IN SOCIETY

A pretty holiday wedding, especially interesting to the friends of the young people, took place on Thursday evening of last week at the residence of Samuel May when Miss Henrietta Edna May was united in marriage to Adolph Cohen of Seattle. The ceremony was performed by Rabbi Joseph B. Wise, and was solemnized in the drawing room, which had been prettily decorated with palms, smilax, pink roses and pink carnations. Preceding the entrance of the bridal party the wedding march was rendered by Miss Sanders. The bride was handsomely gowned in white crepe meteor, trimmed with duchesse lace, and carried a shower bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley. She was attended by Miss Edith May and the groom's attendant was Mayo Cohen, a brother. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Cohen left for a brief honeymoon trip to Spokane, after which they will be at home in Seattle, Wash.

Mrs. John Catlin has been seriously ill at her Twenty-fourth street home for several days.

Captain and Mrs. W. B. Buffum of Prescott, Wash., have arrived to spend the remainder of the winter at the home of Mrs. Buffum's mother, Mrs. W. R. Harrison, on Portland Heights.

Mrs. Frederick K. Bowen and small son, Master Robert Bowen, have returned to their home in Seattle after spending several weeks with Mrs. Bowen's mother, Mrs. William St. Thomas.

The Association of Collegiate Alumnae held its January meeting with Mrs. Robert C. French, Miss Guppe, president of the Tacoma branch of the association, gave a brief summary of the work of that club. Mrs. Julia Marquam talked of her experiences in the European universities, particularly Oxford, the University of Berlin and the University of Paris. She spoke of the work of the American exchange professors, and gave interesting pictures of foreign student life.

Mrs. Thomas B. Howes left this week for a sojourn of several weeks in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bruce Moores, accompanied by their son, Merrill B. Moores, left Wednesday evening for a two months' trip through California and extending as far south as New Orleans. They expect to use their Stearns car in touring California and will be joined next week by Misses Bertha and Carrie Moores.

DECLINE WHOLE BURDEN OF PENINSULA DISPLAY

If the residents of the peninsula do not help the men who in the past have made that region prominent in the Rose Festival, the suburb will not be represented this year. J. H. Nolte and other business men of the peninsula have delivered their ultimatum. They say they have in the past shouldered the burden of that district's Rose Festival displays, and do not feel like doing so again. Mr. Nolte said yesterday that if residents of the peninsula district would aid that part of the city could outline others in the Carnival.

OLD FASHIONED MOTHERS

By Winifred Black.
MET any old-fashioned mother the other day.
She was at a party a-dining, she called it, though the rest of the people called it a luncheon.
She was little and plump and rosy, and her hair was white and she wore a little soft gray silk and an old-fashioned black jet necklace with a medallion portrait as a pendant.
She had a soft little voice and soft little hands that looked as if they could do anything on earth from embroidering the finest pattern on the finest muslin down to lighting the fire in the kitchen stove.
She was an intelligent woman, and she had read most of the books and seen several of the plays that were talked of at the luncheon.

But she went home early. She didn't play bridge, she said, and besides, she had promised her little granddaughter to finish the story of the princess with the golden locks that afternoon and to make some old-fashioned caraway cookies for her daughter to serve at tea. And every woman in the room wanted to help the old-fashioned mother on with her wraps, and hard eyes grew soft, set mouths relaxed and worldly smiles faded while the little, old-fashioned mother was in the room.

There were two or three other mothers in the room, who must have been just about her age, but, dear me, they didn't look it—or, at least, they hoped they didn't.
They wore smart French corsets and clever little boots and fine frocks and one of them had hair that was such a peculiar color, and one's complexion would never stand a rainstorm in the world, and one flushed quite angrily when some one asked her about her new grandchild.

Very fine, very "advanced," very enlightened—all these new-fashioned mothers, but, somehow, I wanted to creep up close to the little, old-fashioned mother and ask her to let me hold her little, soft, blue-veined hand a minute or two, and I wanted to get her off somewhere in a corner and ask her what to do for a stubborn cough, and how to make a sewing basket that was really practical.

I'll warrant she can sing that little, old-fashioned waltz, and, oh, the stories that she can tell—and how happy her face was, how serene her eyes—I wonder if we haven't made a mistake when we let her go out of the fashion.

Four Potato Recipes.
At this season of year it is not always an easy matter for the housekeeper to vary her menus. The following recipes will be found worth a trial:
Sweet Glazed Potatoes—Boil, peel and cut in two the sweet potatoes. Place in pan and pour over them a sirup made of half a cup of sugar, four tablespoonfuls of water and one of butter to each four potatoes. Brown in the oven, turning occasionally.

Vienna Potatoes—Mold mashed potatoes into the shape of Vienna rolls about four inches long, brush with beaten egg, crease in three diagonal lines diagonally across the potato with the back of case knife, place on inverted bread tins and bake in oven until brown.

Baked Flake Potatoes—Scrub and bake large sized, mealy potatoes. Remove end of each, scoop out inside, mash and cream until as light as snowflakes. Season with salt, pepper and butter and return to potato skins, kept hot in oven. When ready to serve garnish each with a bright red radish.

