

PROPOSED VACATIONS OF STREETS FOR NO DEPOT BE BUILT

This, in substance, is what Harriman manager tells Chamber of Commerce regarding freight shed.

Asserting that the O. R. & N. company will not build an east side freight depot unless the city vacates portions of east side streets between the tracks now operated by the railroad...

Mr. O'Brien announced that the vacations were needed for a freight depot and to take care of rapidly increasing freight shipments on the east side.

He promised to build a 350 foot freight house and to increase its size. He announced the company's intention to build very soon a 1300 foot freight depot on the west side in connection with the freight shed.

Mr. O'Brien made the same kind of a comment when asked if the O. R. & N. company would accept a common user clause in the grant from the city.

Mr. O'Brien said that the rest of this space is needed for team and station tracks. He said the vacations of street ends in the vicinity of the old steel bridge were an entirely separate proposition from the vacations wanted in connection with the freight depot.

East side business men, including Dr. George B. Van Waters, George Black, G. Collins, Dan Kellaher, George T. Atchley and others, protested that the vacations if made will complete the Harriman interests' ownership of a full mile and a quarter of the choicest dock sites on the east side.

It is determined, in line with a recommendation from the public docks committee of the club, to institute a public dock 1000 feet long between the Burnside and steel bridges, then all matters would be dependent upon all shippers would be dependent upon the Harriman lines for transportation accommodations.

Wants All Streets Vacated. A map which had been drawn by M. O. Collins for the public docks committee was submitted to show the proposed location. A belt line railroad was included to be so constructed as to take advantage of common user clauses consented to by the O. R. & N. Co. on the north and with the proposed terminal of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad on the south.

A. H. Devers appeared in behalf of the Taxpayers' league, asking that the railroad company would not grant the right to cross its tracks, to a public dock, overhead, if the vacations are accorded to Mr. O'Brien said that underground rights are given in the ordinance, and that they would willingly concede the overhead rights, although he could think of no possible use for them.

William MacMaster, president of the Chamber of Commerce, asked why it would not be possible to vacate every other street, thus preserving to the city the desired access to the water front. Mr. O'Brien said he would not consent or promise to build the freight depot on the proposed cost of $100,000 unless all the streets were vacated.

Jobs in Road's Power. He gave as the reason for the impracticability of a franchise the fact that "any Tom, Dick or Harry could come along and force us to open our trains at any one of the streets," and that the vacations proposed do not add in the development of the east side I will eat my words.

They Grow. Good Excess and Overfulness from Mign and Drink. Anything that interferes with good health is apt to keep cheerfulness and good humor in the background. A Washington lady found that letting coffee alone made things bright for her.

Four years ago I was practically given up by my doctor and was not expected to live long. My nervous system was in a bad condition.

But I was young and did not want to die. I began to look about for the cause of my chronic trouble. I used to have nervous spells which would exhaust me and after each spell it would take me days before I could sit up in a chair.

I became convinced my trouble was caused by coffee. I decided to stop it and bought some Postum.

The first cup, which I made according to directions, had a soothing effect on my nerves and I liked the taste. For a time I merely lived on Postum and ate little food. I am today a healthy woman.

