

STANDLER CUTS A WIDE SWATH WITH CLEVER FORGERIES

Charles H. Everett Who Posed in Portland as Capitalist Arrested in Arkansas—Loot Believed to Be $250,000.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Hot Springs, Ark., Jan. 16.—Charles H. Everett, who is wanted on various charges of forgery preferred by New York banks, was arrested here today accused of passing a forged draft for $1840 on the People's Saving bank of Seattle. Everett and three others were arrested at the hotel and showed the attaches a large sum of money. A teller said he saw piles of bank notes on a table in the room, which was apportioned into four piles as though it were to be divided.

When Everett was arrested a search showed memoranda which indicated that his scheme in Seattle was dilated upon by the detectives who made the arrest. Everett, they said, engaged a Seattle attorney to collect an overdue note for $2500, purporting to have been signed by Ketchikan, Alaska, man with instructions to demand immediate payment. When the lawyer's gun started to Ketchikan, it is said, Everett went along on the same boat, intercepted the letter at its destination and mailed to his Seattle lawyer a spurious draft for the amount of the note with interest. Again taking the boat, the detectives say, Everett returned to Seattle with the same mail consignment which carried the spurious draft and appeared at the lawyer's office a few hours after its receipt. Elated by the prompt action, he had been able to get for his client, the attorney introduced Everett at his own bank, the spurious draft was promptly paid, the lawyer pocketed his fee and it was not until days afterward that the bank and the attorney learned how cleverly they had been deceived.

In addition to Everett, detectives here have secured other persons under surveillance who are said to have been implicated in the looting of coast banks. Their names are given as J. O. Ross and Ross Correll.

According to the detectives who have been active in the Everett case, among the banks which have been looted are the Bank of Alaska, the Merchants National bank of Portland, Or.; the Anglo-London of San Francisco; the Metropolitan Trust & Savings bank of San Francisco; the People's Savings bank, Seattle; Baker's National bank, Portland; the Bank of El Paso, Walla Walla; Third National bank, Walla Walla; Bank of California, Tacoma, and the Bank of Sparks, Sparks, Nev.

Everett, who is also known as Roy S. Thorpe and George R. Stimpson, is said to have traveled under half a score of other aliases in the various towns he "worked."

Posting here as the man who was to furnish the money to construct the 15-story Yon building, Charles H. Everett arrested as a bank swindler in Hot Springs last week, is believed to have hoodwinked many Portland people out of large sums of money. He is known to have swindled the Merchant's National bank out of $2300 during his residence here last spring.

In Portland Everett is said to have used the name of Roy S. Stimpson. He had office rooms with an attorney in the Commercial building and lived in the Willamette rooming house over the Fargo saloon, whose manager, James E. Whelan, was recently arrested by United States detectives, charged with being connected with the Humboldt gate robbery case.

Stimpson, as he was known here, is said to have swindled banks in Seattle, Portland, Walla Walla, San Francisco, Oakland and Reno out of thousands of dollars. He will be taken to Seattle to stand trial on a charge of defrauding the People's National bank of Seattle. When he gets through there he will be brought here and tried on the Merchant's National charge. The Pinkerton bank and bankers' protection, whose agents arrested Everett, say he will be tried in each place he is known to have victimized their patrons.

Whenever he worked Everett is said to have used confederates, and with their aid established bona fide accounts in three or four banks in a community, as soon as his credit was established playing one bank against another so as to victimize both out of large sums of money. J. O. Ross, said to be an accomplice of Everett, was with him at the time the Merchant's National was swindled here. Ross is said to have gone to Pocatello, Idaho, where he posed as a stock breeder and sent Everett a promissory note for $2300. Everett turned it over to the attorney in his office for collection and Ross sent a certified check for $250 with which to pay the interest on the note, explaining he had just sold a shipment of cattle for $45,000 in Omaha and would soon have the cash for the note. The attorney introduced Everett at the bank credit was established. Ross soon sent a certified check for $2300, the check was honored and Everett left in a hurry with the money.

