M'CARTHYITES IN ELECTION BEATEN OVERWHELMINGLY

Of 39 Charter Amendments, "Good" Ones Adopted and "Bad" Ones Snowed Under; Library Saved.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, Nov. 16.—Complete official returns on yesterday's vote on 39 charter amendments places San Francisco today in the van of the cities of the United States as the proponent of advanced municipal administration. The election was a sweeping defeat for the McCarthyites.

In addition to a 20 to 1 vote in favor of a bond issue of $5,000,000 for financing the Panama-Pacific International exposition in 1915, the voters adopted charter amendments giving free expression to the will of the people in the most important matters of city government and defeated other proposed amendments designed to curtail their liberties.

A majority rule was adopted allowing any person to become a candidate on the presentation of from 19 to 20 legal sureties and providing for his election by a majority vote, including the privilege of filing a statement of 100, 200 or 300 words, according to the fee paid by him, which shall be printed by the city and sent out with the sample ballots to every voter. The candidates' names only will appear on the ballots, the party circle or symbol being eliminated, and the names will be printed in different order in the various assembly districts, thereby giving each candidate equal opportunity of heading the ticket.

An effective system of initiative, referendum and recall passed with a good majority.

An amendment permitting the people to vote for the recall of any street railway franchise received a big majority.

One of the "bad" amendments that failed by a large majority was one to place the city library patronage under control of the mayor.

Several amendments for increasing salaries of city officials and decreasing working hours also failed.

SEXTON ELECTED ASSOCIATION HEAD

Reelected, as Also Farrell, Secretary; Reclassification May Go Over.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—H. H. Sexton was reelected president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs at the session of the association here this afternoon. Sexton's term will be five years.

J. H. Farrell of Auburn, N. Y., was reelected secretary of the association for a term of 10 years at a salary of $5000 per annum. Both elections were by acclamation.

Little business of importance outside of the election of officers was transacted at today's meeting. It is generally believed that the reclassification of the numerous leagues of the association will be put over to next year.

The committee on constitution reported this afternoon proposing an amendment increasing the board of arbitration to three members from each of the class A and B leagues and one member from each class C and class D league, in case of a tie vote the secretary to cast the deciding vote. The clubs must pay their protection fees before September 1, instead of October 1, the committee recommended.

Opposition to the practice of playing "double headers" developed at the afternoon session. Murnane, Farrell and Moreland were appointed a committee to discuss with the playing rules committee of major leagues the proposition to abolish the practice.

Sunday morning games were also denounced but the convention agreed to ignore this phase until some future meeting.

Cal Ewing of the Pacific Coast league was elected a member of the arbitration committee.

SHOW MANAGER QUITS; THEATRE TROUBLE ENDS

The trouble that has been brewing at the Lyric theatre for many weeks past was settled last Monday when Edward Armstrong, manager of the Armstrong Musical Comedy company, received his two weeks' notice. At the same time Ben Dillon and Will King, comedians with the Armstrong Musical Comedy company, gave their two weeks' notice of withdrawal from the company.

The Armstrong aggregation are playing a few dates in Vancouver and Willamette valley towns this week, leaving the Keating and Flood management with only their eight chorus girls and a generally crippled show. Mr. Flood said this morning:

"We will be in a position to announce our plans for a reorganized company of players within a few days. Dillon and King will be retained as comedians. Mr. Armstrong gave all the advertising to Mrs. Armstrong and to members of the company that he took away. The only solution of the problem is for us to run our own show, and we are going to do it."

LASHER ARRESTED IN BAKERSFIELD

Wanted Here on Charges of Forgery and Running Fake Employment Bureau.

F. H. Lasher, wanted in Portland for obtaining money under false pretenses, charged in Baker City with forgery, and connected with accusations of running a fake employment bureau in Portland, has been arrested in Bakersfield, Cal., on information furnished by Sheriff Stevens and will be brought to Portland for trial.