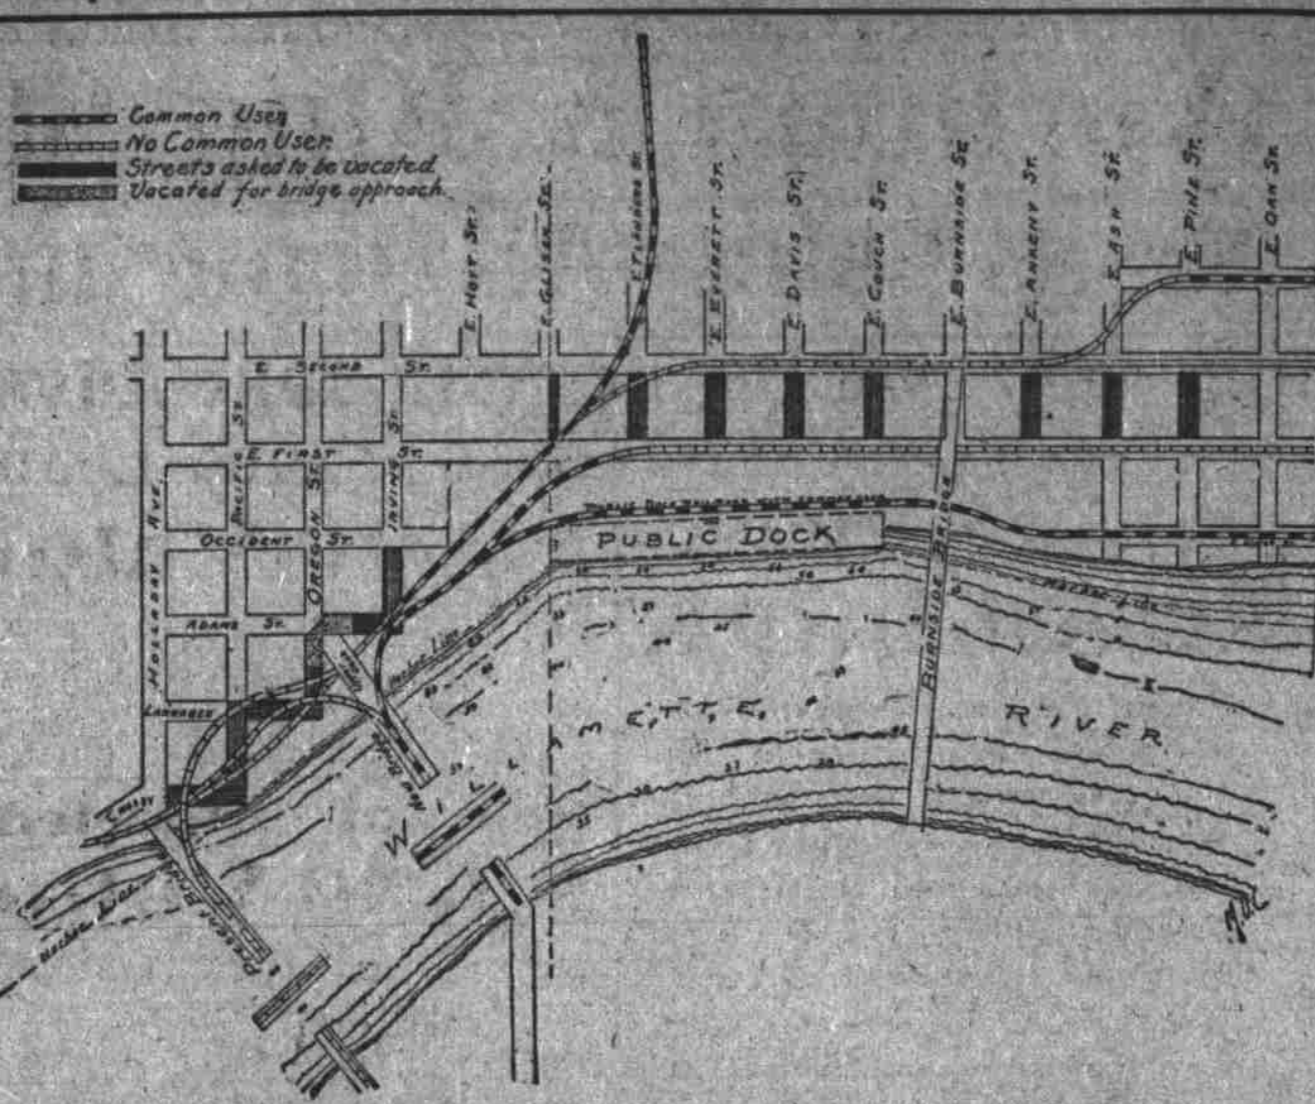

My family and relatives wonder if I am the same person I was four years ago when I could do no work on account of my nervousness. Now I am doing my own housework, take care of two babies—some 30 the other 3 months old. I am so busy that I hardly get time to write a letter, yet I do it all with the cheerfulness and good humor that comes from eating good health.

I tell my friends it is Postum I owe my life today.

Proposed Site for Public Docks on East Side of Willamette

Map shows portion of the water front in the vicinity of the O. R. & N. and Burnside bridges. It is contended that the vacation of portions of east side streets as shown would cut off the approach to available free dock sites.

Common User. No Common User. Streets to be vacated. Vacated for bridge approach.

Mr. O'Brien announced that the vacations were needed for a freight depot and to take care of rapidly increasing freight shipments on the east side.

MRS. EDDY'S BODY WILL BE BURIED AT CAMBRIDGE, MASS.

Decision Follows Advice of Geo. W. Glover, Son of Mrs. Eddy; Funeral Ceremonies to Be of the Simplest.

Boston, Dec. 5.—The body of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, founder of the Christian Science church, will be buried in the Mount Auburn cemetery at Cambridge, Mass. It has been definitely decided by the leaders of the church, after receipt of a communication from George W. Glover, Mrs. Eddy's son, that the body of their "pastor emeritus" shall not rest in the crypt built in the foundation of the "mother church" in Boston.