A month ago when Henry von Groeneveld, superintendent of the Pinkerton office here, was in Walla Walla, he compared signatures on checks by which three banks there were swindled and found that Everett had been at work there also. Shortly after the swindling of the Walla Walla banks Everett went to La Grande, when he was followed by a party of three men. They sat in a room in the lobby of a La Grande hotel while Everett was in a chair a few feet away. The detective read a description of Everett and announced he was looking for him. Everett left the

COUNTRY ROADS TO BE PATROLLED

Ruts, Chuck Holes, Washouts to Be Eliminated From Walla Walla Roads.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Walla Walla, Wash., Jan. 16.—That the county roads of Walla Walla county will be constantly patrolled by men paid for this work, and every rut, chuck hole, rut, ridge and washout repaired as soon as it shows up, seems a certainty. The county commissioners, the road supervisors, the farmers, the county engineer, the Commercial club and the local expert road builders have expressed themselves in favor of such a system.

By this system someone living on the road would be furnished with tools he could carry in his wagon, and would be paid for himself and team, and would be expected to make small repairs as soon as they occurred, and to notify the supervisor of his district when any damage beyond his reach occurred.

Where this has been tried it has been found to work admirably; and not only in this county and state, and United States, but in foreign countries it has proven of great success. It is the "at-itch in time saves nine" principle, and proves that adage wonderfully well.

FORMS OF CHURCH TRIAL BUNGLESOME

Bishop C. W. Smith Recommends Change in Address Before M. E. Clergy.

The one interesting feature of today's meeting of the Portland Methodist Ministers' association was an extended address by Bishop C. W. Smith, in which he gave an account of his recent trip to the east, where he attended half a dozen or more meetings of the more important Methodist boards and committees.

Bishop Smith is one of a committee composed of Dr. W. W. Evans, Dr. Cook, book editor of the Methodist general conference; Justice Anderson, of the supreme court of the District of Columbia; Justice Raymond, of the Massachusetts supreme court; R. T. Miller of Cincinnati, and Bishop Smith, which was created by the last general conference for the purpose of reorganizing the judicial and administrative departments of the church. Bishop Smith told of the meeting of this committee at Washington City and briefly outlined its work. He characterized the present trial procedure in the church as bunglesome and dated the present procedure as a relic of the reorganization committee adopted and its suggestions accepted that portion of the constitution of the church would be greatly simplified.

While in Washington Bishop Smith delivered an address on the life and work of the late Rev. Dr. Phillips at a memorial meeting held in the Foundry church of which Senator Dolliver was a prominent member. He also attended a meeting of the Methodist bishops, held in Washington for the purpose of reviewing the administration of the church throughout the country.

After finishing his work in Washington Bishop Smith attended a meeting in Baltimore of the general committee on foreign missions. The bishop expressed keen disappointment at the result of the year's work of the church in collecting money for foreign missions. "I expected that the report of the treasurer of the general committee on foreign missions would show a surplus for the year of at least $200,000," said he, "while the report shows that sufficient money was raised to carry on the work laid out at the meeting of the committee held one year ago."

One of the most interesting features of Bishop Smith's report was an account of a visit of all the bishops gathered at Washington to the home at Orange N. J., of the venerable Methodist prelate, Bishop Bowman, who is in his 94th year. Bishop Bowman is known to the older Methodists in this city, as he presided at two conferences held in the Troy Street church nearly 30 years ago.

Upon leaving Washington City Bishop Smith went to Atlanta, Ga., and Lafayette, Ala., where he presided over the colored Methodist conferences.

POSTPONE THE TRIAL OF HOME DEFENDER

M. Demoplos, who on last Friday night shot and dangerously wounded Thomas Stack at the Empress hotel on Sixth and Stark streets, as Stack was leaving the room of Demoplos' wife, was arraigned before Judge Tazewell this morning on the charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

His case was continued until tomorrow in order to determine the condition of his victim, who is at St. Vincent's hospital. It is reported from there that he will fully recover from his wounds.

BIBLICAL ADVICE IS BADLY MISINTERPRETED

George Gebish, Mike Balooof and Nick Joffoy attempted to go the biblical advice: "Take up thy bed and walk" one better. They walked off with the property of a rooming house at Third and Burnside streets. Mrs. A. Gunn, the landlady, objected, and secured their arrest.

As a result the trio will be arraigned before Judge Tazewell tomorrow morning on a charge of larceny. They are accused of taking two quilts and several pillow slips.

MIZPAH'S PASTOR DEEPLY IN THE BRAIN ONLY TEMPORARY

Content of the Soul Not Stored Therein, He Says, Search for It Being Purely Philosophical.

