence that has extended over much of the United States and Canada. Mr. Ridge's home is at 9 East Sixty-first street.

of them were killed, but most were more or less bruised.

Joe Franklin and a boy, whose name could not be ascertained, looked after the horses owned by Todd, Murphy and Roe, and they were buried among the animals when the cars rolled over.

Miraculously they escaped serious injury. The names of the other three men in the cars have not been learned.

They, too, had narrow escapes from death as they rolled over with the animals and were imprisoned with the frightened horses until the cars could be cut open.

The accident is said to have been caused by putting on the air-brake too suddenly. The wreckage was removed quickly and service over the track was resumed with little delay.

Messrs. Todd and Murphy were notified of the wreck by their stablemen last night and this morning Mr. Murphy left for Woodland to ascertain the extent of the wreck.

VOTES OF PEOPLE CAUSE DEATH OF MACHINE POLITICS

and his opponent in the Democratic primaries were personal friends of mine, and under these circumstances, while I had my preference, I did not feel that I ought to take an active part in the fight between them.

"By force of a strong personality, integrity of purpose, honesty and capability, he has won his way to a first place in everything he has attempted to do.

"To the accomplishment of every task he has devoted the best energies of an intense nature.

"He has a record of accomplishment, as a boy and as a man. He mastered as no other man ever did before him the intricate details of the office of state land agent, and to his efforts more than to those of any other one man was due the fact that the tangled in which the state lands had been placed prior to 1902 was unraveled.

"His record as railroad commissioner is an open book, and more so when one while he has been a member of this board in the way of reducing rates, regulating practices of carriers and securing necessary conveniences for the public than was ever accomplished in the history of railway regulation in Oregon.

"He fills the Jeffersonian test, and is capable, fearless and honest. The people are looking for men who do things, and it is my opinion that the record and what he has made as one who accomplishes what he sets out to do, has been instrumental in putting him forward as leader of the movement to down those who have stood in opposition to the Oregon system.

"With him in the executive chair I have no fear but that the Oregon system will be maintained in its fullest integrity and the rights of the people fully protected and maintained, and every progressive policy having for its purpose the betterment of the state of Oregon will receive his warmest and most cordial support."

public business made it imperative for the governor to be elsewhere.

The government nulled the case against A. Z. English and F. B. Severs, both of whom have settled out of court the civil suits in connection with the land cases.

and then Clark and his bride went to the Bullock residence.

"We're married, mother," tremulously announced Mrs. Clark.

"And I'll be a good husband," declared the trembling groom.

Mrs. Bullock stared in amazement for a moment and then seized the young wife. Clark watched in astonishment as he saw his bride treated in such rude fashion and before he could recover Mrs. Bullock advanced on him and ordered him to leave.

Flashing eyes and a threatening manner convinced him that he might receive the same chastisement and he retired in confusion. Mrs. Bullock then fainted.

Friday she went to the district attorney's office and made the complaint which brought about the warrants. She declared that Mrs. Clark had repented her rash act and that steps would be taken to annul the marriage.
