sides Caught and Steelhead Season Has Not Really Opened-Yaquina Silvers.

Much complaint is heard from the Columbia river on account of the very small run of salmon at this time. The catch is confined principally to silversides and only a small number of these sides and only a small number of are being taken.
For awhile it looked as if the steel-head run would start early this season, but the catch of this variety to date has been exceedingly limited at Columbia river points.

Front Street and Modern Equipment Is Secured—The Plan Looks Good.

Because farmers will not furnish the trade here with a better class of poul-try. Front street has been compelled to adapt the eastern style of securing fat stock for those who want it. This morning arrangements were completed by George Rice, of Rice & Co. commission handlers, to take over the business of Deputy & Co., a recently established firm here, with headquarters at 2031/2 Washington street.

The plans of Deputy & Co. were to furnished a better class of poultry and this business will be carried through by Rice & Co.

The plans for poultry feeding and keeping, as well as dressing, are said to be the most modern on the Pacific

The chickens are fed buttermilk, sand and gravel, in addition to wheat. The birds are stall fed and the food and water is always before them. The coops are sanitary, being most easily cleared with plenty of light and ventilation. Forty dozen chickens can be fed at one time, and while this is only a small amount, the promoters of the new enterprise are of the opinion that enlarge-ment will be found hecessary after a short time.

"The new business will be carried on, "The new business will be carried on, por says George Rice, "in addition and in goi connection with the old one, only goi separate quarters, which are adjoining. in Practically half of Oregon's 1910 hop crop has already passed out of the hands of producers up to this time. Figures gathered by prominent dealers, in close touch with the situation, show that practically 25,000 bales had been sold to the state of the sold the state of the sold the state of the sold in the open market in addition to 25,000 bales contracted. This leaves 50,000 bales out of an estimated growth of 100,000 bales.

their hops freely. The price ranges from 9 to 12c a pound, but practically only a nominal amount of trade is reported above 11c. This seems to be the ond in only going price for most growths.

All the big dealers are now reported in the market. Carmichael of Salem is said to be taking some lots; Lachmund. Catlin & Linn, McNeff Brothers, Harry L. Hart. Joe Harris, Isaac Pincus & Son, and Klaber, Wolf & Netter are all included in late deals at Willamette valley points.

Potatoes and Therefore the Dealers Say They Must Buy Elsewhere-Californias 90c

Potato growers are holding their sup-plies here and there is only a nominal movement reported from local farms. Nevertheless, while a short time ago buyers were offering as high as $1.15 per hundred pounds for potatoes at country points in order to fill their home requirements, it is now stated that these high bids have been withdrawn and nothing over $1 is now being bid at country points.

While so far as known no additional supplies of potatoes are now enroute to this city from California, dealers say they will be forced to import additional supplies unless they can secure some supplies unless they can secure some from local producers.

Best California river potatoes are quoted in San Francisco at 90c per hundred pounds, which would mean $1.05 delivered here. Ordinary rivers are quoted here at 90c per hundred pounds.

Only a Small Number of Silver- Stallfed Poultry Given Start on Few Transactions Above 11c Local Growers Refuse to Sell Wheat Bids Are Slow and Generally Around 82c Track for Club-Small Lots Are Being Taken by California.

According to dealers, California is in the market at present only for nominal supplies of club and bluestem, and only the very choicest of the latter variety finds buyers from the south.

Dealers here are not anxious bidders for wheat at the moment, and while there is still some talk of nominal business at $3c track for club, the general trade is not quoting over $2c. Therefore the market may safely be considered a cent lower.

General run of bluestem is selling slowly around $7c a bushel, but some extra select lots for California millers brings in instances a cent or two addiorings in instances a cent or two addi-brings in instances a cent or two additional.

The higher cost of ships and the weakness in wheat abroad recently has added to the gloom here. While so far as known no ships have been taken above 30 shillings, it is stated by a prominent exporter that some owners are asking above 31 shillings, and say they will get it.

There is no change in the flour situation. On account of the high prices asked, millers say no business of consequence is passing with the orient. However, there is a disposition to advance exports instead of quoting a further decline.

The Walla Walla Bulletin of Wednesday says of the grain situation there:

"California millers have invaded the local Walla Walla valley and are buying rather large quantities of club and bluestem.

"During the past few days A. L.

ing rather large quantities of club and bluestem.

"During the past few days A. L. Strauch, representing a Portland firm, has purchased several small lots of club for grinding in California. Mr. Strauch has been here for a month, but has not been a factor in the local market until recently. His buys were small until Saturday, when he "bulled" the market by his heavy buying.

"It was not learned until today that his purchases were for California millers. This fact occasioned considerable surprise in local circles, as the southern millers have never invaded the local grain market this early before. Something of a flurry was caused by the knowledge that California millers were being compelled to come here for mill-knowledge that California miliers were being compelled to come here for miling cereal this early.

"Officials of the Farmers' union declare this fact demonstrates the truth of their repeated declaration that there is a big shortage in milling wheat in California."
