Museum of Art—This is the last week of the loan exhibit of Greek, Roman and Italian articles of fine and applied art. The exhibition will be closed on the 17th, when a collection of paintings, loaned to the association, will be hung, including some very interesting French and American work. The study course of the art class will open on Wednesday morning with a lecture by Miss Rankin. The winter work in all departments will begin. The museum is open 9 to 5 on week days; Sundays, 2 to 5. Free the afternoons of Tuesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Out Kobby's Clothes—Through an attorney, Frank S. Elliott, of this city, today filed an affidavit in his suit for a divorce from Catherine Elliott, in which he swears that his wife is out of the state and that service in the suit cannot be made. He charges the absent better half with having cursed and sworn at him. On one occasion, he said, she cut up three suits of clothes and mashed a number of hats belonging to him. The Elliotts were married in Victoria, B. C., in 1904.

Robbed Three Times—For the third time in two months the cigar and confectionery store of C. P. John, 634 North Third street, was robbed last night. A stable on the front door was pried off and $45 taken from the till. John's store was first robbed at night about two months ago and about 10 stolen. Shortly afterward he detected a young Chinese boy running from the place after having been caught by a policeman and turned over to the juvenile court.

Entitled to All—The jury in the case of Charles Stromgren against Attorney Seneca Fouts yesterday afternoon returned a verdict in favor of the defendant. Stromgren employed Fouts to represent him in a suit to recover losses sustained in a gambling game. Stromgren charged that Fouts collected the money, after winning the suit, but did not give enough of it to his client. The jury thought Fouts was entitled to all he took.

No Receipts for Him—C. A. Gorrell was this morning given his choice of serving out a sentence of six months on the county reformatory or of filing a $500 bond for the support of his wife and three children with the county court. Gorrell said he would get the bond if he could. Mrs. Gorrell appeared before County Judge Cleiton against her imprudent husband. She told the judge that Gorrell had used his earnings to obtain intoxicating liquors.

Mother Wants Daughter—Adele Yeske, who filed a suit for divorce from William Yeske several days ago, this morning applied for an injunction restraining her husband from annoying the plaintiff with further visits to her place of residence. She says she has threatened to abduct a daughter, aged 8. In her suit Mrs. Yeske has asked that this daughter be given into her care.

Have You Seen M. J. Malley's new grocery store, 23-25 Sixth street north, near Burnside? Mr. Malley has just moved from Third and Ash streets, where he was located for 16 years, and will be pleased to have all his friends and patrons drop in and inspect his new store. His stock is new, and no more up to date or neater grocery store can be found in Portland.

Woman Threatens Suicide—No trace has been found by the police of Mrs. A. J. Dixon, who left the Ohio hotel, Madison and Front streets, last night with the declaration that she would throw herself into the river. The woman is said to have quarreled with her husband and left the hotel in a high temper. She is 32 years old.

Ankle Bones Snap—While walking on Davis street, near Third street, the ankle of Elmer Anderson, a laborer, aged 39, turned and two small bones were broken. He dragged himself to a bench, where Patrolman Klinge found him and sent him to St. Vincent's hospital. City Physician Ziegler attended him.

If You Have a Cough that ordinary remedies fail to relieve, go to Albert Berni, the druggist, on Washington street, near Second and get a 50 cent bottle of his Kenyon's Cough Cure. Your money cheerfully refunded if you are not perfectly satisfied with its results.

Great Sunday School Rally—First church, Taylor street, will celebrate its annual rally day—Sunday, October 9, at the noon hour. The special feature will be a program of unusual merit, including an address by Dr. Benjamin Young on "The True Significance of Rally Day."

The Pool of the Family—The People's Forum opens Sunday evening, October 9, at Seving-Bishop hall with an address on "The Pool of the Family," by United States Senator George E. Chamberlain. It will be a very interesting number.

Socialist Meeting—J. H. Wanhope of San Francisco, will speak in Drew hall, Second and Morrison streets, before the Socialist party, branch 4, Sunday evening at 8 p. m. His subject will be "Today's Problems." Emma Keno will sing.

Off for Receptacle—Frank Virgilio was this morning sentenced by Circuit Judge Gantenben to serve one year in the county jail. The judge recommends that the Italian be sent to the rockpile. Virgilio was convicted on a charge of assaulting Ned Pyle with a razor.

