Last Opportunity to Secure Books of the Jenson Society

No Owner of a Library Can Afford to Miss This Great Opportunity
Don't Misconstrue These Sets With So-Called Edition De Luxe Sets

THIS is the second and last shipment of our allotment of Library Books of the Jenson Society, whose publications have always been sold by subscription and found only in the finest private libraries throughout the United States. This is the first time, also the last time, that these books can be purchased at retail. In order that you may convince yourself that our books are superior in binding, printing and plates, we will give you the privilege of taking these books to your home and comparing them with sets offered in other sales throughout the city. These books are all printed on semi-featherweight paper with deckle edge, and come from the celebrated University Press of Cambridge, which guarantees the finest presswork. They are all illustrated with photogravures, and in every case the frontispiece is colored by hand. We lay particular stress upon the fact that all these books are limited editions and numbered, and that the limit is absolute. When these sets are sold you can never hope to duplicate them. The Jenson Society has sold all its publications and plates, and this last allotment closes out their remaining stock. Until now only the wealthiest could avail themselves of the opportunity of securing books of this character, owing to the prohibitive subscription prices. By joining our Booklovers' Club, the professional man, the business man, the student, the minister, the clerk and the wage-earner may secure these library sets on an easy-payment system. No better time to start your library than now. You have a year in which to make your payments. Avail yourself of this extraordinary opportunity. It brings to you the works of the world-famous authors at such a small price that the payment is hardly noticed.
