ter Will Cease Not Later Than Dec. 20; Chinook May Be Tied Up.

According to information received this morning, operations on the south jetty at the mouth of the Columbia river will be suspended for the winter not later than December 20, It is also rumored that the government dredge Chinook will be put out of commission at the mouth of the river at about the same time and will be placed in opera-tion between Astoria and Portland to deepen the channel between the two

Good progress has been made on the jetty during the past season and the United States engineers in charge of the work are satisfied that under favorable conditions the south jetty will be completed next year and the north jetty will be under way. Although bad weather up to the present time has not materially affected the work, it is figured that after the middle of the month very little work can be done and the very little work can be done and the work will be closed down as in pre-

The practical benefit to the bar afforded by the jetty in its present un-completed state has been thoroughly demonstrated and some of the old mar-iners who, at the beginning of the work predicted that it would work for timers who, at the beginning of the work, predicted that it would work for harm instead of good, are now forced to admit that the judgment of the engineers was correct. Such a step on the part of the engineers, it is argued, would bring about most beneficial results, as the Chinook would be able to take out a large amount of material from the channel during the winter months and leave the waterway to the sea in good shape for the Port of Portland dredgers when they resume operations next season.

A. N. Nelson Takes Place of Captain

William Kidston Temporarily.
On his first trip to this port since a took the steamer City of Panama out on December 27, 1909, Captain A. W. Nelson arrived yesterday in command of the steamer Beaver in place of Captain William Kidson, who will be off two or three trips in connection with the suit now pending in the case of the sinking of the Norwegian steamer Selja by the Beavet. Since he was here last Captain Nelson has been on the Panama run in the City of Panama and the City of Panama the last captain he last cap the City of Para, the latter being his last command until he took the Beaver. Captain Nelson has many friends on the beach here. The Beaver reached here yesterday afternoon with 142 passengers and 1500 tons of freight.

A report from San Francisco states that W. F. Herrin, head of the law department of the Southern Pacific company, and R. P. Schwerin, head of the Harriman steamship lines, have each qualified in the sum of $275,000 as security for any damages that may be awarded the owners of the Norwegian steamer Seija, who have libeled the partment of the Southern Pacific comsteamer Seja, who have interest the steamer Beaver in connection with the sinking of the Selja off Point Reves on November 22. The libel is to recover $275,000 damages for the loss of the hull of the Selja and $450,000 for the loss of the cargo.

Shipping Company Alleged Its Barkcatine Damaged by Tug.

A suit has been instituted at Tacoma in the federal court by the S. E. Slade Shipping company, owners of the barkentine Jame L. Stanford, against the Grays Harbor Tugboat company for $10,000, the owners of the barkentine alleging that the craft was damaged through the negligence of a tugboat captain. The Stanford was towed out of Grays Harbor on October 5 and the weather being bad, she was anchored just inside the bar. The next day, it is selleged, the tug proceeded with her out to sea, but it was found that she had sprung a leak through striking the bar.

CANAL PROGRESSES.

Excavation Work at Lower End Going Rapidly, Says Robert.

Lieutenant H. H. Robert, corps of engineers, U. S. A., who has local charge of the work on the Dalles-Ceilio canal, and who was in Portland yesterday, and who was in Portland yesterday, says that the work of excavation on the lower end of the canal is progressing rapidly and that three camps have now been established. Robert Wakefield, he says, however, has not been able to do any effective work on his contract during the last month because of the condition of the water. He has done some drilling, but no blasting. He says that the contractors on the Cellio end will be through on time, or by May 1, and that Nelson & Benson, subcontractors, will finish the latter part of this month, or by January 1.