Appointed Administrator—By order of County Judge Cleiton this morning, Ivor Johnson was appointed administrator of the estate of Grimes Strand. The heirs of the estate are: Cunele Strand, a daughter aged 16, and Rasmus N. Strand, her father. The estate is valued at $10,000.

Not Wet Enough—A petition, asking for a local option election to be held November 8 in precinct No. 76, was filed in the county clerk's office this morning. The precinct is now in the "dry" column. The saloon interests seek to make it more humid.

Fall Meeting—The fall meeting of the Presbytery of Portland will be held in the Rose City Park Presbyterian church, beginning Monday evening, October 10.

Unredeemed Wages—Diamonds, watches, jewelry, musical instruments, for amount loaned and interest. Uncle Myera, 71 1/2 st., bet. Oak and Pine.

WAGGONER CITY OFFICIALS SCORE SEVERE SCORING

Taxpayers' League Organized for Purpose of Keeping Check on Present City Administration.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Vancouver, Wash., Oct. 8.—In the neighborhood of 100 men of the city gathered in the Commercial clubrooms last night and organized a Taxpayers' league. The principal business of the league will be to keep watch of the expenditures of the city, but as the name implies, will extend to the state if conditions demanded.

Professor Hough was elected chairman and Attorney George E. Simpson secretary. To outline the purposes of the meeting Professor Hough read the heading of a petition which had been circulated about the city and to which 282 names were affixed. The main approach of the city election when the voters would be called upon to decide whether or not municipal bonds in the sum of $214,000 should be voted with which to build a municipal water system was the principal object of the meeting.

To gather data and look into the feasibility of the project was the principal part of the meeting. Judge Miller stated that he had been present at a preliminary meeting, and he hereafter, has any apologies to make, was to look after the business methods employed by the city council and if possible stop the extravagance in which the people's money was being used. Another reason was to induce men to run for office who would jangle among themselves and work for the interest of the city.

Unbusinesslike Administration.
Attorney H. W. Arnold made an onslaught on the present mayor and city council, saying in part: "I have some property in the city subject to taxation, and I am not sure that in the past three years has more than doubled on account of the unbusinesslike way the present city council has conducted the city's affairs; some of the councilmen are here present, but I have not now, and will hereafter, have any apologies to make. Business is lost sight of at the meetings when a rough and tumble fight is on. They call each other asses and accomplish nothing. We have had mayors who had no consideration for the taxpayers and have no regard for the taxpayers who put their money into the treasury should get something for it. Some streets in the city are in worse condition than are the county roads. Another important matter to be looked into is the tax rate. It is the highest in the state and it is the duty of the council to take over the water of the Lewis river and bring it into the city through a 16 inch shaft pipe. We should have safe, sane, honest business men at the city's head, and we have not got them now. I don't know whose toes I am treading on, but I don't care. We want men who will not sidetrack business to engage in wrangles, chew each other's ears night after night and disgrace the city."

Fruit Inspector Lax.
Foster Hidden stated the most important question before the meeting was the formation of a taxpayers' league. Superintendent Clarke asked the purpose of the league, to which Mr. Hidden responded: "If the council is going to make an appropriation, it is useless for one man to go and plead the cause, but if we have a committee representing the taxpayers' league, at least some consideration will be shown. There are many grafts and one of them is the fruit inspector at $1800 a year. What he does for the money I do not know. He came and went through my orchard and counted the dead trees; that is all he did."

Hunting Good at Hermiston.
Hermiston, Or., Oct. 8.—Hermiston is becoming the hunters' paradise. Mallard ducks are very plentiful here now, and the hunters are coming in from the surrounding towns and cities to hunt. Three of them yesterday brought in over 40 fine mallards and teal. The lakes are only half a mile from town.

How Didn't Lax It.
In speaking of the organization of the league Professor Hough said: "I will remember the last taxpayers' league organized in Vancouver. I was a member of that league and the first thing done was to reduce my salary as teacher in the public schools; the salary of the county officials was not reduced; the officials could not go into the schools, but the league could handle the affairs of the officers. I hope that this will not be repeated."

