PARKER CASE IS FAST BECOMING BADLY TANGLED

Defense Attempts to Prove Important Witness for State Was in Drunken Stupor at Time of Shooting.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) La Grande, Or., Dec. 10.—Was Al Williams, the young man who said he was 15 feet from Porter when he was shot down by his son-in-law, Jess Parker, now on trial for his life, and who said he helped carry Porter to his home after the shooting and declared no gun was found on his person at the time, drunk on the day of the shooting and in a heavy drunken sleep at the particular moment of the shot.

Testimony Mixed. As the matter now stands it is not exactly clear whether the drunken man, who unmistakably figured on the premises at that hour, was Willis or not. Some many words to the minds of many may have been positively identified, just on the porch of the Porter home "dead drunk" at the time of the shooting.
