

SOUTH AFRICANS WELCOME ROYALTY

Tour of Duke of Connaught Festal Occasion in All the Colonies.

Cape Town, Oct. 21.—The steamer Balmoral Castle, having on board the Duke of Connaught and his party, who come to attend the opening of the first South African Union parliament, arrived here this morning. Later the duke and duchess landed. The Balmoral Castle, the conveying cruiser and the merchant shipping in the harbor displayed many flags. The immense crowds on the docks included Zulus and Hindus, as well as colonials, and all cheered enthusiastically, the forts meanwhile saluting.

The duke and duchess, who were accompanied by Princess Patricia, were welcomed on the pier by Viscount Gladstone, governor general of the South African Union, and by official representatives of the Transvaal, Cape Colony, Natal and Orange River Colony. A deputation of prominent citizens of Cape Town and a large number of naval and military officers were also present.

The party then drove to the city hall, where a great reception was held. Royal addresses were presented by various societies, and the Duke of Connaught responded. A private dinner at Government house followed later in the day.

Week's Program at Capetown.

The week that the royal party will spend in Cape Town will be crowded with notable functions, the chief of which, of course, will be the opening of parliament next Friday. Other functions and ceremonies in which his royal highness will participate will be a grand military review at Green Point Common, the opening of the South African Medical congress, the inauguration of the Selborne dock at Simon's town, and the laying of the foundation stone of University hall.

After leaving Cape Town the royal party will travel to Bloemfontein by a train which has been specially built for the occasion by the Central South African railway. The Victoria Falls will be reached November 12, and the journey will be continued to Salisbury and Bulawayo. One of the curious features of the visit to northern Rhodesia will be the reception of Lewanika, chief of Bechuanaland, with a parade of Bechuanas.

On November 25 the party will reach Pretoria. Practically a week will be spent in the Transvaal capital and Johannesburg. The following week will be spent in Pietermaritzburg and Durban. At Durban the royal visitors will re-embark in the Balmoral Castle for the return journey to England.

KING TO GUARD AGAINST HOODOOS

George V. Recalls Untoward Omens That Have Fallen on Coronation Days.

London, Oct. 31.—King George is particularly anxious that his coronation ceremonies next June should be free from any untoward incident which might be construed as ominous. This is not alone because he himself, like all members of his home, is imbued with a certain amount of superstition, but it is likewise because he is thoroughly aware that popular confidence in himself and his reign will be shaken in the event of any occurrence at the coronation which could be construed as portending evil.

The coronation of Queen Victoria and King Edward were remarkably free from anything that could be looked upon by the people as a bad omen, though the fact that the coronation of King Edward had to be postponed on account of the illness with which the monarch was suddenly stricken led many persons to predict that his reign would be short.

Blundering Nobleman Let Crown Fall.
At the coronation of George IV, the Marquis of Anglesey, officiating lord high steward, while carrying the crown to the altar, let it slip from his hands. When George III was installed on the throne, Lord Effingham, master of ceremonies, forgot to provide the sword of state and the chair and canopy for the banquet. At the coronation of George II, the Dean of Westminster forgot the chalice and paten, and at the coronation of the ill-fated king, James I, the communion service was omitted.

In the Days of the Stuarts.
At the coronation of Charles I the wing of the dove on Edward the Confessor's scepter was broken off accidentally. And the Bishop of Carlisle, in preaching the coronation sermon, selected as his text, "I will give thee a crown of life," a text which put everybody in mind of the funeral service, in which it so frequently figures. It may be remembered that King Charles lost his head on the scaffold.

It is also well to remember, in reading of these gloomy prophecies of doom, that such incidents are seldom thought of until an untoward incident has occurred. Then the superstitious mind seeks some occurrence to serve the purpose of an omen, a thing not hard to find, since almost every occasion is attended by some unfortunate accident.

Telephone Company Improves.
(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Newberg, Or., Oct. 31.—The Newberg Telephone company, which lately purchased the Pacific States Telephone company's interests at this place, now has a large force of men at work installing its new central energy system. The home company is now paying an annual 8 per cent dividend and the service is second to none.