Mayor Kiggins inquired when the city was in better shape than at present. He brought forth a document purporting to be signed by a large number of residents of the city, stating that they would patronize a municipal water system if installed and among the names was John Harvey. Mr. Harvey firmly denied that he had ever signed such a paper and much merriment ensued when his signature was found attached.

Lloyd DuBois said that the city had had its turn with municipal ventures and was now in debt some $40,000 on the electric lighting plant. He moved that a committee of five good men be appointed to draft by-laws, good men, not corporation lawyers, plutocrats, etc. Chairman Hough assured him that he would heed his wish by appointing all Democrats on the committee.

August High stated that in his opinion a competent engineer should be secured to go over the plans and route and pass upon the matter.

W. B. DuBois, one of the councilmen, stated that he was here against the project, and before ultimately taking a gambler's plunge and go into the Lewis river, an engineer should be employed.

Taxes Go High.
W. S. Wood brought up the question of rate which would be made should a municipal plant be installed, and stated that a renter who voted the plant would get cheap water while the taxpayers and owners of the houses would have the taxes to pay. He was asked what difference it made if a renter did pay less water rent, so long as the landlord had the renter. Mr. Wood replied that if the taxes got much higher landlords would thank God if they had a renter at all.

E. M. Rowley stated that Mr. Norris had expended more money last year than both of the other corporations—electric light and telephone. Manager Turley took exceptions and was assured that the city would in no way try to interfere with or to take over the lighting plant. Mr. Rowley continued that at the last fire, which promised destruction to the city, it was evident to condemn the water system. The pipes leading into the fire cisterns were only half opened, with hopes that they would be pumped dry; that Mr. Norris and the water men opened up the valves, and the cisterns filled and flooded the streets.

Lloyd DuBois took exceptions to the water in the Lewis river, that it was not pure. Councilman Tenny contended it was pure, and Mr. DuBois said it might be only at times of freshets and when dog salmon were running.

Dr. Eastman does not believe that the water system should be owned by the city. The council changes frequently, he said, and new men take hold; a certain laziness in management comes and public utilities suffer.

A committee composed of the following was appointed to look into the merits of the project and report at a later meeting: Allison Burnham, W. F. Crawford, L. M. Hidden, C. C. Riddels and Ben Soden. The committee was given power to hire a competent engineer and the following committee was named to solicit funds: W. B. DuBois, A. W. Calder and Dr. Arnold.

The meeting adjourned to next Tuesday when an open meeting of the Commercial club will be held.

MIND OF WITNESS WRECKED; DOCTORS MAY NOT BE TRIED
being adjudged incapable, will be placed in a sanitarium where every effort will be made to restore his health and mind.

The fatal operation of Mr. Roberts was performed in the presence of Basset, according to the information in the hands of the district attorney. This was September 16. The grand jury returned a true bill against the physicians September 26. They were admitted to bail in the sum of $5000 each.

Basset Physical Wreck.
Basset was placed in jail in order to insure his being present on the witness stand when the case comes up for trial. All day long he sits in his cell, running his fingers through his shock of red hair. His face is a ghastly white, with the dimmest vestige of an expression. His eyes are as just as those of a dead fish. His whole appearance furnishes a powerful commentary upon the transgressions of youth. And only last night he was in the full possession of his faculties, was healthy and robust.

Now, his fellow prisoners say, he eats to be told what his meals are. He has a morsel of food at rare intervals in a mechanical fashion. After taking one look at him yesterday afternoon, County Physician Geary saw plainly that the man was dying by inches. Yet he has no disease. His condition is due to his remorse for the death of the woman he loved—Lillian.

Deputy District Attorney Collier, not hearing of Basset's condition till yesterday afternoon, decided immediately upon being acquainted with the facts to see the prisoner and arrange if possible to have him bailed. The deputy prosecutor realized almost at once that bail is not out of the question, and that immediate action is necessary, if the life and reason of the prisoner are to be saved to be of use to the state.

"Have you ever thought about being admitted to bail?" was the first question addressed to Basset by the deputy.

The important witness for the state did not exhibit a sign of having heard the question, but, as if continuing aloud some inner speech he mumbled in a vacant undertone, "I want my little girl. Other questions produced no effect upon the prisoner. Only once did he face his questioner and then all he said was "she's gone, she's gone."

The "little girl" he refers to is supposed to have been Mrs. Roberts.

