

ATTORNEY DENIES HE STOLE MONEY

Harry Yankwich Wants Bar Association to Investigate Embezzlement Charge.

Attorney Harry Yankwich, candidate in the recent election for justice of the peace, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of embezzling $100 belonging to four foreign laborers. He was held in the county jail last night upon failure to give $2000 bail, but was released this morning.

John Sharban, Nicholas Ross, Pitt Angeloff, Alex Ladlei and P. Ptoof are the men who signed the complaint against him. The men charge that attorney Yankwich was retained to collect on a contract for railroad work on the Natron cutoff. The attorney was to receive 25 per cent of what could be collected. He took one of the men with him to Natron station and effected a settlement. The four men were each given $125. They charge they should have been given $1200.

One of the laborers further states that attorney Yankwich proposed that he take $200 and leave the country, whereupon a report would be made that the money was all taken away with him. Yankwich will be arraigned this afternoon before Judge Bell.

"The charge was trumped up by a bitter enemy," said Yankwich this morning. "I will ask the grievance committee of the Multnomah Bar association to make a rigid investigation of the matter and determine whether I have been dishonest. I have all necessary receipts to clear myself."

FREE UNIFORMS FOR OLD STREETCAR MEN

All platform men who have been in the employ of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company for five years or more are known as "gold stripe men." There are about 300 of these men in the service of the company.

President B. S. Josselyn has decided to make each one of these men a Christmas present. Accordingly he has written a letter to C. H. Savage, secretary of the Brotherhood of Electric Railway Employees, informing him that any "gold stripe man" who desires it may have a new uniform, free of cost, provided he applies for it within six months from Christmas.