Dr. Harry Leeds, pastor of Mizpah Presbyterian church, read a most interesting paper at the regular weekly meeting of the Presbyterian pastors, held this morning at the First Presbyterian church, Twelfth and Alder streets, his subject being "The Quest of the Soul." Prior to the regular order of business, L. N. McClure, field representative of the ministerial sustentation fund, addressed the meeting, setting forth the object of the fund.

Mr. Leeds stated that the general assembly had sanctioned the methods of raising the moneys for the fund. He asked the cooperation of the Presbyterian ministers and the matter will come up before a meeting for action. There was a representative gathering of ministers and no objections were raised to the subject of the fund. It is to be made from the various Presbyterian pulpits on different Sundays. The plan is to raise money by subscription from laymen to make up 80 per cent of the disability fund, the remaining 20 per cent to be contributed by the pastors themselves. The object of the fund is to provide annuities for disabled ministers, beginning at the age of 70 years for ministers who have served the church for 30 years. The annuity amounts to $500.

Dr. Leeds said in part: "Our method of search is not historical, it is scientific in the strict sense, but rather a search along the several trails which offer any possibility of reward in the end.

"The preexistence of the soul is a familiar sentence to students of theology. According to this, all human souls were created at the beginning and before the creation of man. Preexistence takes the quest altogether out of the sphere of biology. Generation of the body only is recognized.

"Following the call of physiology as far as physiology can take us, we find other ground upon which to rest the basis of the body's energy than simply the peculiar chemical combinations of physical elements.

"In endeavoring to determine the nature of the soul we find it a purely philosophical search and the field is in the stream of consciousness arising out of the contact of bodily sense organs in continuity with the eternal world of sense objects.

"The soul as a real being has been held to be a stable point in which faculties inhere and by which they are associated or united. That stable point is the body's energy.

"I do not believe that the content of the soul or mind is deposited or stored in the matter of the brain. From what I have been able to gather the brain state is a temporary thing only, the mind or soul or person holds before it the content of bodily sense organs from the environment, and judgment upon it and subsumes it under general consciousness, making it a part of its own mental life."

SELLWOOD REALTY DEALER FALLS DEAD

Elise Vandermeer, aged 48 years, a prominent real estate dealer of Sellwood, dropped dead into the arms of Paul Lancy, this morning at the corner of Thirteenth street and Spokane avenue, just after leaving a drugstore, where he had gone to purchase a cold cure. Vandermeer was on his way to Vandermeer Park, an addition to Sellwood which he owns, with Lancy, a prospective purchaser, when he stumbled forward in the man's arms. He was removed to a nearby store and Dr. Grim was called, but Vandermeer was dead before he arrived. The coroner took the body in charge.

A widow, from whom Vandermeer had separated, and four children survive. The family home is at 1604 East Elveth street. Vandermeer was reputed to be wealthy. He was of German descent and had made his home in Sellwood for some time.

WORKS SAYS T. R. NOT A REAL INSURGENT

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Los Angeles, Jan. 16.—Colonel Roosevelt says he does not believe that a true insurgent, according to John D. Works, California's United States senator-elect, Senator La Follette today is the insurgent's leader, and not Roosevelt, Works declared.

Asked to state who, in his opinion, was the most prominent figure in the progressive movement, Works named La Follette.

"How about Roosevelt?" "Roosevelt has aided the reactionaries at times," Works said, "and has not shown himself to be a real insurgent."

GOVERNMENT WINS IN DESERT LAND LAWSUIT

A decree for the government was given by Judge Wolverton today in the suit of the United States against Rosa C. Soiz, now Kern, Max Kern and Laura A. Dickinson, to cancel title land in Harney county filed upon a desert land by the defendants. It was held the Malheur lake overflows annually upon the land and that it cannot come under the designation desert land in consequence.

Virginia Arrested.
(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Chelalis, Wash., Jan. 16.—Sheriff T. J. Fleming of Dickerson county, Va., has arrested William McClanahan and will take him home to answer the charge of murder. McClanahan was released last Monday by Judge Rice on a writ of habeas corpus, owing to the slowness of the Virginia official's coming.

BOYD ALSO GIVEN ONE YEAR AND FINE

Harlow White Slave Incident Ends With Two Men in Jail.

A sentence of one year in the county jail and a fine of $200 was given William Boyd, convicted on a white slave charge, this morning by Judge Gatens in the circuit court. Boyd was jointly charged with Luther Adcox with introducing Isabelle Harlow, a young girl, to enter a resort at The Dalles. Adcox pleaded guilty and was sentenced to one year in jail and a fine of $250.

