

BAR ASSOCIATION TO DISCUSS NEED OF MORE JUDGES

Legislature May Be Asked to Authorize Two Additional Circuit Jurists—Bench at Present Is Overworked.

Seven circuit judges for Multnomah county, instead of five, as at present, is the plan to be discussed at a special meeting of the Multnomah county bar association at the courthouse next Wednesday night. If the bar proves to be strongly in favor of the increase, steps will be taken to prepare a bill to be placed in the hands of the Multnomah delegation in the legislature, with a view to securing the increase next January.

Presiding Judge John B. Cleland last night expressed himself as believing that seven judges are needed to keep up with the increasing business of the circuit court, particularly so if the probate business now handled by the county court is transferred to one circuit court. This suggestion finds much favor among members of the bar.

As Judge Cleland's term on the bench will expire in January, he may be regarded as a disinterested witness in the matter. No one is more familiar with conditions in the circuit court by reason of his work as presiding judge in assigning cases to other judges and his long service on the local bench.

Judge Cleland's Opinion.

"I believe there should be as many as seven judges to handle the business in this circuit," said Judge Cleland. "I was presiding judge three years ago, and there has been a great increase in the volume of business since that time. There is now more work for the presiding judge than one man can perform, if he performs it with full consideration, as a judge should do. Part of this work could be given to another judge and the other judge would find enough to do. For illustration, if a special proceeding, such as writs of review, habeas corpus and matters of like kind, along with divorce cases and naturalization matters were turned over to another judge, he would find enough to do, and the presiding judge also would keep busy."

"As it is, business is crowding all the time, and the present number of judges is unable to keep even with the docket. We are constantly behind in the trial of cases, new suits have gone so far ahead, and the volume of work in all lines is growing so fast that without probate business, I would say seven judges are needed, and I am not prepared to deny that more than seven will be needed if some of the plans now being talked are carried into effect."

Prophecy Is Fulfilled.

A fifth judge was given Multnomah county, somewhat grudgingly, at the session of the legislature two years ago. At that time the bar wanted two additional judges, but the Multnomah delegation would grant only one. Those who predicted that the Multnomah courts could be snowed under with only five judges before the next legislature met are pointing to present conditions as proof of their prophecy.

Henry E. McGinn, who has since been elected to the bench and will take his seat in January, went before the Multnomah delegation two years ago and contended that no increase should be made. He argued that changes in the methods of handling business should be made that would save time enough to make up for another judge, but he was almost alone in this position among the members of the bar. Now lawyers are wondering what position he will take, with himself as one of the judges.

DON'T BE BALD

One of Our Readers Tells How She Obtained a Marvellous Growth of New Hair by the Use of a Simple Home Remedy After Hair Specimens and Follicles Had All Failed.

I had what most people would call a beautiful head of golden hair, I prized it most highly, as I considered it my chief attraction. Suddenly it began to come out very rapidly and at times I had an itching of the scalp. Physicians and hair specialists said my case was one of dandruff germs, hair microbes, etc., but nothing that they gave me did the slightest good. On the contrary, my hair seemed to come out even faster, and I was now fearful lest I should become entirely bald. In my despair a friend told me of an Ecuador herb which he said would positively grow hair on a bald head where the hair roots were not entirely gone, and he said the natives of the country where it grew were famous for their beautiful long hair. Upon medical advice, I combined this herb with Bay Rum and Menthol Crystals and immediately began its use. In three applications it entirely stopped the intense itching of my scalp and in a very short time it not only stopped my falling hair, but I noticed an abundance of new hair coming in. In less than one month my hair was longer, thicker and more beautiful than ever. All due to this marvelous hair-growing herb. A lady to whom I have shown it says it will grow new hair, and it will actually grow new hair, therefore, I think the public ought to have it. At first I thought I would keep it a secret and sell the secret, but when I think how I suffered and how badly I needed it and how hundreds of others must need it, the same as I did, I feel I ought to give it to the world. Therefore I authorize this paper to publish the formula, which is as follows: Bay rum, six ounces; Lavender de Composee, six ounces; Menthol Crystals, six drachms. If you like it, perfume, add a few drops of To-Kalon Perfume, which mixes perfectly with the other ingredients. This, however, is not necessary.