Arrangements for the funeral, which were partly made yesterday, were completed today. Following the wishes of Mrs. Eddy herself, the ceremony will be of the simplest sort. There will be short prayers, reading from the Scriptures, and appropriate readings from Mrs. Eddy's own writings, and then the body will be borne to Mount Auburn from the late home in the suburb of Newton.

Only the members of Mrs. Eddy's family and a few of the leaders of the church who were closest to her in her last days will attend the services, which will be held at 11 a. m. Thursday.

The announcement that burial will be in Mount Auburn caused mild surprise among some of the members of the church. It had been reported that Mrs. Eddy's body was to be placed in a tomb under the altar of the First church. Knowing the love which Mrs. Eddy bore the First church, the rumor gained credence.

No Explanation of Selection. Mrs. Eddy's son had intimated that burial might be at Trinity Hill, beside the grave of George W. Glover, Mrs. Eddy's first husband. Concord, N. H., where she lived for many years, and Bow, N. H., her birthplace, were also suggested. The final decision for Mount Auburn was given without stating the reasons that had caused its selection. It is believed, however, that the decision was influenced by the desire of the leaders of the mother church to have the grave near Boston.

It is expected that Ebenezer J. Foster Eddy, Mrs. Eddy's adopted son, will come from Watertown Vt. to attend the funeral.

There will be no contest over the succession to Mrs. Eddy's leadership in the belief expressed in all quarters by members of the church. Predictions by leaders in other denominations that the gradual disintegration of the church would follow Mrs. Eddy's death have had no impression on her followers.

The church, they say, is on a solid foundation. Mrs. Eddy, for some time played a prominent part in the government of the organization and the church would not be affected by her death. She is regarded as the founder of the church. There could be no other founder, reason the Scientists, and therefore there could be no successor to Mrs. Eddy, for as far as she is in the actual beliefs of the church.

Mrs. Eddy's death is not, they argue, a refutation of her own belief or teachings, and was only an event which her followers always had known must come. It is not a refutation of their own belief in death, they declare. The writings of Mrs. Eddy merely asserted that there would be an ultimate conquest of death, but she did not expect it to become an actuality for many years.

Christian Scientists everywhere will pay no attention outwardly to the burial of Mrs. Eddy. They will not stop their work or their pleasure. A request was made that no flowers be sent to the grave or to the Eddy home, where Mrs. Eddy's body is now lying in state.

MRS. EDDY'S SON WITH FAMILY ON WAY EAST

Chicago, Dec. 5.—George W. Glover, son of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, accompanied by his son and daughter, arrived here from Lead, S. D., today, and left at once for Boston to attend his mother's funeral. While being besieged by reporters and newspaper photographers, Glover reluctantly said: "I am going to Boston now to attend the funeral of my mother, and I do not intend now to contest for her private estate. My mother's religious views were her own business, and not mine, and I do not care to discuss such private matters. I am simply going to aid in my mother's burial, and want to be let alone."

EXHAUSTED BIKERS LAG BEHIND RECORD

New York, Dec. 5.—Bikers staying ahead of all existing records for more than 25 hours, the thirteen teams entered in the annual six day bicycle race at Madison Square Garden today gave way under the terrific strain and dropped back until, at noon, they were eight laps behind the former mark.

At that hour the leaders were still bunched. They had covered 738 miles and four laps. The French team was nine laps behind the leaders. At 1 o'clock the French team closed up from the race. They were 10 laps behind the leaders and realized that they were hopelessly beaten.

Without a sign of lessening the heart-breaking pace that had been maintained since midnight Sunday night, at 1 o'clock the French team bunched at the front. They were 10 laps behind the leaders and realized that they were hopelessly beaten.

ALIBI DEFENSE OF TRUSTY PRISONERS

Accused Pugilist and His Pal Make Strong Plea in Trial.

Walter Kiehrer, known to the prize ring as Jack Welch, and Pat McClure, his "pal," are trying to convince a jury in the circuit court they were nowhere near the place where Walter Drennan and F. C. Arata were held up and robbed on the night of September 29.

The defendants took the stand this morning and said that at the time of the holdup they were near the O. R. & N. railroad track near Sixth street, awaiting a chance to board a freight train. They said they were with the train when it was held up and that they were not near the place where the robbery took place.

The defendants were arrested at the Dallas hotel after their arrival and no money was found on them, the failure to account for the disappearance of the money is counted on as a strong circumstance by the defense. To meet this, Deputy District Attorney Page today put Mrs. J. M. Hampton on the stand to show the defendants lived with two girls in one room in her house for about two weeks.