In passing sentence this morning Judge Gatens said he had only one regret—that the penalty was not heavy enough.

"Of all the crimes, this one of which you have been convicted is among the worst," said the judge to the prisoner. "It is in the same class as that of highway robbery, where a man has no chance against a robber. A white slave holds against a woman. The feeling society has against such practices is well reflected in the dispatch with which the jury found you guilty."

Boyd is 26 years old, and is on parole from the state prison, where he was sent for 10 years for burglary. He was paroled after serving two years, but when he drifted to Portland, became acquainted with Luther Adcox, whom the district attorney proved had been in the white slave traffic for four years. Adcox arranged for the Harlow girl to go to the resort at The Dalles, and Boyd took her to the Union station, purchased her ticket and saw that she took the train. Evidence also showed he had been with Adcox and the girl several evenings.

Judge Gatens also fined J. W. Olds, a real estate dealer, $50 for assaulting Estelina Hughes, wife of a photographer. She filed a statutory charge against him, but the jury found a verdict of simple assault. The fine was paid.

CREMATORY FUMES OFFEND RESIDENTS

City Health Officer Says Specifications Call for an Odorless Stack.

Residents in the vicinity of Twenty-fourth and Overton streets have made complaint to the city health officer that the fumes from the new crematory plant have at times been extremely offensive. One of these residents, a woman, told a Journal reporter over the telephone today that the smoke from the huge stack of the new incinerator permeated the rooms of her house with a nauseating odor.

The specifications under which the Public Works Construction company built the plant stipulate that it shall be odorless. The burner is supposed to be so constructed that it will not give off disagreeable smells.

"If these complaints are borne out," declared city health officer C. L. Wessler this morning, "I will notify the company to correct the defect. The specifications call for an odorless incinerator and they must be complied with."

SENATOR ALDRICH GOES SOUTH FOR HIS HEALTH

(Washington Bureau of The Journal.)
Washington, Jan. 16.—Senator Aldrich, broken in health, will leave tomorrow for the south, permanently eliminating himself from further part in legislation. His leadership on behalf of "the interests" on the floor of the senate will be taken over by Hale of Maine, for the Republicans, and Bailey of Texas for the Democrats. Bailey has performed his first act under such responsibility by introducing a tariff commission legislation, so that it seems that the seeming certainty that the tariff would be moved from partisan politics is destined to end in disappointment.

REGENT SCIENTIST IS HIGHLY HONORED

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
University of Oregon, Eugene, Or., Jan. 16.—The name of Dr. W. H. Boynton of the University of Oregon has appeared in the catalogue of the leading men of science in the United States. This catalogue, which has been prepared under the direction of L. J. McKeen Cattell, head of the department of physics at Columbia university and editor of the Popular Science Monthly, contains the names of scientists of the United States about 150 of whom are physicists. The catalogue was completed after an exhaustive study of statistics of the standing of American scientific men and the final choice was made by a picked committee of ten leading scientists of the country. This is the second edition of the catalogue. Dr. Boynton's name did not appear in the first edition, and he attributes his success this time to the publication of several papers, particularly his monograph on the Kinetic theory. Dr. Boynton has the honor of being the only man in Oregon to be thus honored and one of the very few from the coast. The requirements are that of a high scientific standing, not the mere possession of the doctor's degree.

AGED MAN FINDS HE IS NOT LEGALLY WEDDED

Frederick Krebs, 50 Years Old, Discovers That His Wife Had Not Secured Divorce From Second Husband.

Everything went well in the marital life of Frederick Krebs, a foreman for the Elwood Wiles Contracting company, until the husband discovered his wife had not been divorced from her second husband. An investigation into the matter further caused Krebs to believe he was not legally married to the woman. He told his friend and they decided to ask County Clerk Fields about it.

In pursuance of this agreement, the two men applied this morning at the clerk's office and told the story. Krebs said he married the woman last July after a courtship of one week. Her name was Mary Bassett, he said, and she was introduced to him by her brother, Krebs said the brother represented that the woman was a good cook, good house manager and would make him an ideal wife.

