

THE COLUMBIA TO BE OVERHAULED

Will Be Out of Commission Until April 1; Dredging Helps Pilots.

For the first time since she went into service eight years ago the Port of Portland dredge Columbia will have a general overhauling and will be made ready to go into service again about April 1. It is estimated by Captain H. T. Groves, superintendent of dredgers for the port, that it will take all of that time to make repairs to the machinery and hull.

The Columbia has just completed operations at the mouth of the Willamette river, where she has been widening and deepening the channel, and she has been brought back to the drydock at St. Johns and tied up for repairs. At the present time one section of the main shaft in the boiler is to be replaced by a new section, and it will be replaced by her machinery she will have a large amount of repairs to her hull, for which purpose she will be raised on the slip at the Portland drydock in a few days.

The slip will be renewed and the hull will be caulked, while some repairs will be made to her deck.

New Rays of Light

One of the most wonderful electrical appliances is the X-ray which may be used both in the treatment of various diseases and in the diagnosis of many obscure conditions. With its aid the interior of the human body is no longer the sealed book it has been heretofore.

Another interesting proceeding is the violet-ray treatment produced by concentrating carbon upon any portion of the body that is the seat of pain.

Those who have been patients at Dr. Pierce's Invalidee Hotel, in Buffalo, N. Y., highly commend this wonderfully equipped Sanitarium, where the above mentioned electric machines, high-frequency current, and other most modern and up-to-date apparatus are used for the cure of chronic diseases.

Watching through their glasses from the patrol boat Eclair, at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Captain Speier, the harbor master, and sergeant Carlson of the harbor patrol, were firing on the Waterhouse liner Kumerie.

Portland Chamber of Commerce Will Aid in Obtaining Appropriation.

The Portland chamber of commerce has gone on record in favor of extensive harbor and channel improvements at Tillamook bay and will lend every effort to secure a substantial federal appropriation for such work.

Among other syndicates holding timber around the bay is the Whitney company, Ltd., which is planning to build large mills there with steamers in which to send the product to the markets of the world.

Whereas, the board of engineers, U. S. A., have this project in consideration as to the prosecution of this project, which will make available for commerce upwards of 10,000 tons of lumber, as well as a large volume of supplies, machinery and other equipment necessary to produce logs and lumber;

Resolved, That the Portland Chamber of Commerce hereby indorses the above mentioned project and respectfully urges the board of engineers, U. S. taking over the span until dolphin guards, provided for in the contract, have been placed around the bridge piers to prevent injuries to it by reason of the impact of floating logs or possible battering by boats deflected from their courses by accident. I am assured, however, that the contractor for the substitution of the span, Robert Wakefield, is preparing to put a new dolphin, and that the reason the dolphins have not been placed heretofore is that the river conditions have not been favorable.

COMMISSIONERS DO NOT REPRESENT PEOPLE

Investigating Body Charges Commissioners Do Not Represent People.

The committee of forty appointed to investigate the Port of Portland met last night in the offices of Judge M. G. Munly, together with representatives from labor unions of Portland. A memorial was adopted to be submitted to the legislature asking that the act creating the Port of Portland commission be revised so that the commissioners be elected to represent all sections of the area included by the Port of Portland, also that no member of the port be in the contracting business or in any other line where he could realize financial profit from his connection with the port.

Eleven complaints against the board are cited as results of the investigation and are given as reasons why not only the personnel of the commission should be changed, but that the people should be given the selection of the present commissioners successors.

In the memorial the port commission is severely charged with usurpation of powers in attempting to lease and convey the public dry dock to a private dry dock company in which the port commission's chairman, C. F. Swigert, is alleged to have interest; in attempting to obtain the construction of the Broadway bridge, and in attempting to give a franchise to the O. R. & N. company for the building of a bridge within the city limits.

That the personnel of the commission is not representative; that its membership is confined to a class of bankers, moneyed men and politicians; that under the present law governing the port commission, the office of commissioner is not elective, and that the commissioner is thus placed beyond popular control; that the present commission has not only disregarded and attempted to override the law as above stated, but has treated the citizens of this municipality who have had dealings with them in a contemptuous and overbearing manner.