Be sure to ask the druggist for all the enclosures in the Lavona de Composee package. One of them entitles you to a handsome free spritzer-top for your Hair Tonic bottle and you are also entitled to receive the free advice of an expert on the hair by simply writing to the address you will find enclosed in the carton. Ask your druggist for an eight ounce bottle containing six ounces of Bay Rum, then put in the Menthol Crystals and the Perfume. Next add one-half of the bottle of Lavona de Composee, let it stand six to eight hours and add the remainder of the Lavona de Composee. Always buy the Lavona de Composee in a two-ounce sealed bottle, as this preparation contains the juice of the Ecuador herb mentioned above, and it loses its strength if unsealed. Apply the preparation night and morning and rub well into the scalp. If properly used it will produce most astonishing results. Be careful not to get it on the face or any part of the body where you do not want to produce hair.

PORTLAND WOMEN SELLING 2000 RED CROSS STAMPS EVERY DAY

Red Cross Stamp Booth in Tull & Gibb's Store.

As soon as Portland women sell 1,000,000 Red Cross seals and by these sales have raised $10,000 with which to carry on the fight against consumption next year, they are going to end the campaign for this year. They have calculated that the Visiting Nurse association can maintain its work caring for the tubercular poor with the amount named.

With the help of Portland people in the purchase of the seals at one cent each they believe that it will be possible to finish the campaign before Christmas. Last week's sales give them this encouragement. More than 2000 seals a day since the beginning of the campaign have been sold from the booth in the Oregon hotel, Mrs. Chester Dearing in charge. Reports nearly as satisfactory have come from other booths.

The Tuesday Afternoon club which sold many stamps last year is putting a booth on the East Side in charge of Mrs. G. M. Glines, and the state public health committee has put seals on sale at St. John's.

When Booths Open.

Monday will witness the beginning of the business building and street canvass for the sale of Red Cross seals. Mrs. R. J. Marsh, chairman of the office building committee, reports that booths will be opened in the following buildings tomorrow:

Spalding building—Mrs. J. S. O'Gorman, assisted by Irvington workers.

Beck—Mrs. J. R. Slater of Mount Tabor.

Medical—Miss Lillian Bosch.

Wells-Fargo—Mrs. O. B. Ballou.

Electric—Miss Isabella Wolfstein in charge Monday and Tuesday, Mrs. H. F. Chapman permanently in charge beginning Wednesday.

Chamber of Commerce building, Pacific Express, Commercial Club, will be in charge of Mrs. Katherine Daly and Mrs. A. C. Newell.

Booths in stores will be in charge of the following tomorrow:

Those in Charge.

Monday forenoon, Lipman & Wolfe, Mrs. Marion Dolph; afternoon, Mrs. Charles.

Sig Sichel, Third and Washington, forenoon, Miss Ruth Sichel; afternoon, Miss Gertrude Hersh.

Meier & Frank, forenoon, Miss Marguerite Boschke, Miss Mildred Grindstaff; afternoon, Miss Gladys Welder, Miss Inez Barrett.

Olds, Wirtman & King, forenoon, Miss Dorothy Newhall; afternoon, Miss Sanderson Reed, Mrs. Fielding Kelly.

Tull & Gibb, forenoon, Miss Helen Whitney, Miss Jessie McLean; afternoon, Miss Carmel Bolton, Miss Ethel Thompson.

J. K. Gill, forenoon, Miss Ethel Chamberlain; afternoon, Miss Kate Brasel.

Owl Drug Store, forenoon, Miss Ruby Creighton; afternoon, Mrs. James Ellis.

WALLA WALLAN'S AIRSHIP FLIES

Charles A. Zornes Builds Craft That Is Believed Successful—Backed by Business Men.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Walla Walla, Wash., Dec. 10.—Rising to a height of 12 feet and skimming through the air for 50 yards, the aeroplane invented by Charles A. Zornes of this city made a successful flight of about 250 yards. The machine has been tested for several weeks, but owing to inclement weather has never been successful until good weather struck here yesterday and dried the grounds, making a start possible.

