OPEN ST. CORNS PHONE EXCHANGE

New Building With 300 Additional Trunks in Operation; Great Increase in Calls. Rapid strides in the settlement of St. Johns and the lower peninsula country, and flattering prospects of further extensions next year, prompted the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company to build and equip a new exchange at St. Johns. This exchange was placed in operation yesterday evening at 10 o'clock, and today the patrons of the old exchange are being served from the new and up-to-date office.

The peninsula country especially has been in need of this added service. The new exchange at St. Johns is modern in every respect and is planned to serve the district for the next 10 years. A new reinforced concrete building has been erected at St. Johns in which to install the new plant. The building is modern in every respect and contains rest rooms for the operators, a waiting room for patrons, business offices and cloak rooms. The ventilation is perfect and the heating is by an individual plant. The structure is absolutely fireproof and designed especially for a telephone exchange. It is located at No. 405 South Jersey street.

The company has notified all subscribers that beginning last evening at 10 o'clock all telephone numbers carrying the name of "Jersey" and "Richmond" will be changed to "Columbia." The new telephone directory will contain these changes. There were 750 telephone lines in the old exchange, and 300 were added last evening. Seven operators are employed. The plant is known as a common battery type and has all the latest improvements in telephony. The ultimate capacity is 5000 lines. The operation of the exchange will be under the direction of G. E. Mac, district traffic chief. The wires entering the building by an underground conduit, and this conduit extends for two miles out from the exchange. No telephone poles are in sight as the work has been done at an expense of several thousand dollars. The change has been made by the extension department, under the supervision of J. L. Yarnell, commercial manager of the local company. About 27,000 telephones are now accessible over this company, and no extra tolls are charged.

A glance at the figures compiled by the company shows a wonderful growth in the extension department. For September, 1909, the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company had 5,000,000 calls. During the corresponding month for 1910 the books show 6,117,762 calls. In comparison with other cities served by this company, taking cities of 100,000 and over, in the west, Portland stands second highest for efficient service. San Francisco heads the list with a percentage of 20. Portland is next with 19 per cent. Portland is 3 per cent better than Seattle and 9 per cent better than Tacoma.

Spanish Veterans' Minstrel - The Spanish War veterans are planning a minstrel show to be given soon. George E. Evans has been selected to render several baritone solos, and a quartet from the veterans is rehearsing. Other minstrel novelties are also being prepared.

Dentistry and Pharmacy - The annual session of the North Pacific college has begun. Students desiring credit for a full course must be in attendance by October 14.

RUSHING WORK ON OREGON TRUNK

Three Miles of Track Already Laid Out of Clark on the Oregon Side. Three miles of track have already been laid by the Oregon Trunk line out of Clark the first station on the Oregon side of the Columbia, and work is progressing nicely. This report was brought to Portland yesterday afternoon by George A. Kyle, vice president and general manager of the company.

Track laying began a few days ago, and it is hoped to put down about 1 1/2 miles daily. Ties and rails are being hauled across the river from the delivery station on the North Bank line, on the Washington side of the river, by a large ferry barge towed by the steamer "Norman," and Mr. Kyle states that it is keeping the steamer and barge busy going back and forth across the river. It is intended to have the line completed as far as Crooked river in less than two months, and then work will

Certificate of Title Talks

To Those Who Lend Money on Real Estate No. 2.

The CERTIFICATE OF TITLE furnishes everything that you get by using the Abstract method of examining titles - and much more. In making a CERTIFICATE OF TITLE the Title & Trust Company makes up an office Abstract, which contains everything that would go into an ordinary Abstract. In addition all the private records of the company are available for examination, a great portion of which cannot go into an Abstract, but which are often invaluable in determining the true condition of the title in question. In this respect, then, the CERTIFICATE is stronger than the Abstract of Title. The examination is made by specialists, lawyers who have made a business of real estate law for many years. Their standing is known throughout the community. Questionable points in the title, if any arise, are decided by consultation of the attorneys of the company, thus giving the benefit of their combined judgment. In addition to the above, the CERTIFICATE itself is guaranteed to be correct. That guarantee is backed by more than a quarter of a million dollars of assets, including a special deposit of $50,000 with the Treasurer of the State of Oregon, thus adding still greater strength to an already superior evidence of title.