Dream Shattered.
Being somewhat lonely, Krebs thought a wife would be the proper thing for his declining years, as he is now past 50 years. They were married and the husband's happiness has been replete until last week, when the wife confided to him that she had never secured a divorce from her second husband. She told Krebs the story and asked him to go into another county and get the divorce, pay for it and they would forget the little misunderstanding. The husband did not like this, and said he did not do it. He further said he did not know the way she had deceived him. The name of her first husband was Frank Hoffman.

Krebs was informed that the best way to clear the records is to start an action in the circuit court to have the marriage set aside. This he said he would do.

WOMAN ALLEGES FRAUD

Addie R. Sovrens, formerly of Prineville, began an action this morning in the circuit court to secure a divorce from W. J. Sovrens, whom she charged fraudulently obtained a divorce from her in Josephine county. In the complaint filed, Mrs. Sovrens alleges Sovrens filed suit in Josephine county in 1904. They lived together until the day the suit was to have been heard in court, when he told her the suit would be dismissed.

Thinking he would keep his word, she did not appear in court. He returned to her in the evening and told her the suit was dismissed and since it had been started, they had better live apart for six months. At the end of this time, he represented that they would again live as before divorce proceedings were started.

Mrs. Sovrens did not discover he had secured a divorce until 1908, when the husband refused to provide for her. She also discovered he secured the decree on the grounds of cruelty and charged she whipped him.

EDITOR MYRICK TO PAY OREGON VISIT

Herbert Myrick, president of the Orange Judd publications with headquarters at Springfield, Mass., will make a tour of western Oregon and southwestern Washington some time in February under the auspices of the Oregon Development league to talk on subjects pertaining to the farm and farm life.

Mr. Myrick is editor in chief of six of the largest farm journals and three teachers' publications in the United States, and is planning to come to the coast to look into conditions in the interest of his many publications. The arrangement to have him address the public in the various Willamette valley cities, including Portland, has just been closed by Manager C. C. Chapman of the Portland Commercial club, who telegraphed an invitation a few days ago. Mr. Myrick's acceptance was received by wire this morning.

KETCHEL'S SLAYERS TO BE TRIED TOMORROW

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Springfield, Mo., Jan. 16.—The trial of Walter Dibley and Goldie Smith, charged with having murdered Stanley Ketchel, the late middleweight champion pugilist, was not started here today as scheduled. At the last moment Judge Stagner, before whom the case will be heard, announced a postponement to tomorrow.

Ketchel, the defense will attempt to prove, was shot by Dibley when he attempted to force his attentions on the Smith woman, who was Dibley's common law wife.

The state will attempt to show that Dibley and the woman conspired to rob Ketchel, and that it was in the prosecution of this design that the killing occurred.

Pe Ell Man Stabbed; May Die

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

PURCELL CLAIMS BALLINGER UNFIT

Offers in Senate a Resolution That Will Open Debate on Merits of Case.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Washington, Jan. 16.—A resolution declaring Secretary of the Interior Ballinger an unfaithful public servant and asserting he should not longer be retained in office, was introduced today by Senator Purcell of North Dakota. Purcell is a member of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee.

Purcell's resolution refers to the report of the Ballinger investigation committee. It follows:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the senate that the findings and conclusions reported by certain members of the said committee, that Ballinger was untrue to the trust reposed in him; that his administration of the office of secretary of the interior was marked by a lack of fidelity to the public interest; that he is undeserving of public confidence, and that he should no longer be retained in office, are based upon and substantially conform to the evidence reported by the committee."

After being read at the request of Senator Purcell, the resolution was laid on the table. By this means Purcell will speak to the resolution when it is brought up for consideration, and thus the Ballinger matter will be brought up for public debate in the senate.

PLEDGE SUPPORT TO SAN FRANCISCO

Legislature to Hurry Measure Through; Bill Provides for Oregon Exhibit.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Salem, Or., Jan. 16.—A bill pledging the support of the Oregon legislature to San Francisco in the fight to capture the Panama fair of 1915 will be rushed through the house this afternoon. Speaker Rusk has planned to give precedence to the joint memorial passed by the senate last week, asking congress to regard San Francisco as the logical place for holding the fair.

Ralph Hoyt of Portland, vice president for Oregon of the fair association, came to Salem today to endeavor to expedite matters as congress will pass on the subject tomorrow and it is desired to show Oregon's position.