No further attempts will be made this winter and the aircraft has been housed until spring. The Walla Walla Aero club, backing the inventor, is satisfied that it has features that will make its sale possible without interference with the Wright or Curtiss patents. After having seen the machine take the air, the backers are confident it will go to any height.

Zornes came here from Richland, Wash., and secured backing of prominent business men for his enterprise. He will perfect it this winter for flights next summer.

ACCOUNTING BY MRS. WINSLOW IS APPROVED

County Judge Cleston yesterday signed a final order approving the account of Mrs. Sarah Statton Winslow of San Francisco, as guardian for her children, Ruth Louise Winslow and Anna Marie Louise Winslow. She is the first wife of Chas. Winslow, a Portland merchant, who left a large estate and by his will gave it to the second wife, Alice Gibson Winslow, and two daughters.

Under a separation agreement with the first wife, however, the most of the estate has been awarded to the first wife for herself and as guardian for the children, her claim being for large monthly allowances under the agreement. In the compromise $52,000 in money and securities was turned over to Sarah Statton Winslow, and of this sum $25,000 goes to the children, $18,500 as creditors and $6500 as legacies under the will. Hereafter the first Mrs. Winslow will account to the superior court in San Francisco for her management as guardian for the daughters.

Music Enjoyed at Chemawa.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Chemawa, Or., Dec. 10.—A chamber-music evening was given at the Chemawa Indian school by the Turney-Rogers-Larsen trio. Mr. Goodnough's interpretations of Weber and Liszt were enthusiastically received by an appreciative audience. Ruthyn Turney's rendition of several numbers on the violin called for repeated encores. The musical numbers were all of a high order.

BRIDE COMES FAR FOR HER WEDDING

Groom Could Not Leave and Miss Gerretts Makes Trip From New Orleans.

When she found that her fiancé, Victor A. Marlow of Portland, could not come to her home in New Orleans to be married, pretty Elizabeth Gerretts didn't let her southern ideas of reticent modesty stand in the way of the ceremony. She came here instead, reaching Portland yesterday morning, and she and Mr. Marlow were married at the home of J. A. Hammond, at No. 238 Beach street, last evening.

Miss Gerretts was met at the Union depot by Mr. Hammond and Mr. Marlow and taken to the former's home, where Mrs. Hammond was ready to help with the wedding gown and to attend to the thousand and one details that a southern girl's mother is supposed to look after on her wedding day. It was a long way from home, but the bride didn't mind it. The couple were married at 7 o'clock last evening by Rev. C. L. Hinson, of the White Temple. They have gone north for a short wedding trip.

Mr. Marlow formerly lived in New Orleans, and knew his bride there. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gerretts of that city.

DALZELL ARRIVES IN AUTO; LEAVES IN HUFF

(Publisher's Press-Associated Wire.) Washington, Dec. 10.—Representative John Dalzell came to the White House today in an automobile and left in a huff. Mr. Dalzell is right hand man of Speaker Cannon and admittedly an important member of the house. Mr. Dalzell waited an hour. He is not known as a mild tempered man at the best. At the end of the time he swept out through the waiting room so fast that the tails of his fur lined coat stuck out two feet behind him.

A reporter spoke to him at full flight. "I have not any news," said Mr. Dalzell, angrily. "I never got any further than the door. Goodbye."

RHEUMATISM ADVICE

Gives Prominent Doctor's Best Prescription—Is Easily Mixed.

"Get one ounce of syrup of Sarsaparilla compound and one ounce of Toris compound. Then get half a pint of good whiskey for sherry wine if it is preferred, and put the above two ingredients into it. Take a tablespoonful of this mixture before each meal and at bed time. Shake the bottle before using. This is not new in this city as many of the worst cases of chronic and acute rheumatism and back ache have been cured by it. Good results come the first day. Any druggist has these ingredients on hand or will quickly get them from his wholesale house."

FENCE FACTORY TO BE ERECTED HERE

Spokane Company Buys Land and Will Establish Large Portland Branch.

The Excelsior Fence Works of Spokane, will establish a large branch in Portland. Yesterday afternoon the company purchased a site, 100x150 feet, at the northeast corner of Twenty-second and Pettygrove streets and erection of a building 60x120 will be commenced at once.

