

WILL HEAR DAAKE BOY'S CHARGES IN PUBLIC THIS WEEK

Father Procures Letters Showing Good Reputation of Victim of Alleged Police Barbarism in Vancouver.

(By Special Correspondent of The Journal.)
 Vancouver, Wash., Oct. 18.—Mayor Higgins has promised to hold a public hearing of the charges of brutality made against three Vancouver policemen by my son," said William Daake, Sr. yesterday. "We will hold the hearing some time this week."
 Daake also said that the mayor had promised to investigate the changing of the burglary charge that rested against the boy to the charge of incorrigibility that was dismissed last week, when the lad was freed. Preparing for this investigation the father has obtained letters from C. W. Shumway, superintendent of the Vancouver public schools, and A. J. Good of the Good-Robin Candy company, for whom the boy was working when he was arrested. Superintendent Shumway's letter reads:
 "Replying to your inquiry concerning Willie Daake's record in school, I have inquired in some detail concerning the same, and I am pleased to say that he has given his teacher no trouble either in school or on the playgrounds during the past two years. Miss Leavitt, who has been his teacher for two years, says he never had to correct him at all for any misconduct. He was not quick to learn, but otherwise a very satisfactory pupil."
 Mr. Good wrote:
 "Willie Daake has worked for me three months, and has been a well behaved, good, honest boy. He is a little slow to learn, but did his work well after he did learn it. He caused us no trouble whatever, and we would be glad to give him his old position again."
 Willie will return to work Wednesday.
 Hoping to remove whatever blemish is left on the reputation of his son by the charges of burglary and incorrigibility preferred against the lad by the police, Mr. Daake has circulated a statement of his good conduct among residents of his neighborhood, and has obtained many names.
 This statement he made for The Journal today:
 "I don't know why it is that the police can put charges against a young boy and then, being unable to prove them, simply drop them. Forever afterward the boy is an object of suspicion, but the police, who are really in the wrong, suffer no hurt."
 Willie Daake's charges that three policemen took him out of his cell in the city jail and lugged him are those which will be heard in public this week. In fear of death he said he confessed to a crime—the robbery of the Presbyterian manse—which he did not commit.

MINISTER TAKES JURY TO TASK FOR ACQUITTING MAN

Ridgefield Pastor Delivers Sermon Deploping Actions of Merle Fuller, Who Killed Conductor Stewart.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
 Ridgefield, Wash., Oct. 18.—One of the boldest sermons delivered from a pulpit in this city was delivered Sunday morning at the Presbyterian church by Rev. Dr. Doods. Dr. Doods took his text from the eighth chapter of Job, third verse: "Doth God pervert judgment? Or doth the Almighty pervert justice?"
 The sermon was a strong protest and comment on the acquitting of Merle Fuller, the telegraph operator who shot and killed Conductor Stewart in the depot here the night of June 10, over the alteration of a clearance card. Fuller was acquitted October 8.
 Dr. Doods said in part:
 "We who pay the taxes of this county naturally expect from those whom we place in office and a jury whom we impel to perform their duties as sworn to do, taking to mind the welfare of society, of our young boys and girls. But such an example as we have seen of a young man like Fuller, shooting down a fellow workman and after the deed showing no emotion of being sorry for the deed, and some citizens and even some prelates writing to uphold and harbor such men and deeds. It brings us face to face with the text: 'Doth God pervert judgment. Or doth the Almighty pervert justice?' When a young man will return to the town and as he did the very spot where he took a human life, and dance a jig for the boys, make remarks that he had a fine time while in jail, it is high time that you fathers and mothers were thinking of your boys and girls. Such a man at large is a dangerous character."
 "Perhaps he may shoot me or try to for speaking these facts, but God has given me the message to deliver, and I am going to deliver it, come what will. Some juries, some citizens, and some prelates may acquit a cold-blooded murderer. But nevertheless, in God's eyes he is still the same murderer, with no repentance in his heart."
 "May God help us all to watch more closely our young boys and girls and keep them far from patterning after such an example."
 Dr. Doods has many friends who are with him in the bold sermon and no trouble is expected.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
 Springfield, Mo., Oct. 18.—Owing to the bitter feeling among the friends of Stanley Ketchel, the dead middleweight champion, Walter Dibley, his slayer was not brought here today to testify at the coroner's inquest. Hundreds of persons gathered at the coroner's chapel to hear the testimony, and feeling against the man who shot Ketchel ran high. Mutterings were heard on all sides, and so messages were hastily sent to keep Dibley at Marshfield, where he has been in jail since his capture Sunday. Dibley will be arraigned at Marshfield next Friday.