CHIEF COULD STOP CHINESE GAMBLING

President of Municipal Association Points Out Way to Do It.

Portland, Oct. 8.—To the Editor of The Journal.—In your issue of Thursday Chief of Police Cox is reported to have reiterated to the present grand jury what he stated before, namely, "that efforts to close Chinese gambling would lead only to police grafting," and that "because of the manner in which the buildings occupied by the Chinese are constructed, with numerous passageways and secret exits, it would be practically impossible to put them out of existence."

The chief is in a pitiable position. In his view of the situation, as your report states it, he can enforce the law only at the cost of demoralizing the police. To preserve the police from corruption he must permit violation of the law. As a solution of the situation he has pursued the policy of permitting the Chinese to gamble in violation of the law, provided, however, that persons of no other race shall be permitted to take part. The failure of this policy is what has brought the matter to the attention of the grand jury.

The chief's view of the situation would seem to put him in a dilemma, namely, that under his command the whole police power of this city, consisting of about 150 salaried men and the machinery provided for increasing it in time of need, is inadequate to deal with a few score of Chinese gamblers, or else that the police force is composed of a body of dishonest men over whom he has not sufficient control to redress the situation. The chief's deduction in either case is simple and the remedy plain.

But the persons familiar with present conditions in this city will not believe that the chief of police cannot stop the evil complained of. Sheriff Word, who has a few deputies at his back, stopped it, or nearly all of it, in short order. The Chinese in this city are too timid and weak to carry on this pursuit if there is any serious opposition by the police authorities; in other words, without "protection."

It is notorious that the Chinese gamblers are now paying large sums of money at regular intervals for "protection." It is exceedingly improbable that the regularly enlisted policeman on a beat is receiving any part of this money. But it makes small difference to the citizens of this city who is getting such money. The significant point of the situation is in the fact that their chief of police officer, sworn and paid to enforce their laws and to protect their rights, should, openly or otherwise, permit men of a particular color to defy a particular or any law, on conditions dictated by himself, and that he has and does openly declare that he has done so and will do so.

UMATILLA IS SOON TO GET ITS FIRST CHURCH

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Umatilla, Or., Oct. 8.—Umatilla, the oldest town in eastern Oregon, is to have its first church. The Roman Catholics have decided to build a church here at once, and plans are now complete and the contract let this week. The site, which is one acre, has been donated by D. C. Brownell, a leading business man of the city. The building will be a good size and will add much to the city's future progress.

Within three months after the purchase of England's wireless telegraph stations by the government the number of messages sent and received was doubled.

They Grow Hair
Certain Ingredients if Properly Combined, Stimulate Human Hair Growth.

Research in one of the most effective germ destroyers ever discovered. Betaphthol is a most powerful, yet absolutely safe germicide and antiseptic, which prevents development of germ matter, and creates a clean, healthy condition.

Pilocarpine, although not a coloring matter or dye, is an ingredient well established for its power to restore natural color to human hair.

Borax, because of its well defined softening and cleansing properties, is most useful in the treatment of scalp and hair diseases. Glycerine acts as a stimulant to the hair bulbs, and has a soothing, healing and nourishing influence. Alcohol is indispensable in medicine because of its antiseptic, stimulating preservative qualities.

Reaxal "93" Hair Tonic is chiefly composed of these ingredients, which are compounded in a peculiar form, and we believe it is the most effective remedy known to medical science for scalp and hair troubles generally. We personally guarantee it to eradicate dandruff and scalp irritations and to grow hair, even though the scalp is in a bare of hair, providing of course there is life and vitality remaining in the hair roots.

We want every one troubled with scalp disease, dandruff or loss of hair to try Reaxal "93" Hair Tonic. If it does not remove dandruff and promote a growth of hair to the satisfaction of the user, we will without question or quibble return every cent paid us for it. This guarantee is printed on every package. It has effected most satisfactory results in 93 out of 100 cases where put to a practical test.

Reaxal "93" Hair Tonic is entirely unlike and in every particular different from anything else we know of for the purpose for which it is recommended. We urge you to try it at our entire risk. Certainly we could offer no better guarantee. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00.—The Retail Store, The Owl Drug Co., Inc., Cor. 7th and Washington Sts.