A bill will be introduced this afternoon in the house by McKinney of Baker, asking for the appropriation of $200,000 for so much thereof as may be necessary, to meet the expenses of erecting a building and collecting and maintaining an exhibit of products and industries of Oregon. The bill provides for a commission to be known as the Panama-Pacific International Exposition commission for the State of Oregon. The members shall consist of five persons to be appointed by the governor, who will have power to hire clerks necessary to gather products and data.

Mr. Hoyt saw Governor West this morning and a special message will be sent to the house this afternoon asking that the legislature at once approve San Francisco for the fair.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Walla Walla, Wash., Jan. 16.—Its operations to cover the entire valley from Freewater and Milton through Walla Walla to Prescott and Wainburg, and possibly to Dayton, a fruitgrowers' union is being planned. The proposed union, secretary of the state library commission, was this morning named a member of the board of state normal school regents by Governor Oswald West to succeed W. B. Ayer of Portland, who has resigned.

COMMITTEE TO PASS ON LEGALITY OF AMENDMENTS

Bill Provides for Competent Men to Judge All Proposed Amendments to Constitution Under Initiative.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Salem, Or., Jan. 16.—Amendments to the constitution proposed by the initiative will hereafter carry an explanatory note as to the purpose and legality from a committee composed of the governor, attorney general and three circuit court judges to be designated by the governor and attorney general, if a bill be presented today by Representative M. F. Eggleston of Jackson is passed. He is a statement No. 1 and anti-assembly man.

"Said committee," reads a section of the bill, "shall be called to meet at the capitol at Salem, Or., by the governor not later than 10 days prior to the time prescribed for printing in pamphlet form of the true copy of the title and text of each measure so proposed by initiative petition and shall then and there consider every such initiative measure so referred to them, and shall after due deliberation thereon, prepare a written statement of their opinion as to the legal, constitutional meaning and effect of every such initiative measure, if enacted into law, as briefly as possible, and such statement shall be signed by the members of committee and shall be filed with each measure to which it pertains and it is hereby made the duty of the secretary of state to cause the same to be published at the expense of the state in its appropriate place in the pamphlet printed for distribution to the voters. If the committee disagree a minority opinion may be signed and filed and shall be printed over the names of the disagreeing committee-men, the same as the majority opinion."

LIVERY STABLE BURNS; FOUR HORSES KILLED

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Bend, Or., Jan. 16.—Four horses perished in a fire this morning that completely destroyed the Pilot Butte livery stable. The fire started at 4:30 this morning. Its origin is unknown, but it might have started from the electric wires as the fire was noticed shortly after the electricity was turned on. Fred Van Metre who has the barn leased from Jack Parmeter, suffers a loss of about $2000. He carried insurance to the amount of $1000.

DEAD BALLOONISTS FOUND IN A LAKE

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Berlin, Jan. 16.—The German balloon Hildebrand was found in a lake in the Prussian province of Pomerania today. The bodies of the pilot and aide, who sailed in the balloon, December 29, were found in the lake. The ascent was made from Schermgendorf.

WHAT RUINS BOYS.

Judge Gatens Tells of Main Causes of Delinquency.
W. N. Gatens, judge of the juvenile court, in an address delivered before the congregation of the First Congregational church last night, stated that the causes of juvenile delinquency could be attributed to six things, namely: poverty, neglect of parents, divorce, lack of moral training in home and school and the existing marriage laws. He emphatically stated that the reform school does not reform the boy any more than does the penitentiary the man.

Judge Gatens in speaking of the relationship of parent and child said: "I think parents should impress upon the child its good qualities, appealing to its pride and no continually telling it its bad habits. Boys should be encouraged, not discouraged. Fathers should make companions of them as much as possible and try to get them to bring their troubles home without fear, for remember, 'that tyranny is the father of treason.'"

"I think that moving picture theaters, though interesting and instructive, too often show pictures of the pranks of bad boys, of burglary and highway robbery; scenes which are highly demoralizing.

"The boy who visits the moving picture show and sees these things soon looks lightly upon the seriousness of such crimes with the result that he is apt to imitate the pranks displayed and soon finds himself in serious trouble. These scenes in the moving picture shows should not be permitted."

Dr. Luther R. Dyott, pastor of the church, spoke along the lines of the Big Brother movement. He said that the Big Brother idea was purely non-sectarian. He stated that there was enough good in the worst boy to make a good man. He appealed for 400 men to join in the Big Brother movement, to the end that the boy might be uplifted and placed in the way to grow to an honorable manhood.
