Judge Lindsey Lectures Here Next Week

Judge Ben Lindsey, who will lecture in Portland soon.

One of the big post-holiday attractions will be the popular lecture to be given by Judge Ben Lindsey Monday, January 9, at the Armory.

Judge Lindsey needs no introduction to Portland, for, although this city has not heretofore had the opportunity to hear his lectures, his writings have been so widely published and read and his work among the boys has been so far-reaching in its effects that Denver can no longer claim him as distinctly its own.

PRIESTS TELL OF IMPRESSIONS HERE

In Letter to Bishop Scadding Say Problem Is Human, Not of Wealth.

At the close of the Advent Mission held in Portland, the following letter was sent to Bishop Scadding by the Mission Priests of the Holy Cross: "My dear bishop: Before we bid farewell to Oregon we want to tell you how grateful we are to have had the privilege of coming hither, even for a time.

Problem Human One. "One thing is certain. The problem is distinctly the human problem. Oregon exists not to erect beautiful buildings, or to develop native industries, or to raise wonderful fruits, or to promote gigantic business undertakings.

"We have faith to believe that our fellow countrymen, with whom we have sojourned these past weeks, will prove equal to the tremendous opportunity before them. But if they are to meet it, they must have faced the question, 'What is human life for?' and have found the true answer for it.

Question Is Asked. "Can they do this apart from Jesus Christ, apart from him who is still the leader of the forces of humanity, the true foundation and goal of human life? And, if they are to acknowledge Jesus Christ as the beginning and the end of human society, must it not be by taking their place in union with him in his church, which is his body, the bringing of all the forces and energies that man wields to be offered up to him to the glory of God, the father?"

Man as yet is being made, and 'till he reach the age of ages, must not seem upon upon mould him into shape? Till the work completed, all shall sing in chorus. Hallelujah to the maker, it is finished, man is made."

"May it be given you to gather many souls into conscious union with the

ABLE MAN COMES TO LUTHERAN SCHOOL

Prof. P. W. H. Frederick

Prof. P. W. H. Frederick is the new head of the Lutheran divinity school in Portland. He has just come here from San Bernardino and was formerly a professor in the Chicago divinity college of the Lutheran church for graduation from which the Portland school aims to fit its students. The school here was organized last October and is intended mainly for college graduates although other students are also taken.

Marion, Wash., Dec. 21, 1910. "I cannot close this letter without telling you how much comfort my new teeth have did for me. They were my mouth and show how nice they are to any poor fellow that needs just such a set. Not long since I showed them to a dentist who declared them fine, saying that you had done a good job."

F. S. We supplied this gentleman with a complete set of upper Alveolar Teeth over a year ago, and five months ago we supplied him with a complete lower. He had only a few teeth left on either jaw when he came to us.

National Bank, Portland, Or., Dec. 10. The Rex Dental Co., Gentlemen—As per your suggestion I called on four of the references you gave me and saw the work you did for each. They were well pleased. I wanted to be sure that the work was practical so I asked my family dentist to examine the Alveolar work and advised me to let you do my work. I also wrote several others of your patients. All were pleased with what you had done for them. I had no doubt of your honesty and sincerity, but I consider my teeth important and wanted to feel certain that the work would be what you claim for it. If you can give me an appointment Saturday afternoon I will be on hand for you to start on my case. Very truly yours, Salem, Or., Dec. 1, 1910.

"Gentlemen—I do not require references, I know all about your Alveolar work. Dr. Gordon Martin of Texas, the inventor of the system, is a friend of mine and I intended having him do my work but I could not wait. I am going to be in Oregon all winter, so have concluded to have you do the work. While out here I happened to meet Mr. Barbour of Eugene, Or., on the train. He showed me the complete set you put in for him. He says it is fine and dandy and it surely looked dandy to me. I have only four teeth left on upper jaw and six front teeth only on lower. Please advise me what day you can start my work and I will try and be there."

UNIVERSITY WILL CLOSE DOORS

Faculty of Eugene School Take Steps to Protect Students Against Typhoid.

Eugene, Or., Dec. 31.—The rumor in circulation here and thought to have spread over the state that the University of Oregon will close its doors for the balance of the present semester or until Eugene's water filters are completed, is unfounded. The faculty of the institution this afternoon issued a statement that classes would be resumed Tuesday and it is expected that most of the students will be back. The faculty has taken steps to protect the health of every student in Eugene by furnishing boiled water in large quantities to all sorority and fraternity houses, as well as to private boarding houses where students stay. In addition, an inspector will visit daily

YOUR DIAMONDS

You Will Find Us In The Yeon Bldg. After Feb. 15th. We take unbounded pleasure in announcing in advance our removal to this splendid building. We will occupy a large store on Fifth street, next to the entrance. The interior is being fitted up specially to better display the beautiful jewelry we make and sell. For some time we've needed not only display space, but working rooms, wherein our craftsmen could ring from gold and silver distinctive workmanship that has always characterized our special jewelry service. It is with gratitude at flood-tide that we thank the patronage that has made and is increasing the volume of our business, and that has created the need for our new palatial quarters. Yet we know customers must be constantly pleased to enable a business to continue—and to grow, not only pleased with the external beauty of jewelry and silverware, but the wear and price as well. Well, we're in the pleasing business to stay, and our new quarters will offer greater facilities to do so. Whenever you have to select something extra fine in our line, just say—meet me at Heitken's Present Address 286 Morrison Street
