W. S. Broaddus, the well known po-to dealer, has made a trip to Cali-mia, spending 10 days among the districts. He reports the situation to The Journal as follows:

"On my arrival there I found two

"On my arrival there I found two other men, one a large grower, and the other a big dealer, who wanted to know as badly as I the exact amount of po-tatoes left in the district. "We agreed to divide the territory and make a personal canvass of it, and get the best estimate possible, by get-ing a count of the arreage not dug, and estimating the yield by that of tho parts of the same fields already dug out. Then we went through the ware-houses and got an actual count of what was in storage.

oul. Then we went through the ware houses and got an actual count of what was in storage. When we got togrether we compared notes and computed the aggregate of all our estimates. This gave us as a total of all the frvers in sight in Cali-formia of $24,000 sacks. We have ac-cepted this as the best estimate that can be made, and we believe it to be very close to the actual amount of spuds in that district. It includes everything in the Stockton and San Francisco warehouses, as well as that left in the ground and on the banks. Dealers are paying from 90 cents to $1.25 per sack, of about 118 pounds, to the growers there, and there is a strong tendency on the part of the growers to hold back for more, with very little business. In fact, there seen at this time of the year for many years. 'Colorado is quoting Texas and Ari-to the growers there, and there is a strong tendency on the part of the growers to hold back for more, with very little business. In fact, there are less spuds moving than I have seen at this time of the year for many years. Toiorado is quoting Texas and Ari-rona markets away below what Cali-formia dealers can, and are getting all the business. At present prices, all of the potatoes in California and Oregon must be used at home. If some one will foregon I will tell you just what the market price will be, provided Colorado mantains her present low quotations. We have no potatoes to equal the famey rivers put up by the Japanese. We have no potatoes to equal the famey rivers put up by the Japanese. Backs of what is left there, and con-set enough for their trade at this figure. With such a small movement of local eggs to market practically 99 per cent of the business has passed into the storage stock and some of this is bo-ing held very close to the values asked for local fresh owing to the inability of buyers to get the latter. With the exception of periods where-in transportation lines were blocked, there has never been a period when fresh ranch erres were so scarce along Front street as at present. While Front street dealers are of the opinion that fresh eggs should be worth more money than they are get-ting, they explain their holding down quotations by stating their inability to interest buyers at a higher value. There is so much storage slock on hand and some of this is of such good quality that it is hard to secure very much more even for freshly laid goods.

The market for wheat is quist be-cause farmers are not willing to sell at quotations offered. The situation is slightly better than yesterday. Export flour market is showing con-siderable strength at this time and there is a strong possibility of an ad-vance of 10c a barrel soon. Millers say that a $3.60 market for export is fully justified by the present price of wheat and therefore are looking for-ward to a general advance in quotavard to a general advance in quota-

Outlook for higher prices in the east-ern markets for apples is not bright, owing to the heavy offerings there, but there continues a very fair tone, al-though quiet, in other sections. Resarding the apple situation, the Northwestern Fruit Exchange reports to The Journal today: The market is quiet and steady. There is sufficient inquiry from southwestern districts to absorb our offerings at fair values, but the eastern demand con-tinues to be negligible, and we are keeping out of the district east of Chi-cago. The outlook now is that the sea-son will wind up with a firm market, but prospects are not bright for very much higher prices. The export situa-tion is better and we have a report of car of Ben Davis sold in Germany at a net of $1.56 f. o. b. New York.
