California Prices Are Dropping and While Seattle is Nominally Higher It Does Not Benefit the Shipper.

Weakness is apparent in nearly all egg markets throughout the country, but especially on the Pacific coast, where artificial values have been forced for the fresh product in order to insure greater profits for cold storage handling.

In Portland great efforts have been made to force the entire fresh egg market to 45c, but this has proven unsuccessful for this market takes less to manipulating influences than any other on the coast, owing to the constant export of the product by the Journal.

Fresh range eggs are holding steady here at 42 1/2 a dozen, and while some interests assert the constant export of their entire holdings, the fact remains that they scarcely receive on the average of more than a case or two of fresh eggs during an entire week.

Fresh salmon scarce. Supplies of fresh salmon are scarce in the local market and prices are ruling firm. Silverides are quoted at 30c and 10c and the few arrivals of steelheads at 10c a pound.

Mistake Season Opens. Initial shipment of mistletoes for the season has just left the Front street market. Quotations generally range around 10c a pound.
