

SAYS MOVEMENT FROM FARM TO CITY GOOD SIGN

A. H. Rawl, of Agricultural Department, Believes It Shows Advancement of the Human Race; Valley Impresses Him

That the movement to the cities from the farms is not one to depreciate, but a condition that speaks well for the advancement of the human race, was the statement of A. H. Rawl, chief of the dairy division of the department of agriculture, who was the guest of honor at a dinner given him last night by the Commercial club.

"The complaint of people leaving the farm is all poppycock," said he. "The country goes to the city because of better surroundings. The only way to keep people on the farms is to give country life surroundings that make it equal to that of the city in point of attractiveness.

"It takes dollars to do this, and we must have some system that will make dollars for the farmer before you will accomplish much in keeping the people on the farm, for they will be drawn to the city by the more attractive surroundings.

Valley Soil Rich.

"Now dairying is not the whole thing in agriculture. I would have sheep and orchards and all the other things in the Willamette valley. And I would have more dairy cattle and better ones. The valley is one of the best dairy districts on earth. It needs more drainage, more cows and more dairy farmers, but you have got many good ones now. The soil of this valley will last forever by a well balanced system of agriculture.

"Dairying means a great deal here for it gives quick cash returns, provided you put the proper investment into it. There are 22,000,000 dairy cattle in the United States and they are producing about half what could be produced by the use of ordinary business methods. You need not think Oregon stands all alone because you have some poor cows here. They have the same conditions elsewhere. The best way to improve conditions is to give the farmer examples and object lessons of proper methods and betterments will soon be under way.

World Like $50,000.

"Our bureau is a small one, always lacking funds; but I wish we might have $50,000 to spend on this coast in dairy work. We haven't got it, but we hope to have it within the next two years. If we can come here and join with your local institutions in improving dairy conditions and helping your farmers, I for one will be very well satisfied."

Dr. J. R. Wetherbee of the Commercial club presided at last night's dinner, and in introducing the speaker told of the growth of Oregon's dairy industry in five years from $5,000,000 to $17,000,000. Oregon, and particularly western Oregon, is cow heaven, as well as the promised land for the diversified farmer.

E. B. Miller, head of the traffic department of the Harriman system in the northwest, spoke of the work of cooperation the railroad interests perform, and promised a continuance of this assistance.

More Farmers Needed.

E. L. Thompson, who is himself a practical dairyman, having a model dairy near the city, said the need was for more modern, up to date farmers who would embrace modern methods. He said the recent immigration from the east is proving more ready to take up the improved dairy methods than the old farmers of this state. He also urged government cooperation in the work.

E. L. Sabin told of the work being done in the middle west by such dairy experts as Hoard, Babcock and King. Dr. E. A. Pierce spoke of Willamette valley soil, and Dr. Calvin S. White gave a few remarks on tubercular conditions in dairy herds.

Those present were: A. H. Rawl, chief of dairy division, United States department of agriculture; S. W. McClure, chief northwest division, department of agriculture; Dr. E. H. Hutchinson, bureau of animal industry, United States department of agriculture; D. O. Lively, William McMurray, Phil S. Bates, C. D. Minton, H. C. Maria, T. S. Townsend, C. C. Chapman, W. H. Dunckley, H. Beckwith, W. L. Crissey, W. P. Halderston, R. B. Miller, A. C. Black, R. L. Sabin, F. W. Robinson, H. E. Lounsbury, F. H. Fogarty, W. E. Coman, Paul V. Maris, Dr. J. R. Wetherbee, A. H. Lee, E. L. Thompson, L. A. Coddington, C. H. Williams and J. J. Sayre.

Yesterday Mr. Rawl saw sections of the Willamette valley and he was immensely pleased with its possibilities.

"The Willamette valley is a wonderful country," said he, "and opens opportunities for thousands of people. Its

SEAL SALE IS NOT AS BIG AS HOPED

Workers in Tuberculosis Campaign Despair of Raising Fund of $10,000.

Portland, Dec. 19.—To the Editor of The Journal—The wording of the tax amendment published in The Journal of this evening on page 6, top of third column, is incorrect. The amendment passed by the people is to be found on page 72 of the state pamphlet. The one you publish as having passed is found on page 34, and was defeated.

The correction should be made, as the two amendments are quite different. The one passed was 236 on the ballot, while the one published by you as having passed was No. 312.

Incidentally it might be well to suggest that several unjustly taxed La Grande on this continent levy taxes on land values and exempt improvements without impairing their credit in the least, and that this looks like discrimination against Oregon.

A. D. CRIDGE.

According to the present outlook, the Visiting Nurse association, together with the women who are engaged in aiding the Portland campaign for the sale of Red Cross seals, will not succeed either in selling 1,000,000 seals or in raising the $10,000 which it is declared will be necessary in carrying on the work of the association during the coming year. This situation, it is said, is not due to lack of enterprise or organization on the part of the campaigners but rather to a failure on the part of Portland people to cooperate and aid. As the money which is raised is spent principally in Portland for the benefit of consumptives who have no money with which to obtain treatment, this lack of cooperation is deplored by the workers.

A donation was received yesterday of $50 from Mrs. F. Opitz, which constituted a material encouragement to the campaign. The help of Miss Alice Lloyd, the English comedienne, is also much appreciated. Miss Lloyd will sell seals at the Hotel Portland tomorrow from 12 until 1 o'clock, and at the Olds, Wortman & King store from 4:30 until 5:30 p. m. Miss Grace Cameron will sell today at Trail & Gibbs' store from 3:30 until 4:30 p. m., and during the same hour Friday at the Sweetland Candy store. The women who will occupy the Red Cross seal booths tomorrow are as follows:

Meier & Frank—Mrs. Marion Delph, Mrs. Donald Monroe, Mrs. H. Palline, Olds, Wortman & King—Miss Judith Scott, Miss Muriel Williams, Tull & Gibbs—Miss Janet Noble, Miss Rae Zimmerman, Mrs. J. W. Swope, Mrs. J. Winters.

The Owl—Miss Mildred Meyer and assistants.

Woodard, Clarke & Co.—Miss Ethel Chamberlain.

Lipman, Wolfe & Co.—Mrs. A. Foulhoux, Miss Isabella Gauld.