Lasher is alleged to have passed a bad check on Tice Adkins, who runs a saloon at Sixth and Stark streets. He was one of the men picked up by the police for disturbing the midnight quiet in Montavilla last summer. He and others made night hideous with their yells while passing through in an automobile.

Lasher is also said to have been the head of a fraudulent employment agency which took a fee from a number of men, telling them to report at the depot. The men went, but the "employer" did not show up. Sheriff Stevens will send a deputy to Bakersfield to bring the man to Portland.

INSANITY DEFENSE MAY CLEAR SLAYER

Examination of Jurors Discloses Sympathy for Aurelius M. Richardson.

After two days and a half spent in the examination of jurors for the trial of Aurelius M. Richardson, charged with the murder of Jesse C. Hale, the indications at noon today were that 12 men would be finally accepted early this afternoon and the opening statements made, so testimony can be taken tomorrow morning.

So far the state has used five out of six peremptory challenges and the defense seven out of 12. John F. Logan, chief counsel for Richardson, announced himself satisfied with the 12 men in the box just before noon, but Deputy District Attorney Page was not and made another vacancy by using a peremptory challenge on Charles J. Brown.

John A. Carr, E. C. Lakin, A. W. Glutch, Charles J. Brown and John M. Bacon were the men challenged by the state. The defense excused Francis I. McKenna, G. E. Wightman, O. Anderson, John Mair, E. W. Hanebut, Fred Schinke and T. Quaid.

Considerable sentiment in favor of Richardson has developed during the examination of jurors. J. E. Barker was excused by Judge Gatens this morning after he had said he thought the killing of Hale was probably justified, and did not believe he could find the defendant guilty. Daniel J. Kelly declared he believed Richardson was insane when he shot Hale, and he was excused from service by the court.

Richardson's defense is insanity, induced by the domestic wrongs which he asserts he suffered at the hands of his victim. Such incidents as finding Hale under the bed at his home, being beaten by Hale when he tried to drive the intruder away, and learning that his wife had been beaten by Hale are to be part of the testimony for the defense. Other testimony will be offered to show that patrons of the barber shop where Richardson was employed, including one of the judges, refused to be shaved by him because of his constant talk about his troubles and fear he might unwittingly harm them.

Hale was employed at the fireboat house and was killed on August 25, when he was called out by Richardson and shot. When he was called he was talking over the telephone with Mrs. Richardson, who had been her husband following her.

SICHEL AGAIN BUSY IN SPEEDER'S BEHALF

Dr. J. F. Dickson, who tried to escape a hearing in municipal court yesterday through the assistance of Police Commissioner Sichel on a charge of violating the traffic ordinance, failed to appear in court this morning, and a bench warrant was issued. Commissioner Sichel appeared a few minutes later and explained that Dr. Dickson was compelled to perform an operation. He offered to plead guilty for the physician and pay the fine, but the court held that Dr. Dickson must appear in person, and the case went over until Friday.

WOULD-BE HOLDUPS GO TO JUVENILE COURT

Three amateur holdup men were arrested on the steel bridge last night by Patrolman Fuller shortly after it had been reported to the police that an attempt had been made to rob a railroad foreman who was crossing the bridge. Ray Sylvester, one of the youths, had a loaded revolver and a dagger in his pockets. In municipal court this morning Tony Marks, another member of the trio and the oldest, was ordered to leave the city, while Sylvester and Paul Hendricks were sent to the juvenile court.

CHURCH PEOPLE TO GATHER HERE

Thousands Expected When National Convention of Christian Church Is Held.

Plans for the entertainment of the national convention of the Christian church to be held here next summer will be discussed at a meeting of the state board of the Christian church at the Y. M. C. A. this evening. In attendance will be a pastor, the president of the official board and a member from each church in the state. Dean E. C. Sanderson, president of the state board and of the Christian Church Bible university at Eugene, will preside.