Mrs. Hampton conducts a rooming house about six blocks from the scene of the holdup. She said McClure rented the room, accompanied by a woman he called his wife. The next day another woman came and she saw Kiehrer there at intervals. After the robbery the officers came to search the rooms and she told them where they could catch the train for Dallas. The testimony was concluded before Judge Morrow at noon.

PLAN TO KEEP OUT FOREIGN TREE PESTS

A strenuous and effective fight is being made in this county by Deputy J. E. Stansberry of the State Board of Horticulture to keep out of this county infected ornamental trees and bushes that are now coming in from Europe and Japan, especially, in great quantities.

The efforts of the association are being centered against the brown root moth, a European pest that has created terrible havoc in the east, particularly in Massachusetts, and the gypsy moth. Numerous nests of these moths have already been found and destroyed.

The caterpillar from which the brown root moth develops, begins its work on the trees and shrubs in the early spring and during its development sheds the hairs from its body which are as poisonous as poison ivy or oak.

During the month of December is when these importations are made to the various hot houses and nurseries of Oregon. H. M. Williamson, the secretary of the State Board of Horticulture, said this morning that the work this year was proving more effective than ever before.

"The work of enforcing the laws against infected fruits during the past season is also the very best that has ever been done in this state," added the secretary. "Consumers are now better protected than they have ever been in addition to condemning much worthless fruit, scores of infected trees have been destroyed."

WILL NOT HAVE TO PAY FOR TIMBER CUT

J. T. Bridges, formerly connected with the Roseburg land office, will not have to pay the United States for timber he has cut from land owned by the government. A jury in the federal court today returned a verdict for the defendant in the suit the government brought to collect the value of the timber alleged to have been cut.

Trial of a somewhat similar suit was begun before Judge Wolcott today. Barney Gobbi and the Tongue Point Lumber company of Astoria are being sued for the value of 308,271 feet of timber valued at $2157.89, which it is claimed Gobbi cut from a claim on Gray's River, Washington, in the Vancouver land district. The government claims Gobbi filed on the claim as a homestead, but never lived on it. Later he filed upon it under the terms of the timber and stone act. What timber was cut was driven down Gray's river and sold to the Tongue Point Lumber company.

LOYALTY OF AUGUSTUS HARTMAN, PRISONER, KEEPS 50 FROM ESCAPING.

An attempted jail delivery was frustrated this morning at the city jail by a "trusty," who declared his loyalty to the jailor was greater than his desire to see the prisoners escape. The "trusty" is Augustus Hartman, otherwise known in police circles as "Old Gus Hartman." As a result of the attempt to free the prisoners, Chief of Police Cox this morning ordered all "trusties" except Hartman to be sent to the rock pile.

Philip Mulls and Thomas Crossman are the two men who planned and carried out their scheme as far as possible. The work began yesterday afternoon. The two men, who are in jail on charges of larceny, had removed the plastering and bricks around a window in the rear cell of the jail. They had made an opening large enough through which they could crawl. A wooden joist and a board partition was the only obstruction between them and freedom.

Late yesterday afternoon several of the prisoners were taken to the county jail, among whom were Mulls and Crossman. The two men had carefully placed the bricks in a dark portion of the cell. They planned to complete their work today. "Old Gus Hartman" this morning discovered the loose bricks, then he found the hole in the wall. Jailer Ben Branch was notified and the cell locked.

After the trusty had notified the jailor some of the other "trusties" said they knew of the attempt to dig out, but had refrained from telling the jailor. With the opening completed, the road to freedom would have been open to fully 50 prisoners.

PHYSICIAN SAID APPENDICITIS

I thought I would do you a favor and let you know what Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root has done so far for me.

About one year ago I was taken sick with a terrible pain in my right side. My family physician pronounced it appendicitis. About two weeks ago I received your Almanac and read in it about weak kidneys, and my back hurting me so much, I thought I would try your Swamp-Root, and to my great astonishment, after using one bottle, I expelled three gall stones, which weighed 123 grains—just what I needed. My kidneys are not well yet, and so I have concluded to continue with Swamp-Root. Mr. Schwack, the druggist, thought that it never was appendicitis and that the doctor had made a mistake. It was no doubt gall stones that caused the trouble, or every word I feel confident that it will cure me entirely of all kidney and liver troubles.

I shall always praise Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root to all those who suffer from kidney, liver and bladder troubles and am very thankful that I ever discovered a worthy remedy. I feel confident that it will cure me entirely of all kidney and liver troubles.