Duchess Potatoes—Mashed potatoes with yolk of egg, melted butter and milk (one half tablespoonful of butter and milk to each potato), and turn on pastry board. Press flat and smooth, cut into squares, place in greased pan, set in a cool place to stiffen, then bake in a quick oven to a delicate brown.

LOVELORN SWAIN TOLD TO FORSAKE CORVALLIS

The bachelor residing at 421 South G street, Corvallis, who last Christmas wrote Mayor Gaynor of New York a request to send him a wife, has received a letter threatening him with tar and feathers if he does not leave Corvallis within 30 days. He has sent the letter to the postoffice inspectors in Portland asking protection.

The inspectors, who are keeping secret the name of the Corvallis writer, say the letter is probably a joke and that it does not come under a United States statute, there being no federal law against sending threats through the mails.

The letter was written in ink on a sheet of yellow note paper, and was signed with a skull and cross bones and a miniature black hand.

500 PASSENGERS AT CALGARY SNOWED IN

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Calgary, Alberta, Jan. 13.—It is costing the Canadian Pacific railroad $1500 a day to feed the 500 passengers tied up here on the way to the coast, and no forecast is made as to when the road will be opened. Grooves cut through the snow banks in the mountains fill in very rapidly and shovellers have hard work owing to the severe weather.

The sun is shining brightly here, and though the thermometer keeps close to 30 degrees below zero, there is no inconvenience and absolutely no suffering.

CITY DADS TEAR DOWN BILLS WITH OWN HANDS

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Los Angeles, Jan. 13.—Inspector of Public Works Humphreys and Councilman Belkouski are engaged in a war of their own against bill posting. As the two officials were leaving the city hall, they saw bill posters plastering huge sheets on a high board fence erected in front of the proposed city hall annex. Without waiting to explain, Humphreys and Belkouski pulled off their coats and went to work. They stripped the fence clean of the posters and then ordered the street department to wash the fence.

The officials explain their action by saying that they had been told by the city attorney that they were justified in tearing signs from signboards erected on public property.

Eugene will soon install its own light plant.

AD CLUB INTRODUCES A ROLL CALL NOVELTY

More than 100 attended the annual banquet of the Portland Ad club which was held in the dining hall of the Portland Commercial club last night. Officers were elected. Governor Oswald West made a short talk. Among those present were Col. E. Hofer of Salem, John E. Gratke of Astoria, and John Day of the Tribune, Minneapolis, Minn.

Novelty predominated. Roll call was one of the features. The hall was darkened. When, as his name was called, each member arose, a searchlight was turned upon him. During the evening newsboys distributed copies of "The Kronicle," the club's paper. The Ad club choir sang a number of songs, one each in honor of C. B. Merrick, retiring president, and David N. Moessohn, newly elected executive.

ENGINEERS' NOTION OF ARMAMENT FOR CANAL

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Washington, Jan. 13.—The armament proposed in the engineers' report on the Panama canal, which President Taft sent to congress yesterday with his special message, in which he urged an appropriation for fortifications, consists of eight 14 inch guns, twelve 6 inch guns and twenty-four 12 inch mortars. The original proposition called for two 14 inch guns and four additional 12 inch mortars.

A permanent garrison, in time of peace, of 12 companies of coast artillery, four regiments of infantry, one battalion of field artillery and one squadron of cavalry, is proposed.

been made for the suitable observance of the centenary of the Rev. Emanuel Greenwald, one of the pioneer clergymen of the denomination, who was born near Frederick, Md., 100 years ago today. For many years Rev. Mr. Greenwald was president of the Ministerium of Pennsylvania, the oldest Lutheran synod in America. He also was the founder and editor of the Lutheran Standard and the author of many books on the history of the church. His death occurred in Lancaster, Pa., December 21, 1885.

CANADIAN RAISES ITS PROMOTION DONATION

The Canadian Bank of Commerce, through Manager F. C. Malpas, showed its great approval of the work of the promotion committee of the Portland Commercial club in a substantial manner this week by increasing its annual subscription to the fund $100. In view of the fact that the bank has contributed $200 annually as its share toward advertising Oregon outside of the state, this year the subscription is $300.

Klamath I. O. O. F. lodge now has 187 members.

DETAIL OF ARMY MEN TO STUDY AVIATION

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Washington, Jan. 13.—Lieutenant General Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the United States army, today instructed General Tasker H. Bliss, commanding the Pacific coast division, to choose a number of officers in his command to study aviation and learn to manipulate aeroplanes. The officers selected will report to the "school of aviation" at Los Angeles. Naval officers have reported there already for the same purpose.

THIRD AND ALDER

Resolved, to have a nicely furnished home.

January 1st

Dear Amy:

All of last year I went through without furnishing my home, but I am going to say this I owe a duty to my children to give them a nicely furnished home, and I do feel ashamed when friends come in.

I've just been looking at some new furniture and rugs. They looked so attractive to me that I bought lots of new things and ordered them sent right out.

Give my love to Bob and kiss the kiddies for me. Always your friend, Lou.

P. S. I almost forgot to tell you I bought my new furniture and rugs from Morgan-Akeley.