The meeting will be a very important one and the attendance is expected to be large. G. S. O. Humbert, field secretary of the Eugene Bible university, who has just returned from Montana, will also be among those present, as will Rev. Joseph S. Garvin, pastor of the First Christian church, Seattle; president of the Seattle Ministerial association, with 150 members, and chairman of the library committee of the Seattle Press club. Rev. Mr. Garvin came to Portland this morning on business and was persuaded to stay over this evening for the meeting. He will speak of the deep interest taken in the coming convention by the people of the Christian church in the sister state.

Field Secretary Humbert says Montana is very much interested in the Portland convention and will send trainloads of delegates and friends. How many can not be told yet, but thousands are talking of coming out to Oregon next summer to attend the convention and see the country and the Rose City.

"I never saw so much interest displayed in a coming convention," said Mr. Humbert. "Everybody in Christian church circles is talking of going to Oregon next summer. They are looking forward to the trip as children look forward to Christmas and the coming of Santa Claus.

"We have no idea how many visitors this convention will bring to Portland next year, but it will bring thousands. The big centennial convention in Pittsburg a year ago brought together 50,000 people, counting delegates and their friends. About 10,000 attended this year's convention in Topeka and from the fact that such a great interest is being taken in the Pacific coast states and in Oregon, it is safe to look for a very large attendance."

President Sanderson visited Montana a few days ago and found interest in the coming Portland convention at the same high pitch. He was told that parties are now being made up to make the trip to Portland and that many special trains will be required to handle them. The convention will be of great benefit not only to Portland, but to all parts of the Pacific northwest and California, for a large number of the delegates will make a tour of the coast before returning to their homes east of the mountains.

OUTSIDERS MAY BID ON IMPROVEMENT BONDS

Outside bidders are expected to place bids Monday on the municipal improvement bonds to be sold that day. The amount will total $475,000, and draw 6 per cent. Hoehler & Cummings, Toledo, Ohio, bond buyers, have asked City Auditor Barbur for information concerning the bonds. All municipal improvement bonds have been taken up by local people heretofore. With the entrance of the outside buyers, a better price is anticipated. The bonds are drawn for 10 years, but may be redeemed sooner if property owners pay up their assessments. The average life of the bonds, however, is five years.

BILL TO REGULATE CORPORATIONS OF VAST IMPORTANCE

Warm Contest In Legislature Expected When Senator Malarkey Introduces Measure Against.

Means of regulating the public utility corporations of Oregon will be one of the biggest, if not the biggest task which the coming session of the legislature will face. A bill providing for the creation of a public service commission is now being drafted by Senator Dan J. Malarkey and will be introduced in the senate during the early days of the session. About it will wage one of the big fights of the session, as it is taken for granted the public service corporations of the state will array themselves to fight it.

Senator Malarkey has not yet mapped out the details of his prospective measure, but has the general idea well in mind.

The bill, according to Senator Malarkey's present intention, will be in the nature of an amendment of the present railroad commission law, providing for the enlargement of the powers of the commission to give it jurisdiction over all public service and public utility corporations in the state.

It is believed by the framer of the bill that three men, the present membership of the railroad commission, will be able to handle the business of a public service commission. He would give the commission power to employ expert assistants for the investigation of different classes of public service corporations.

It is the intention to frame the bill so that the enlarged commission will have jurisdiction over light and power companies, water companies, gas companies, streetcar companies and all corporations which deal in public service whether they confine their activities within the limits of a city or whetner they engage in business over the state at large.

Aside from the regulation of the railroads of the state under the provisions of the present railroad commission, the great number of public utility and public service corporations in the state have no regulation other than the general statutes. The public service commission, as intended by Senator Malarkey, will put all such corporations under the general supervision of the new and enlarged commission. The present indications are that the press of public sentiment will secure the passage of the bill either in its original or in an amended form, but it is believed that a bitter fight will be made by the combined corporate influences of the state against the measure.

DR. WILEY SAYS IT'S ALL BUNKO

Price Decline Fictitious and Is Part of Scheme Adopted by the Big Interests.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Washington, Nov. 16.—Dr. Wiley today declared that the lower prices widely heralded just now were part of a trick of the special interests to hoodwink the people into believing that the interests had lost their grip.