"There's a Reason"

To obviate long distances in traveling to the county seat where the country is mountainous and the roads rough is the chief plea of the champions of Clark county, which the voters of the state are asked to create from the northern part of Grant county at the coming election.

Friends of the Clark county bill claim to have less local opposition than is the case with most new county propositions. Many of the citizens of Grant county have signed the petition for the new county, now that Grant is out of debt. There is some opposition within the territory of the new county, but its friends claim it has a nearly unanimous support within its borders as it is possible for such a measure to have.

The new county if created will include 1428 square miles of land out from the northern part of Grant. This will leave 2324 square miles in Grant. As shown by the map, the extreme northeastern part of Grant is not taken into the new county. This is because the topography of the country puts the people in that section closer to Canyon City, the present county seat of Grant, than to Long Creek, the proposed county seat of Clark. People living there would have to go into Baker county and then to Austin to reach Long Creek, and they would then be 10 miles nearer Canyon City than Long Creek.

Mountain Range Divides.
The dividing line for the new county is along a mountain range between the main John Day river and the middle fork of that stream, the watershed of the middle fork and its tributaries being in the new county. Those living in the northwestern part of the county who now have to spend three or four days in a trip over 70 miles of rough roads to reach the county seat would have to go only 25 miles if the new county is created, and would not have to cross the mountain divide.

The proposed new county is estimated to contain a population of 2600, leaving the old county with a population of 27,766,000. The tax levy last year was 12 mills, and this would raise over $1,000 in taxes within the new county. It is stated the expense of running Grant county's government in 1909 was approximately $24,000, from which it is argued the new county, although small in population and valuation, will be able to take care of itself. About two-thirds of the land is in forest reserves or is non-tiltable.

The Clark county committee, of which C. W. Conger is president and Charles A. Coe is secretary, claims that 80 per cent of the people residing in the proposed new county have signed the petition for it. They say "the people of Canyon City, Prairie City, John Day and other centers of Grant county are willing the new county shall be formed, provided the people of the new county want it. Opposition within the new county, they say, is confined to some of the large sheep ranchers in the western portion, who as a rule are opposed to thicker settlement of the land because this would encroach upon their ranges."

Say People Would Save.
The committee urges that boundary lines have been drawn to follow natural divides as far as practicable, that the people would save by having the seat of government nearer home and that better roads and development of the country would be promoted.

The bill to be voted on locates the county seat temporarily at Long Creek, the people of the new county to vote on a permanent location at the next regular election. The usual provision

NEWBERG IS SHOWING GREAT DEVELOPMENT

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Newberg, Or., Oct. 31.—Newberg is growing rapidly and many new buildings are under course of construction all of which will enhance the beauty of the city.

The Newberg high school building is now practically completed. The structure is one of the finest in the state, outside of one or two of the larger cities.

Work on the Pacific college is progressing rapidly. The building will be erected to Newberg and the entire northwest, from which it will draw its patronage.

Construction work on the First National bank's new home is progressing nicely. The location is one of the best in the city and the building will be modern in every detail.

During the year Newberg has undoubtedly built more cement walks than any other town of its size in the state and still several contractors are behind with their orders.

The Newberg Commercial club is making a special effort to secure 100 new members within the next 60 days and to do this is offering special inducements to the farmer, fruit grower and all desirable persons outside the city to come in and help boost.

Hermiston Store Robbed.
(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Hermiston, Or., Oct. 31.—The store of R. Scarborough was again broken into Friday evening and several dollars' worth of shoes were taken. There is no clue to the robbers. This is the second time this store has been robbed.

is made for transcribing the records and for adjustment of the financial affairs of the new county and the old, the board for this purpose being composed of the county judges of Grant and Clark and Charles A. Coe of Long Creek.

Objections to the formation of Clark county are for the most part such as apply to county division in a general way. Many oppose division by the people of the state at large, because, they argue, the people cannot be sufficiently informed as to changes proposed in some remote part of the state. General objection is made to higher taxation for maintaining separate government and to the creation of counties with small populations. It is asserted a large majority of property owners outside of Long Creek are against the new county.

