CAMPAIGN FOR BETTER LIGHT ON STARK STREET

A movement has been inaugurated to make Stark street one of the leading business streets of Portland from the retail standpoint and to see that a scheme of lighting similar to that on Washington, Morrison and Sixth streets be carried out the length of the street to its intersection with Washington.

At a meeting held in the Commercial club the Stark Street Improvement association was organized with M. L. Hirsch as president, J. J. White, vice president, and J. J. Cahill, secretary-treasurer.

Howard A. Guilford, 32 years old, who was convicted for attempting to bribe a juror in the W. Cooper Morris embezzlement trial, was not sentenced this morning by Judge J. P. Kavanaugh, who tried him.

The judge announced that he would sentence the prisoner next Tuesday morning at 9:30. It is believed that Guilford will be given the minimum imprisonment and that sentence will be suspended.

Mr. Voter, we believe you are fair and will play fair. If you live remote from counties where a small proportion of the voters and tax payers want to slice up the county, create new offices and build new courthouses, why should you not vote against it?