"They are not unfastening their hold," declared Wiley. "They are simply relinquishing it temporarily in order to get a stronger grip closer up. The so-called meat reductions are fictitious. They are a deliberate manipulation of the market. Prices were fictitious when they reached the top. But they were arbitrarily forced there by the interests. The reduction is not a reduction in fact. The interests are still in control. It is impossible for me to believe that they have suddenly become philanthropists and decided to give the common people a square deal."

New York, Nov. 16.—In Philadelphia and Boston meat is now selling at retail from 3 to 5 cents lower than it has during the past year. In New Haven beef is 4 cents lower and hams 4 cents lower. Bacon is 2 cents higher.

FIGHT OVER STOCK LEADS TO LAWSUIT

Because of a dispute over 10 shares of stock of the Railway Exchange Building company held in escrow by the Lumbermens National bank, this institution has begun suit in the circuit court against H. O. Stickney and George L. Greenfield, each of whom, the bank says, threatens to sue it for the stock, which is of the par value of $10,000.

It appears that Stickney leased quarters in the old building now on the ground occupied by the Railway Exchange to Greenfield for a shoe store. Erection of the new building compelled Greenfield to move, and Stickney then agreed to furnish him a new lease on a good location in the business district by November 1. Stickney put up the stock in escrow as security to carry out the contract.

On October 31 Stickney notified the bank he had filled the contract and asked for the return of the stock. The following day Greenfield reported that Stickney had not filled the contract, and demanded that the stock be forfeited to him. Caught between two fires, the bank offers to turn the stock into court and asks the court to settle the controversy, in which the bank has no interest.

VINCINZO WANTS COIN BECAUSE HOCK HIT HIM

Testimony was closed this morning in Judge Morrow's department of the circuit court in the damage case of Pietro Vincinzo against the Cascade Contract company. The plaintiff asks for $25000 for injuries sustained while employed in a rock quarry at Stella, Wash. A large rock fell on him. The company alleges that as he was foreman of the gang it was his duty to inspect the hoisting tackle and keep it in repair. The case will reach the jury this afternoon.

MEETING OF RAIL RATE REGULATORS

State Commissioners in Convention With I. C. C.; List of Problems.

Washington, Nov. 16.—Uniform legislation for the regulation of interstate railroads and all the problems in connection with the state's control over their common carriers are to be discussed at the twenty-second annual convention of the National Association of Railway Commissioners, which began a three days' session today at the offices of the interstate commerce commission, in this city. The convention is composed of the members of the insterstate commerce commission, the railroad commissions of the various states and other state officers whose duties connect them with the railroads.

More effective and comprehensive legislation by the various states is the most important question before the association. In addition to legislation the meeting will consider shippers' claims on common carriers, railway service and railway accommodations, railroad statistics, accounts and statistics of street railways, simplification of railway tariffs, rates and rate making, uniform classification, car service and demurrage, railway capitalization, safety appliances, grade crossings and trespassing and delays attendant upon enforcing orders of state railway commissions.

The oficers in charge of the convention are: President, Martin S. Decker of New York state public utilities commission; vice presidents, Charles F. Staples of Minnesota, and R. Hudson Burr of Florida; secretary, William H. Connolly, acting secretary of the interstate commerce commission; assistant secretary, William Kilpatrick of Illinois.

COURT AWARDS BIG SUM TO PLAINTIFF

N. V. Sorenson won every cent he sued for as his real estate commission by a verdict for $15,937.50 given in the circuit court this morning. The defendant was Charles A. Smith, the commission being claimed on the sale of 7480 acres of timber land in Douglas county to the Storey-Bracher Lumber company. The selling price of the land was $300,000. Sorenson claimed $15,000 and interest under a contract between George Sorenson and Fred A. Kribs. George Sorenson later transferred his right to the claim to the plaintiff, while Kribs was agent for Smith in making the contract.

