

LYLE DISTRICT GETS FIRST PRIZE

Non-Irrigated Apples From Klickitat County Win at Spokane Show.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Lyle, Wash., Nov. 17.—Lyle apples again carried away the first prize at the Spokane apple show, according to notices received today. A remarkable display of exceptionally well colored fruit was sent to Spokane for competition in the district class for a prize of $250 in cash. The fruit was grown near Lyle, the best of it in the Clarke orchard, near the Klickitat river and all without irrigation. Last year the first prize was awarded to the Lyle district in a large competition.

O. R. & N. CHIEF HAS NEW SYSTEM TO WIN COUNCIL

ively that the railroad is not acting in good faith. "I am not an anti-corporationist. I am not speaking off hand. I pledge my experience as a business man and property owner that to give up these streets will lose to the city property of incalculable value, and will permit the O. R. & N. company more completely to bottle up the harbor.

To Serve People.

"I have looked into this matter through many months, and I know whereof I speak. I was elected a councilman to serve the interests of the people who elected me. I would be ashamed to lose these people if I voted to give away their property. The 'great park' site in South Portland, which is assessed at $350 an acre and valued by the railroad at $2500 an acre, the sewer concessions and the boulevard concessions of the railroad are trifles in comparison with the strategic value of these streets which the railroad wants, and wants not for a freight depot, but as terminal yards.

"The railroad going into the open market would be required to pay millions for this property. They expect the city to give it to them for nothing. The measure of the value of a thing is how much it is worth to the purchaser. The value placed by C. K. Henry, employed by the railroad, upon the property is not equitable. He based it upon square feet, when it would have been based on relative value in any other deal than with the railroad. It is an individual same to the council asking such a concession he would be laughed out of the room.

"The railroad company says they can better serve public interest if we give them the streets. Portland is a city established and fixed, and not dependent on the railroad for existence. We don't have to give away our heart and soul to get railroad facilities.

"To get back to the original proposition. I contend we should never have entered into a trade with the railroad.

The city should have condemned the rights for the Broadway bridge that it wanted from the railroad in exactly the same way that it condemned the rights that it wanted from Albert Brothers. The railroad company tries to make the deal look good, but it is iniquitous and bad as heart. So long as I am a member of the city council I will not vote to give away streets of incalculable value.

Councilman Kubl declared this morning: "If the streets are vacated to the railroad company the common user clause which we secured for the East Third Street franchise will be made null and void, since by these vacations the railroad would secure control of property on both sides of the common user clause section.

Vacation Is Unfortunate.
It would be the most unfortunate thing possible to vacate these streets. If the city wanted a public dock site on the waterfront affected by these vacations after the deal had been consummated it would have to pay the railroad millions of dollars for the property which it now proposes to give away. To vacate these streets would not be a square deal for the east side.

"All the improvement associations of the eighth ward have gone on record as opposed to the vacations. That would be sufficient cause for me to oppose the deal, but my own judgment tells me it would be the worst of public policy to give these streets. We lose our east side public dock sites if we do, and we effectively shut out any transcontinental road shorter than the Harriman interests from getting to the east side."

"A committee composed of myself, George Black and Dr. Van Waters, appeared before the mayor and council four months ago and demanded that the O. R. & N. Co. be compelled to comply with the terms of the franchise given a long time ago, wherein it was agreed that in return for the franchise a freight depot would be built for the east side.

"Nothing was ever done about this matter by the mayor and council," said State Senator Dan McElhenny this morning. "If we give away the east side streets and waterfront to the railroad company and then want to build public docks, we will have to pay fabulous prices for the site, then use parashutes or balloons to get there."

Commentary resolutions as well as numerous favorable comments upon the stand taken by Councilmen Russell, Lombard, Coccannon, Baker, Ellis and Kubl, in the matter of the vacation of the east side streets, asked for by the O. R. & N. Co., were heard at the Sunnyside Push club meeting last night. A copy of the resolutions adopted was ordered sent to each of the councilmen and to the press, that the six men and the public might know how the Sunnyside people felt about the matter.

Councilman Kubl was present at the meeting last night, and told the members of the club of the stand which the council had taken in the matter. He was pledged the support of the Sunnyside people as long as he might hold his present position in the street vacation fight.

Postponement Is Possible.
It was stated this morning that the special council meeting to consider adoption of ordinances vacating 14 east side streets to the O. R. & N. company, might have to go over from Saturday until Monday because the necessary filing of petition for the meeting, so that the call could be issued two days before the meeting, had not been done. Councilman Holding, who circulated the petition, is out of town and will not return until tomorrow.

It is estimated that the attempt to delay will be made because the O. R. & N. company fears that groups of councilmen could be mustered to pass the ordinance.

CHINESE GAMBLER PAYS ANOTHER FINE
Yai Yoi, Chinese gambler, paid a fine of $150 in municipal court this morning for conducting a lottery game, making a total of $300 assessed upon him in the past two weeks. Yai Yoi pleaded guilty in court yesterday on the just charge made against him and Judge Maxwell withheld sentence, threatening him with a reckless sentence if he did not keep his promise to withdraw his appeal on a $100 fine. This morning he showed a receipt for the fine and then paid the one imposed today.

USES 7 CHALLENGES TO SECURE HIS JURY
A jury to sit in the trial of George F. Bowers, charged with having passed counterfeit money, was selected this morning in the federal court, after Attorney W. C. Campbell for the defense had used seven peremptory challenges. Testimony in the case will be taken this afternoon.

Bowers was arrested September 1 by Patrolman O. C. Kline, he had been accused of passing a spurious piece of silver on David Stein, an Italian fruit merchant. Nine counterfeit coins were afterward found by the police in a lumber yard, in which the defendant admitted having slept.