The United Railways' line passes the site and a spur will be put in at once, so that direct shipments may be made to and from the works. Laying of the spur will be started this morning, it being desired to have it in within 24 hours as the Warren Construction company, which has the contract for paving the street is said to be anxious to lay the pavement at once.

Charles Simmons, head of the company, and his son, K. E. Simmons, who is also interested in the management, arrived in the city yesterday and closed the deal, assisted by R. W. Raymond, manager of the Portland Commercial Club Industrial Bureau, who first called Mr. Simmons' attention to the fact that Portland would be an ideal location for a fence factory.

The company makes a specialty of railroad fences and hundreds of miles of such fencing was sold last year to railroads in Washington and Idaho. With a number of new roads building in Oregon, Portland is looked upon as the logical distributing point near the coast.

To begin with the company will employ about 25 men, but the force will gradually be increased, as the business grows and the buildings will be enlarged as additional machinery is required.

PLANS TO ENFORCE SPRAYING ORDINANCE

J. E. Stansberry, fruit inspector of Multnomah county, who has secured the passage of a city ordinance compelling persons who make a business of spraying trees to use a water, lime and sulphur spray that will stand four degrees hydro-meter test, declares he will work day and night to enforce this ordinance.

"Much of the spray that is used," said the inspector, "is as worthless as so much water, for there is just enough of the chemical to color the water, but if persons whom I have notified will let me know when they propose to have their spraying done, I will call personally and see that the spray is up to standard. That will save much useless expense to people who believe they are getting something worth while done, while as a matter of fact they are being badly duped."

The ordinance that has just passed provides a penalty for the use of a spray under the four degree standard. It also provides for the punishment of persons selling sprays that are under the test.

"Spraying is a matter of vital importance to all persons who have trees," said the inspector. "Trees infected with the many pests that they are liable to are dangerous to a community and it is a shame that the public has not been better protected before."

A fine of $100 or 30 days' imprisonment is the penalty attached for a violation of the ordinance.

MITCHELL DEMANDS CHANGE IN MAILS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Mitchell, Or., Dec. 10.—The citizens of Mitchell are desirous of having mail from Fossil six times a week, instead of three times as at present. Regular daily mail now comes from Shaniko. That is a 37 mile haul, with the roads bad most of the winter time, so that the mail does not get into Mitchell during business hours in the evening; whereas, the mail from Fossil arrives at Mitchell not later than 6 p. m. and generally earlier.

Fossil is only 40 miles from Mitchell, and the road connecting these towns is a better road for winter travel than is the road between Shaniko and Mitchell, and there is a distance of 17 miles in favor of the Fossil route besides.

Stole Little, Gets One Year.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Eugene, Or., Dec. 10.—Harry Conroy, accused of breaking into the supply house of the Booth-Kelly Lumber company at Coburg several weeks ago, stealing therefrom a pair of oar locks, a pair of oars and a clock, was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary by Judge Harris of the circuit court today, after a plea of guilty had been entered. The judge remarked when passing sentence that the crime hardly warranted it, but this is the minimum for larceny in a building, with which Conroy was charged.

WILL END SERIES OF TALKS TO MEN

Rev. Fr. Huntington Will Give Last Five Addresses This Week.

Beginning with Monday the remainder of the series of ten talks to men being conducted by Rev. J. O. S. Huntington, of the Order of the Holy Cross, will be held in the basement of the Railway Exchange building. These meetings began promptly at 10:10 p. m. and close at 11:35 sharp, allowing ample time for those who attend to secure their lunches before returning to their business. The general topic of the series of talks is "Wanted, a Working Faith." Father Huntington setting forth in a clear, practical and helpful way a man's relations to his fellow men and to God.

During the past week the meetings were held in the convention hall of the Commercial club building, and were well attended, there being present men in all walks of life, and many identified with the best interests of the city, bespeaking a deep interest in Father Huntington and his message to men.

Bishop Charles Scadding has arranged for these meetings, and presides at each meeting. He extends a cordial invitation to as many men as possible to take advantage of the opportunity to hear this eloquent preacher from New York.
