U. S. Court Refuses to Allow R. S. Howard, Jr., to Intervene and Prevent Foreclosure of Mortgage Against Concern.

In the United States circuit court to day Judge R. S. Bean handed down a decision vacating an order issued to stay execution of the decree foreclosing the mortgage held against the Deschutes Irrigation Power company, by eastern bondholders. The decision quashes petitions in intervention entered to have the decree of foreclosure set aside.

When the United States court several week ago handed down a decree ap-pointing a receiver for the Deschutes project, and permitting steps to be taken looking toward the foreclosure of the first mortgage held against the pany, R. S. Howard, Jr., receiver of the Title Guarantee & Trust company, the Pilot Butte Irrigation company and others entered petitions in Intervention. on the grounds that the decree was imprudent and without proper notice. Hearings were held last week. The decision today allows relief to holders of collateral bonds in that the court said it would permit another hearing of the intervenors on distribution of the assets. Review of Assets.

According to the findings of the court the assets of the Deschutes Irrigation & Power company consist of uncompleted contracts with the state for reclamation of lands under the Carey act, a posed of by the company, a small amount of real estate, and some personal prop-The Deschutes project aimed to reclaim thousands of acres of arid land in central Oregon, is the largest private irrigation project in the state.

Then the company, in pursuance of its plan, issued bonds for the par value of $132,000, alleged to have been taken up principally by F. S. Stanley. It was also alleged that the company borrowed divers sums of money from different persons, for payment of which it assigned to H. J. Buckley, trustee, its liens upon a large amount of land. In March, 1909, the company into a contract with Roscoe Howard, whereby he agreed to reclaim and irrigate large tracts of land, and it is now alleged that the company owes the Howard Centract company, his assignee, $140,000 for such work.

In February, 1910, the defendant company, having made default in the conditions of the first mortgage, Frank R. Shinn and others, being a committee representing holders of first mortgage bonds of the par value of entered suit in the United States court for the foreclosure of the first mortgage and for the immediate appoint ment of a receiver.

What Was Alleged.

The bill of complaint made allega tions of irregularities on the part of the company's officers, alleged that the second mortgage was taken without authority and in violation of the terms of the contract made with the holders of first mortgage bonds. > Walla Walla, Oct. 2.—Seventy thousand dollars, the results of fruit sales, is being checked out to fruit growers of the Milton-Freewater district this week The money comes through the Milton Fruitgrowers' uplon and before the middle of this month will be swelled to $100,000, according to Manager H. D. Lamb. The money now being dis-tributed is from peaches and prunes.

With the distribution of the present dividends, the amount of business done for the year will total some $200,000, nearly twice the amount of the entire year's business in 1969. Added to this will be more than $100,000 in apples, which will raise the grand total for the year to nearly one third of a million

The prices received by the union for apples are as follows: Jonathans, Winesaps and Arkansas Blacks, $1.50 f. o. b. at Milton; Yellow Newtowns and Spitzenbergs, $1.75; Rome Beauty, $1.30; Ben Davis, $1. All prices are f. o. b.

Hubbard's trial was set for September 11 and Maher's for the following day.

Mr. Lennon said it was not the desire of the interests he represents to inflict punishment upon Maher and Hubbard after receiving assurances that no effort will be made to pull off any more "scraps."

The Municipal association went into action, to stop the fights, and having accomplished that purpose, is willing the cases shall be dropped. It is understood both cases will be later dismissed, so as to clear the records of the charges against the two men.

The day is set aside as a holy on by the direct command in Leviticus xxiii, verse 24, and Numbers xxix:1. It is called in the Bible a Day of Blowing of Trumpets, doubtless because of its celebration being signalized either by a call to worship, on the trumpet, or by the use of that instrument in performing the sacred music of the time. Inasmuch as trumpets were commonly used for that purpose the special ram's horn or "Shofer" has become the typical instrument of music of that day. It is still used in the orthodox synagogue. but the reform temples have long discarded it for the cornet.

Praying in Synagogues. The main part of the day's observance is the synagogal prayer and music. The Jews have so long worshipped in the telligently, for in the orthodox ritual it is all in Hebrew or Aramaic, while in the reform temples it is mainly in English.

The music evolved through the long ages, during which the Jews enriched this service, is peculiarly powerful and stirring, especally when rendered by a The prayer, music and sermon make up the evening and morning service, but the day itself is sanctified by family raunions, forgiveness of injuries and renewal of friendships. Any Man Over Fift.y

You can interest any man over fifty make him feel better, because while he may not as yet have any positive organic disease he no longer feels the buoyancy and vigor of twenty-five ror. the freedom from aches and pains he enjoyed in earlier years, and he very naturally examines with interest any proposition looking to the improvement and preservation of his health. He will notice among other things that the stomach of fifty is a very different one from the stomach he possessed at twenty-five. That greatest care must be exercised as to what is eaten and how much of it, and even with the best of care, there will be

A proposition to perfect or improve the digestion and assimilation of food is one which interests not only every man of fifty but every man, woman and child of any age, because the whole secret of good health, good blood, strong nerves, is to have a stomach which will promptly and thoroughly digest whole-some food, because blood, nerves, brain tissue and every other constituent of the body is entirely the product digestion, and no medicine or "health" ood can possibly create pure blood or restore shaky nerves when a weak stomach is replenishing the daily wear and tear of the body from a mass of fermenting half-digested food.

No, the stomage itself wants help and in no roundabout way, either; it wants direct, unmistakable assistance, such as is given by one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal. These tablets cure stomach trouble because their use gives the stomach a chance to rest and recuperate; one of Stuart's Dyspensia Tablets contains digestive elements sufficient to digest 3000 grains of ordinary food such as bread, meat, eggs, etc.

The plan of dieting is simply another name for starvation, and the use of prepared foods and new fangled breakfast foods simply makes matters worse as any dyspeptic who has tried them knows.

As Dr. Bennett says, the only reason I can imagine why Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not universally used by everybody who is troubled in any way with poor digestion is because many neonle weem to think that because a medicine is advertised or is sold in drug stores or is protected by a trade mark must be a humbug whereas as a matter of truth any druggist who is observant knows that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tableta have cured more people of indigestion. heartburn, heart trouble, nervous prostration and run down condition generally than all the patent medicines and doctors prescriptions for stoma