The defense alleged that George Sorenson's contract to make the sale had expired, and denied that he negotiated the final sale, while admitting he took part in earlier dealings with J. O. Storey, who represented the purchasers. The jury, which heard the case in Judge Gantenbein's department, sustained Sorenson's version.

PACIFIC COAST CONGRESS DELEGATES ASSEMBLE

San Francisco, Nov. 16.—Delegates to the Pacific Coast congress called by Governor Gillett are arriving in the city in large numbers and the meeting promises to be well attended. Several governors and a number of United States senators and representatives have signified their intention to take part in the congress and other participants will include representatives of many commercial and industrial organizations throughtout the western territory.

The specific purpose of the congress is to bring about a closer cooperation of the western states and territories in matters affecting their mutual interests. It is purposed to initiate a movement to procure legislation to encourage the merchant marine and also to have the naval fleet and other defenses of the Pacific coast strengthened. Incidentally the congress is expected to give its official indorsement to the project of holding the Panama-Pacific exposition in San Francisco in 1915.

HUNGARIAN QUAIL ARE BROUGHT HERE

Game Birds Turned Loose in Walla Walla Valley; Protected for 10 Years.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Walla Walla, Wash., Nov. 16.—Sixty pairs of Hungarian quail are being turned loose throughout the Walla Walla valley, the birds being loosed near this city, Starbuck, Waitsburg, Dayton and Pomeroy. They were brought into the valley yesterday from the sound and will all be loose in the new country by tomorrow night.

The quail are protected by a ten year law, which will make ample protection, it is thought, until they get a good start. They are large, nearly the size of a prairie chicken and are excellent game, as well as being better than native quail to eat. They are good foragers, and it is thought they will thrive in the Walla Walla valley fully as well as in their native haunts.

The birds have been brought from Hungary, it is said by the men distributing them, and they are being sent out by the state game warden.

MILL DESTROYED; LOSS IS $35,000

Acme Company's Plant in Albina Burned; Several Other Blazes Do Damage.

A second fire broke out at 8 o'clock this morning in the smouldering ruins of the Acme Mill company's building at Albina and Railroad avenues, where property valued at $45,000—was destroyed last night. This morning's fire was quickly extinguished.

It is believed that defective wiring caused the fire last night, which broke out near the roof about 10 o'clock while the mill was in full operation. The four-story building was quickly enveloped in flames and the 30 employes were forced to make a hurried exit from the structure. A second alarm was sent in as soon as the first fire apparatus arrived and the fire tug George H. Williams, as well as additional companies responded.

The fire had secured such a strong hold on the mill building proper that it was impossible to save it, and the department devoted its attention to protecting surrounding property. All of this except one small building, occupied by the milling company, was saved.

The loss on the buildings, which were owned by James Knott of Walla Walla, Wash., was about $10,000. Walter A. Goss, president of the milling company, estimated the company's loss to be about $35,000.

A gas heater at 5 o'clock this morning started a fire in a residence at 30 East Twenty-Second street north, forcing members of the family to hurry from the house scantily clad. The fire department confined the flames to the rear of the building and the damage to about $500.

A Rose City Park street car caught fire shortly before 1 o'clock this morning at Grand avenue and East Ankeny streets, but the flames were extinguished before the fire department arrived.

The loss is fully covered by insurance and the mill will be rebuilt as soon as possible.

DISMISS EXTORTION SUIT AGAINST CRIPPLE

The charge of extortion against Dominico Gianolo, a crippled Italian, who was accused of attempting to blackmail Pete Bruno, proprietor of a North Second street saloon, was dismissed in municipal court this morning because of lack of evidence. Bruno received a letter demanding $1000 on penalty of death and Gianolo was on the corner where Bruno was supposed to pay over the money. His signature and the handwriting of the letter were compared by an expert, but not found to be the same. Bruno takes the threat seriously and has since gone about with a loaded revolver and usually with a friend accompanying him.

