

President Taft's Message to Sixty-First Congress

which is admirably adapted to meet the exigencies which would be then presented. The passage of the bill would not entail a dollar's expense upon the government at this time, or in the future, until war comes, but when war does come the methods therein directed are in accordance with the best military judgment as to what they ought to be, and they would prevent the necessity for the discussion of new legislation and the delay incident to its consideration and adoption. I earnestly urge the passage of this volunteer bill.

Asks for Commission.
I further recommend that congress establish a commission to determine, early as practicable, a comprehensive policy for the organization, mobilization and administration of the regular army, the organized militia and the volunteer forces in the event of war.

I have directed that the estimates for appropriation for the improvement of coast defenses in the United States should be reduced to a minimum, while those for the completion of the needed fortifications at Carrizosa in the Philippines and at Pearl Harbor in the Hawaiian Islands, should be expedited as much as possible. The Pacific naval base has been transferred to Pearl Harbor in the Hawaiian Islands.

This necessitates the heavy fortification of the harbor and the establishment of an important military station near Honolulu. I urge that all the estimates made by the war department for these purposes be approved by congressional appropriations.

The president refers to the property and growing trade of the Philippines and Porto Rico, especially recommending the speedy enactment of pending measures.

Panama Canal.
"At the instance of Colonel Geethals, the army engineer, officer in charge of work on the Panama canal, I have just made a visit to the isthmus to inspect the work done and to consult with him on the question of certain problems which are likely to arise in the near future. The progress of the work is most satisfactory. If no unexpected obstacle presents itself, the canal will be completed well within the time fixed by congress to wit, January 1, 1915, and within the estimated cost of $275,000,000.

"Among questions arising for present solution is the decision whether the canal shall be fortified. I have already stated to the congress that I strongly favor fortification and I now reiterate this opinion and ask your consideration of the subject in the light of the report already before you, made by a competent board.

"If, in your discretion, we believe modern fortifications to be necessary to the adequate protection and policing of the canal, then it is our duty to construct them. We have built the canal. It is our property. It is also well known that one of the chief objects in the construction of the canal has been to increase the military effectiveness of our navy. Failure to fortify the canal would leave us in the possession of rights we would be powerless to enforce.

"In determining what the tolls should be, we certainly ought not to insist that, for a good many years to come, they should amount to enough to pay the interest on the investment of $400,000,000 which the United States has made in the construction of the canal. The benefit to be derived by the United States from this expenditure is not to be measured solely by a return upon the investment.

Will Cheapen Rates.
"In addition to the benefit to our naval strength, the canal greatly increases the trade facilities of the United States. It will undoubtedly cheapen the rates of transportation in all freight between the eastern and western seaboard and it will greatly increase that trade by reason of the reduction in its cost.

"In all these cases the question whether the Panama canal-is to be used and its tonnage increased will be determined mainly by the charge for its use. My own impression is that the tolls ought not to exceed $1-per net ton. On the whole, I should recommend that, within certain limits, the president be authorized to fix the tolls of the canal and to adjust them to what he believes to be a commercial necessity.

"The president recommends that, owing to the importance of the canal to the United States navy, the government should take over the furnishing not only to the navy but to the public of groceries and repair ship facilities and the sale of coal, oil and other ship's supplies." He adds: "I cannot close this reference to the canal without suggesting as a wise amendment to the interstate commerce law a provision prohibiting interstate commerce railroads from owning or controlling ships engaged in the trade through the Panama canal. I believe such a provision may be needed to save the people of the United States the benefits of the competition in trade between the eastern and western seaboard.

Department of Justice.
"The duties of the department of justice have been greatly increased by legislation of congress. I am glad to say that under the appropriations made for that department, the attorney general has methods of disposing of what are really agricultural lands, adding:

"In September last, a conservation congress was held in St. Paul at which I delivered an address on the subject of conservation so far as it was within the jurisdiction and possible action of the federal government.

"I recommended: That the limitation now imposed upon the executive which forbids his reserving more forest lands in Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Colorado and Wyoming, be repealed.

"That the coal deposits of the government be leased after advertisement in inviting competitive bids, for terms not exceeding 50 years, with conditions as to maintenance which will prevent combinations for monopolistic control of the coal in any one district or market.

"That water power sites be directly leased by the federal government after advertisement and bidding, for not exceeding 40 years, upon a proper rental and with a condition fixing rates charged to the public for units of electric power, with suitable provisions against assignment to prevent monopolies.

"I earnestly request congress that at this session a general conservation legislation of the character indicated be adopted."

With reference to Alaska the president still opposes self-government, on the ground that the inhabitants are few in number and migratory in character. He is opposed to government aid in the construction of Alaskan railroads. The passage of a law permitting the leasing of government control of lands in Alaska after public competition, and the appointment of a commission for the government of the territory with enabling powers to meet the local needs will lead to an improvement in Alaska and the development of her resources, the president says.

