This Week's Games at the Armory. Saturday night (Gorham vs. Vancouver), Sunday afternoon, first game, Company B vs. Spalding, and second game, Columbia vs. Dilworth.

Who will stop the fast going Dilworth Derbies and the Spaldings? This is the question that is occupying the mind of the indoor fans at present, as neither of the above mentioned clubs has met defeat, and the season is three weeks gone. Both teams had a narrow escape from defeat last Sunday, Vancouver being barely nosed out of a victory by snappy fielding in the Spalding infield, and it took the Derbies 11 innings to dispose of Bob Fordney's rejuvenated Gorham brigade. If both the Spaldings and the Derbies win their game next Sunday, there will certainly be some excitement when the two meet for the first time this season, Saturday night, December 17.

The games Sunday should draw well, as both leading teams will be in the field, and the other teams are bound and determined to check their stride.

Made Five Blagies. "Happy" Welsendanger slugged out five singles Sunday in the game between Gorham and Dilworth. "Happy" was just celebrating on the side, however, and surprised his friends the next day by getting married. He will be one of the leading attractions in the game next Saturday night between the Gorhams and Vancouver.

Henderson and Pernie both twirled a beautiful game last Sunday, and were accorded fine support by their teammates. Henderson worked his speed to good advantage, while Sargeant teased the Spaldings with his slow offerings.

Pat McHale, last year with the Honey-mans, has signed with the Derbies for the rest of the season. Pat will most likely have an outfield position.

The Gorhams look like a new team, now that they have a catcher, and it is not too late for them to cop the rag yet.

Rathlin, in the outfield for Company B, looks like a live wire. He fields his position in fine style, is a good base runner, and wallows the sphere in a lively fashion.

Makes Gorking Double. Jack Tauscher's stop of Pernie's hard drive last Sunday, in which he turned into a double play, was a corker, and the nifty little third sacker was given a hand. Austin also figured prominently in this play, as the throw was a trifle low, but Perry scooped it up with little trouble.

Lanfard, the boy who puts his hands when his team is in a pinch, covers lots of ground for Company B around the left short position. And, say, he can certainly sting that ball.

Anderson, outfielder for the Columbia Hardware team, placed a neat hit among the gallery gods last Sunday. Bill Dougherty says he is going to break into the win column this week.

Nelson, who played with "Red" Rupert's team in the Tri-City league last summer, is playing in the outfield for the Columbia Hardware team. He hits the ball hard, and is always a dangerous man.

YALE CREWS LACK STRONG MATERIAL

Former Eli Captain Says Kennedy Is Without Peer in Line.

John Kennedy, Yale's veteran rowing coach, is defended from recent attacks by Cameron Waterman of Detroit, Yale's former captain, who calls Kennedy's services as a coach and who blames lack of material for Yale's recent defeats.

Writing in the Yale Daily News, Waterman says: "For years I have watched with alarm the trend of Yale rowing conditions, and the underlying cause, as early as 1904, the result could be and was foreseen by many. Harvard men with whom I have conversed on the subject very erroneously attribute the decline to our coaching system. At one time there was much trouble

BOOM WOODWARD AS CLUB'S HEAD

Irrington's President Desired to Serve Another Year to Help Playground.

That William F. Woodward will be re-elected president of the Irrington club for another year seems assured for both nominating committee and members regard him as one of the best officials the club has ever had. Now that the campaign is on to secure life members for the club and Mr. Woodward has given so much of his time and energy to promoting that feature for the purpose ultimately of providing a public playground for the Irrington district, it is thought necessary to have him at the helm. The election will take place in January.

Since Mr. Woodward has been president of the club, with the aid of the other officers, trustees and committees, all the stock of the Irrington improvement association has been retired and 20 full lots have been deeded to the club. The property held in fee from debt, except for street and sewer assessments which are bonded to the city. The immediate need of the club

PERCY SMALLWOOD TO RACE JOHN HAYES AGAIN

Pittsburg, Dec. 8.—Percy Smallwood and Johnny Hayes will meet again in New York next month, it was announced today.

Smallwood, after beating Hayes in a 15-mile race here last night, was challenged by the Olympic Marathon winner, who pleaded lack of condition as an excuse for his defeat. Hayes quit in the twelfth mile because his feet became sore. Up to that period the race was fairly even.