SAN FRANCISCO HAS OFFICE HERE TO BOOST FAIR

On Hand With Frisco Buttons, Pamphlets and Arguments; Ask Portland's Help for the Good of the Coast.

Wear a button and boost for San Francisco!

The Bay city wants the big Panama exposition in 1915 and is here to ask the Rose City to help. It wants all the Pacific coast to pull for San Francisco, believing that what helps one section of the coast helps all.

San Francisco established headquarters in Portland this morning through which to carry on a vigorous campaign from this state. They are in the offices of the Portland Chamber of Commerce and the campaign will be directed by H. G. Van Vactor, special representative, an experienced publicity man and public speaker.

Stacks of literature explaining why San Francisco should be given the government indorsement for the fair that is to mark the celebration of the opening of the Panama canal have been received to be distributed through Portland and a large quantity of neat lapel buttons bearing the official design of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition will also be distributed with a view of having them attract attention to the work and thus steadily win new agents in the campaign.

Will Aid the Coast.

"This exposition will not be a San Francisco proposition, but one that will bring into prominence the entire Pacific coast," said Mr. Van Vactor this morning. "It will mean that hundreds of thousands of people will come to the Pacific coast, to Oregon, Washington, Idaho and California, and it will mean advertising that we could get in no other way. For that reason the communities that come to the assistance of San Francisco in getting the government official stamp, help themselves."

California has already subscribed $17,500,000 for the exposition from its own people and now it wants the government to help with its official endorsement—not a cent in money—that will enable them to prepare for an affair the like of which has never been attempted before. The completion of the Panama canal will be one of the biggest accomplishments in modern history and it is considered proper that it be celebrated with the holding of a suitable exposition.

Pamphlets on Hand.

Beautiful pamphlets descriptive of California, its cities and its climate are included in the literature to be distributed through the Portland office. In one of these is set forth the fact that New Orleans which is in the field for the big Panama exposition, still owes the government $1,350,000 advanced to her international exposition in 1884 and which did not prove a financial success.

One of the appeals set forth in these pamphlets reads:

"Many people of the United States may love New Orleans, but the sympathy and support of the entire country should go out to the city that has done so much for herself—lend her a hand now that she asks it.

"The state of California and the entire Pacific coast is backing San Francisco, and will support the exposition to an extent that will make it the most remarkable world's exposition that has ever been held, an exposition which will be a credit to America and receive the commendation of the nations of the world.

"California has subscribed $17,500,000 and only awaits the sanction of congress to start a magnificent exposition to celebrate the completion of the most stupendous achievement in history.

"San Francisco is asking for congressional indorsement only—not one cent of government money.

"As a cold-blooded business proposition, does not San Francisco deserve this recognition?

"What do you think?"

HELPED MAN MOVE AND STOLE HIS CLOTHES

Earl T. Williams wore a suit which it is claimed he stole from Frank McDade, living at Sixteenth and Washington streets, when placed under arrest yesterday by Detectives Endicott and Sloan. Jack Ryan, a companion, was also arrested for stealing other clothes from McDade when they were employed to assist him in moving. Williams was fined $50 by Municipal Judge Taswell today and Ryan was assessed $25.

Henry G. Davis Is 87.

Washington, Nov. 16.—Henry G. Davis, former United States senator from West Virginia and Democratic candidate for vice president in 1904, received congratulations today on his eighty-seventh birthday anniversary. Mr. Davis, who spends his winters in Washington, is in good health and continues to take an active interest in business and in public affairs.

BREAKS UP A BAD COLD IN A FEW HOURS AND CONTAINS NO QUININE.

It Is Needless to Be Miserable Because of Colds or Grippe

It is a positive fact that a dose of Pape's Cold Compound taken every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken will cure Grippe or break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach or limbs.

You distinctly feel the cold breaking and all the disagreeable grippe symptoms leaving after the very first dose. It promptly ends the most miserable neuralgia pains, headache, dullness, head nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than $50,000 and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound which any druggist in the world can supply.
