

DRYS WILL KEEP WATCH ON POLLS

Claim Liquor Campaigners Are Planning to Run in Floaters; Have Been Colonizing.

If prohibition fails to carry in this county today it will not be because of the lack of watchers and challengers at the polls, as arrangements were perfected at the meeting of the Ministerial association yesterday to have the voting and counting at every polling place in Portland watched from the time the polls open until the last ballot is counted.

Over 300 men are assigned to this work and they are all instructed to challenge every unregistered voter who attempts to vote, see that he produces six bona fide freeholders to swear to his residence in the precinct and to keep a close watch on the reading and counting of the ballots.

Dr. W. B. Hinson of the White Temple, in explaining what had been done in the way of assigning watchers and challengers, said that the Ministerial association, having done everything in its power to make Oregon dry, had arrived at that place in the fight when all that remained to do was to watch and pray. If we win today we must see that prohibition prohibits, while if we lose we must begin the fight all over again next Wednesday morning.

Virgil Hinshaw, who has been in active charge of the prohibition campaign, predicted that thousands of illegal votes in Portland. "Colonization is being carried on by the wet forces in the north end lodging houses," declared Mr. Hinshaw. "We have absolute proof that hundreds of floaters were housed and fed there with the view of voting against prohibition, but we don't propose to be defeated in this way. Our watchers and challengers have been posted and the efforts of the liquor men will fall of its purpose."

The last big efforts of the "drys" was made last night when a parade, a big meeting at the White Temple, an overflow at the Grace Methodist church and 14 street meetings were held. The parade started at the Y. M. C. A. building and ended at the White Temple where Michael J. Faanning, a noted temperance orator, was the principal speaker.

The rain that fell at intervals did not dampen the "drys" but they marched through the wet streets, shouting their slogans, urging the pedestrians to attend the meetings. The speakers continued their addresses on the street corners in spite of the rain and thousands of people gathered on the corners standing in the rain to hear the talks.

Watchers were assigned to the polls for today and the last detail of the campaign was completed. Today the workers of the movement are resting at the meetings at the White Temple.

RESIDENTS ASK FOR MORE STREET LIGHTS

More light is wanted by the small home owner living on the rim of the city. While the Portland Railway, Light & Power company has declined to extend the lines and install street lights in the southeast portion of the city, complaints are being made from other outlying districts. So strong have these complaints been made, and so urgent is the need, that a committee of the ways and means committee of the city council yesterday afternoon adopted a resolution asking City Attorney Grant and Mayor Simon to take the question up with the company for adjustment.

DEMANDS RENT FOR COUNTY POOR FARM

B. M. Lombard, to whom the county sold the old poor farm on the Canyon road for $150,000 six months ago, is now trying to compel the county to pay rent for use of the entire farm, though only a little more than an acre of it is being occupied for county purposes.

SECRET OUT AT LAST—IT WAS RASPBERRY JAM

The baffling secret of the ancient art of embalming has been penetrated after ages of research. Scientists, who have been musing on the puzzle of the mummies for centuries may now be expected to explain how simple it was to turn the trick after all. Like all esoteric inventions and arts, the embalming method was perfectly easy. It originated with the Egyptian housewife. When little Moses started on his eventful

PRESS CLUB ELECTS ITS OLD OFFICERS

The first annual election of officers held by the Portland Press club since the adoption of the club's present constitution was held yesterday, the officers temporarily elected when the club was first organized last summer being reelected by a practically unanimous vote.

The newly elected officers who will hold office until the first Monday in November, 1911, are: President, Sydney H. Vincent, of the Associated Press; vice president, John L. Travis, of The Journal; Editor, Lute Pease, of the Pacific Monthly; and O. C. Letzer, of The Oregonian; secretary, Mark Woodruff, of The Oregonian; assistant secretary, Fred W. Vincent, of the United Press; treasurer, James S. Tyler, of The Journal; historian, N. J. Levinson, of The Oregonian; directors, John J. Harrison, of the Garman; P. E. Sullivan, of the Catholic Sentinel; W. G. MacRae, of the Sketch; Fred W. Bell, of The Journal; Jack Barrett, of The Oregonian; O. C. Merrick, of the Associated Press; and Charles N. Ryan, press representative of the Orpheum theatre.

Bakersfield, Cal., Nov. 8.—Oil men from every section of California will meet in Bakersfield next Saturday to discuss means to secure from the federal government and congress a statement regarding the future policy of the government in the disposition and development of public oil lands in this state. The session will last two days.

POISONED BY HEADACHE POWDER

Seattle, Nov. 8.—Jennie Chapman, 27 years old, employed as a waitress in a downtown cafe, is in the city hospital and will probably die as a result of poisoning. She was found lying unconscious on the sidewalk, by a policeman. Reviving for a few minutes after being taken to the hospital, she declared she had swallowed a headache powder in a drug store and remembered nothing after reaching the street.

SPIRITS FOR RHEUMATISM

The increased use of spirits for rheumatism is causing considerable discussion among the medical fraternity. It is a wonderful cure when mixed with certain other ingredients and taken properly. The following is the formula:
To one half pint of good whiskey (or cherry wine if it is preferred) add one ounce of Tolu compound and one ounce of syrup of Sarsaparilla compound. Take in tablespoonful doses before each meal and before retiring.
Any druggist has these ingredients or will quickly get them, any one can mix them. This formula was published here last winter and hundreds of people were promptly benefited.