Clark county advocates urge that they have resorted to the only method provided for county division, and that the general acquiescence of the people of the mother county shows the merit of the change, which would be in itself sufficient guide for people elsewhere. The great inconvenience and expense of travel under present conditions is held to outweigh all the other objections.

Under the bill to be voted the salary of the sheriff of the new county is placed at $1600, county clerk $1200, judge and assessor each $600, treasurer and school superintendent each $400, commissioners $3 per diem.

THEY ACTUALLY DO THE WORK

Food Eaten is Worthless Unless Digested—Some Stomachs Must Have Help.

Food taken into the stomach which, from the nature of the food or the condition of the stomach is not digested, is worse than no food at all. This is a true statement as far as it goes and a great many dyspeptics go only this far with their reasoning. They argue with themselves that because their stomachs do not do the work given them, the must be given less work; in other words, they must be starved. It would be just as sensible for a business man who is unable to do all his own work to cut down his business to his own capacity as it is for a man to starve himself to relieve his stomach. The sensible business man employs help and goes forward with his business. Likewise the sensible dyspeptic will employ help for his stomach and give his body proper nourishment.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets actually do the work assigned to them. They relieve weak and overburdened stomachs of a great portion of digestive action. Their component parts are identical with those of the digestive fluids and secretions of the stomach and they simply take up the grind and carry on the work just the same as a good, strong, healthy stomach would do it.

On this account Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are perfectly natural in their action and effects. They do not cause any unnatural or violent disturbance in the stomach or bowels. They themselves digest the food and supply the system with all the nourishment contained in what is eaten and carry out Nature's plans for the sustenance and maintenance of the body.

How much more sensible is this method than that employed by many sufferers from weak stomachs. By this means the body and brain get all the good, nutritious food they need and the man is properly nourished and equipped to carry on his work and perform his duties. He could not possibly be in proper working condition by starving himself or employing some new fangled, insufficient food that does not contain enough nutriment for a year-old baby. A strong man doing strong work must be properly fed and this applies to the brain as well as the body.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, by relieving the stomach of its work, enable it to recuperate and regain its normal health and strength. Nature repairs the worn and wasted tissues just as she heals and knits the bone of a broken limb, which is of course not used during the process of repair.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box and they are the one article that the druggist does not try to sell something in the place of that's "just as good." Their unequalled merit and success and the universal demand for them has placed them within the reach of everyone.

SAVE A THIRD ON LATEST PLAYER PIANOS

NEARLY SEVEN CARLOADS—ARE SELLING AT LOWEST PRICES AND TERMS EVER SEEN IN PRINT —AT EILERS MUSIC HOUSE.

Portland has never seen such player-piano selling as has been going on at Eilers Music House during the past week. There have been busy sale days on numerous occasions in the past at the "Always Busy" Eilers Music House Corner, but this week's record surpasses anything that has ever been attained heretofore in player-piano selling. Every one of our splendid delivery wagons has been busy making deliveries from early until late.

The tremendous number of player pianos sold will not be startling news, however, to those who have investigated our Emancipation Sale, which marks another epoch in modern piano selling. The truly unprecedented savings now made possible, and the really heretofore unheard-of easy manner in which payment can be made, have invariably proven irresistible. Eilers Music House is noted for always furnishing the most for the money—"the very best in everything at a price that is right," has been the watchword here always—but our word for it, the player pianos—good ones—dependable ones—the kind that everyone loves and cherishes—were never heretofore obtainable at such low prices—and what is more, never heretofore could a player piano be obtained on such wonderfully little payments. Think of it, we are selling a very fine player piano for $492. It is worth $650 of anybody's money. How it is possible for us to do this has been explained in our Emancipation Sale advertisements, and seems to be well understood now. We are wholesaling pianos just arrived yesterday afternoon, and these player pianos will be on our floors tomorrow morning, ready for your selection. Why wait any longer? Your friends and neighbors have investigated this sale, and found they could secure magnificent instruments at a saving big enough almost to pay for another. Act promptly. Come today, or be on hand the first thing tomorrow. There are hundreds to select from at our Retail Department, 353 Washington St., corner of Park (Eight) street, the Always Busy Corner.
