Visiting Nurse Association Selling Red Cross Stamps at Cent Apiece.

Facsimile of Red Cross Stamp.

The campaign for the sale of Red Cross stamps at a cent apiece is on. The Visiting Nurse association seeks by the sales to secure funds for the care and treatment of the tubercular poor, who lacking help, must die.

At the Lipman & Wolfe, E. P. Charlton, J. K. Gill and Woodard, the general canvass will last one week beginning Dec. 2.

Seeks Practical Results.

The Visiting Nurse association seeks to bring about definite and practical results in its work among indigent consumptives. From funds raised last year, about $8000, amounts have been taken from time to time to care for consumptives who had no money.

Some who had apparently no hope for recovery quickly rallied when given proper treatment and when instructed in the ways of caring for themselves. These have become now self-supporting and a number of them will permanently recover.

Last Saturday a number of the tubercular patients whom the Visiting Nurse association has been caring for over a year, were taken to the Oregon State sanatorium, and Mrs. Turley, "But the Visiting Nurse association is still taking care of a large number in their homes, and this work must be continued indefinitely."

Deaths in the department stores will be in charge of the following ladies: Meier & Frank store, Saturday morning—Mrs. Brakine Wood, Miss Ilae Koehler, Saturday afternoon, Miss Dorothy Morrison, Mrs. Frank G. Owen.

DR. NORTH MAY BE TRIED AGAIN

Judge Wolverson Will Entertain Motion to Set Aside the Verdict.

Following a verdict of guilty, from the jury that tried Dr. E. N. North, a Toledo, Or., dentist, for sending vulgar matter through the mails Judge Wolverson in the United States district court announced that he would entertain a motion to set aside the verdict next week.

It is presumed Judge Wolverson's decision to consider setting aside the verdict arises from the introduction into the case of a letter written by Dr. North to Dr. H. E. Olinger of Salem, secretary of the state board of dental examiners. It was by means of this letter that the government was able to know, with the aid of handwriting expert Albin, a striking similarity between the letter to Dr. Olinger, admittedly written by Dr. North, and that received by Judge M. W. McGrath, the New Mexico magistrate whom North is alleged to have written, threatening him with death.

When Deputy United States District Attorney McGuire attempted to introduce the letter to Olinger in evidence, it was objected to by North's attorney, Judge Wolverson overruled the objection. Evidently the court is in doubt as to the legality of admitting the letter, and if the verdict is set aside, a new trial will be necessary.

North was convicted of practicing dentistry without a license in New Mexico and was given a jail sentence by Judge McGrath. A few months later McGrath rescinded the threatening letter postmarked Toledo, Or. He came from Roseburg, New Mexico, to testify against North.

MAY NEVER USE LIGHTING PLANT

However, One Being Installed in Courthouse, as Will Be Handy.

A complete lighting plant is being installed in the east wing of the new courthouse, but it may never be used. The county commissioners decided if it would spell economy to put in a plant and keep it ready for use at a day's notice, even if it always remains idle.

The explanation for this is the practice of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company in reducing lighting rates to a low notch whenever any firm or institution owns a separate plant. The rate is usually made so low that the owner of a plant does not care to operate it, and buys his light at a low rate from the public service corporation.

Heretofore the county of Multnomah has been charged a very high rate for lighting. The city of Portland has been given a lower figure, and the commissioners recently received a letter from the lighting company offering to make the rate for the county the same as for the city in the new building. This is not satisfactory to the commissioners, who believe the county should receive the benefit of a rate as low as any business firm secures. So the county is going ahead with its plant.

Arrangement is made for a connection with the light company's wires for an auxiliary service in any event, so if the plant of the county should break down the auxiliary service can be commanded. In reverse order, with the county in control of an independent plant, it can "hook up" at any time it wishes should the other supply fail or independent lighting for any reason be deemed desirable.

The incorporators are R. M. Dearamund, G. W. Thompson and F. L. Johnson. The capital stock is $250,000. TO GET MORE WATER TO IRRIGATE LAND (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Grants Pass, Or., Dec. 2.—Work began yesterday on the repairing of the Ament dam above this city. This follows an order issued this week by Judge Callahan authorizing Reuelver Wharton of the Golden Drift Mining company to commence immediately to repair the dam and issue certificates of indebtedness to cover the cost. The first work will be to construct a cofferdam to drive the water over the spillway to allow reconstruction work and replace machinery which was washed out last year during the flood. Repairing of the dam is of the utmost importance here, as it insures water to irrigate a considerable area for next year's crop. The dam has been under litigation for a year, but the repair work will be satisfactory to all parties interested. The money, it is said, is being furnished by Chicago parties directly interested. Everybody is feeling good over water prospects. Only One "BROMO QUININE" That is LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE.
