DOZEN ON STREET

Sales Are Made as Low as 34c for Local Ranch and Some Believe That Additional Decline Will Be Forced.

Egg prices are a cent lower along Front street today with the market weaker.

While the receipts are not very heavy, receivers seem to be scared and sales of strictly fresh ranch stock have been made as low as $4c a dozen during the past 24 hours. The general price, however, ranges from $46 to 10 5c.

Heavy supplies of California storage eggs are being dumped on the local trade at this time, and this is having some effect upon values. California storage stock is quoted from 26c to 30c a dozen, according to size and quality. California fresh eggs cannot be landed here at much less than the local stock is a stock of the local stock.

Considerably in order to force a movement.

Hogs are too high and lard too low for butchers to seek the larger sizes and this is why meat cutters call for block stock first and are willing to pay a small premium for them over the heavier stuff.

Along with the increase in offerings of dressed hogs, there is a noticeable improvement in the available supply of veal has been pushed so high upward recently that it would not take a very liberal showing to overfill the trade.

Dressed mutton is extremely hard to sell along Front street on account of the low prices at which regular kiliers are offering city dressed stuff.

a dosen, according to size and quality. California fresh eggs cannot be landed here at much less than the local stock is selling at, therefore buyers are not inclined to speculate with the outside stuff. The quality of some of the recent arrivals of local eggs is not of the best, indicating that much of the stuff has been held, over the cold weather in an effort to secure higher figures. This results only in loss to the shipper, for all stock is now carefully candled.

Market for cabbage is firmer, owing to the higher cost in the south and some interests are asking as high as $1.75 and $2 for northern California offerings. This means that select Oregon stock is really worth $2.50 to $2.75 in comparison although these prices have not yet been obtained.

POTATO MARKET IS QUIET

Local Trade Is Not Asking Quite So High Values as Formerly.

Trade in the local potato market is quiet and dealers generally are not asking the high values formerly in effect. This is due to the greater offerings of ordinary quality.

Onion market is firm, but quiet locally. Outside demand is increasing.

MORE JACK RABBITS ARRIVE

Cold Weather at Hermiston Gives Success to Hunters There. Another big shipment of fack rabbits arrived from Hermiston this morning and found a good demand around $3 a dozen. The cold weather is said to be the best time for rabbit hunts.

Too Much Stuff of This Character Coming Forward to Front Street.

Very heavy arrivals of dressed hogs along Front street during the past 24 hours have caused a general shading of values. Receipts recently have shown a decided increase while demand has been somewhat curtailed owing to the high values asked. Twelve cents has been the average price asked for first class dressed hogs of small size, but this morning 114c was the extreme top.

To make matters exceedingly interesting for receivers, most of the late carrivals of dressed hogs were of very large size. For these there has been only a nominal demand recently and therefore quotations need be shaded considerably in order to force a move-

COMPLAIN ABOUT EXPRESS

Front Street Merchants Are Not Treated Alike Is Allegation.

Considerable complaint is being made by Front street interests against the practice of the express companies in favoring one commission house against another, giving one early delivery willeothers are compelled to wait. Some houses along the street always get their shipments early, while others get them late every day. There is some talk of taking the matter before the state railroad commission. A shipper of hogs from Corvallis made complaint this morning that his stock, which was shipped in a clean condition, arrived here extremely flithy.

This price was paid for one lot by Klaber, Wolf & Netter today. The lot was owned by F. A. Stearns of Oakland, Or., and consisted of 80 bales.

Considerable business between dealers is reported, which would indicate that there are plenty of orders svallable up to 18%c or, even a fraction better.

C. A. Fitchard is operating extensively in olds at this time and a number of late purchases in the valley have been attributed to him. OUARTER PER CASE Reduction to $3.85; Output Is Increasing.

Borden Condensed Milk company today announced a decline of 25c a case in the price of "Pioneer" milk. This puts the value to $2.85 or lower than any standard brand at this time.

The drop yesterday of 15c, a case in the price of "Holly" milk started the market on the down course. Canned milk quotations have been abnormally high this season and at times there was fear that the retail quotations would either have to be boosted or else the size of the can condensed.

The open winter to date has given the condenseries more milk than usual for this period and therefore with record prices, consumption has been curtailed. When the surplus began to make its appearance there was a natural inclination to unload and this is what caused the drop yesterday as well as the one this morning.

No change has been announced in the price of "Carnation" by the Pacific Coast Condensed Milk company, but the action of the two other standard brands is expected to force the issue.

On account of the rapidly rising river there has been a complete cessation of buying in the hay market and dealers are freely offering supplies today at less money than they were themselves offering a few days ago. This applies to timothy as well as other hays.

Wheat market is steady with very little business reported. Interior weather conditions are such as to make trading almost impossible, but a few lots are reported sold here and there around the former quotations.

Interior advices to The Journal indicate that within a few weeks there will be no barley remaining there if the present movement to the east continues. Present ideas are that the east will take every bushel of brewing available.