Railroads and Anti-Trust Laws.
"For the protection of our own people and the preservation of our credit in foreign trade, I urge upon congress the immediate enactment of a law under which one who in good faith advances money or credit on a bill of lading issued by a common carrier upon an interstate or foreign shipment, can hold the carrier liable for the value of the goods described in the bill at the valuation specified in the bill.

"I further recommend that a punishment of fine and imprisonment be imposed upon railroad agents and shippers for fraud in misrepresentation in connection with the issue of bills of lading issued upon interstate and foreign shipments.

"Except as above I do not recommend any amendment to the interstate commerce commission law, as it stands. I do not now recommend any amendment to the anti-trust law. In other words, it seems to me that the existing legislation with reference to the regulation of corporations and the restraint of their business, has reached a point where we can stop for a while and witness the effect of the vigorous execution of the laws on the statute books in restraining the abuses which certainly did exist and which roused the public to demand reform.

Laborer Accused of Arson.
(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Eugene, Or., Dec. 6.—Edward Hill, a transient who has been working along the line of the new railroad being built by the Southern Pacific company eastward from Eugene toward Klamath Falls, is in the county jail here charged with arson. He is accused of setting fire to the hotel at Lowell a few days ago. He is said to have made threats to burn out several people at Lowell, and after this fire, which was plainly of incendiary origin, he was at once suspected. He was found by a deputy sheriff at Oakridge, several miles above Lowell, and brought to Eugene. He will be given an examination Wednesday.

They Grow Hair

Certain Ingredients, if Properly Combined Stimulate Human Hair Growth.

Resorcin is one of the most effective germ destroyers ever discovered. Betanaphthol is a most powerful, yet absolutely safe germicide, and antiseptic, which prevents developments of germ matter and creates a clean, healthy condition.

Pilocarpine, although not a coloring matter or dye, is an ingredient well established for its power to restore natural color to human hair.

Borax, because of its well defined softening and cleansing properties, is most useful in the treatment of scalp and hair diseases. Glycerine acts as a stimulant to the hair bulbs and has a soothing, healing and nourishing influence. Alcohol is indispensable in medicine because of its antiseptic stimulating and preservative qualities.

Resall "95" Hair Tonic is chiefly composed of these ingredients, which are compounded in a peculiar form, and we believe it is the most effective remedy known to medical science for scalp and hair troubles generally. We personally guarantee it to eradicate dandruff and scalp irritations and to grow hair, even though the scalp in spots is bare of hair, providing of course there is life and vitality remaining in the hair roots.

We want everyone troubled with scalp disease, dandruff or loss of hair to try Resall "95" Hair Tonic. If it does not remove dandruff and promote a growth of hair to the satisfaction of the user, we will without question or quibble return every cent paid us for it.

This guarantee is printed on every package. It has effected most satisfactory results in 95 cases out of 100 cases where put to a practical test.

Resall "95" Hair Tonic is entirely unlike and in every particular different from anything else we know of for the purpose for which it is recommended. We urge you to try it at our entire risk. Certainly we could offer no better guarantee. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1. The Owl Drug Co., Inc., corner Seventh and Washington streets.

Let Others Buy Cheap Pianos

Don't buy a piano because you are offered a $100 or $150 reduction on its price. Regard that piano with suspicion. No dealer sells pianos at less than they are worth, and such reduction can only be made where prices have been arranged to permit juggling. Get all you can, irrespective of the real values, is the rule of the price-cutter.

All pianos in our store are marked in plain figures, and the prices are based on cost of production, allowing a reasonable margin for legitimate profit. These prices are the lowest at which pianos of equal quality can possibly be sold, and are, save for the addition of freight, identically the same as asked in the retail departments of their manufacturers in New York, Chicago or Boston.

One piano only you expect to buy. Therefore, use care in its selection and know that it is worth the price asked. We are confident that you can buy more satisfactorily, more economically and get more real piano quality at the Allen stores than elsewhere in the city or on the coast. Easy payments, of course.

Mr. E. A. Thompson,
Portland, Oregon, U. S. A.
Dear Sir—I have been practicing as an eye specialist for many years, have kept well posted on new methods, etc., but never have I seen anything to equal the instantaneous method perfected by you while in Berlin.

Having seen this system demonstrated upon several of the worst cases of eye strain in my practice, I am convinced that this is the simplest, easiest and most accurate method of eye testing discovered.

With this new method you are master of the situation. It is not only new, but a century ahead of the profession. I wish you would mail me a copy of your lecture on "Eye and Nerve Measurement," and I will remit on receipt of same. Yours truly,
PROF. A. RICHARD.
