

DAN J. MALARKEY, HIS BILL AND HIS MOVIES ARE HIT

North East Side Association Is Told S. B. 73 Was Framed by Him to Aid Corporations, Especially P. R., L. & P.

That Senator Dan J. Malarkey copied the Rialland public service commission act and removed all provisions unfavorable to corporations, including the Portland Railway, Light & Power company, was a charge made by Ben Rialland and J. Wood Smith before the North-East Side Improvement association last night at a well attended meeting.

The association approved the adoption of the Rialland act under the initiative, in preference to adoption of the Malarkey bill by the legislature. A resolution to this effect was unanimously adopted and signed by A. R. Zeller, acting president, and L. E. Saville, secretary, will be forwarded to the legislature.

"Warning to Citizens of Portland" was the caption of a red-printed poster submitted last night to the North-East Side association.

"Do you want to kill the railway commission?" is the first question. "Are you desirous of loading up the railway commission of the state of Oregon with enough additional duties to entirely take up their time and make it impossible for them to give you the service to which you are entitled?" it proceeds.

There has been introduced in the senate of the state legislature, under senate bill No. 73, known as the Malarkey bill, an act to throw all of the duties of a public service commission for the entire state of Oregon and every city in it upon the members of our present state railway commission.

"The purpose of this act is, we believe, in the first instance, to kill the public service commission act filed under the initiative with the city auditor of the city of Portland. This act creates a public service commission for the city of Portland alone, in broad in its scope and exhaustive in its provisions for the public.

"The Malarkey bill provides that the salary of the state railway commissioners be raised to $5000, but makes no provision for paying this amount except out of the general fund.

"The public service commission act of the city of Portland carries with it two ordinances providing for a 3 per cent tax on the gross income of the electric light and power companies and the gas companies of the city of Portland, which is less than other cities of the United States are now requiring, but which many times pays the expenses of our commission and helps greatly to defray the general taxation.

"The corporations of the city of Portland do not want this, which has been thoroughly demonstrated by the stand they have taken. How easy, therefore, to have an ex-corporation attorney introduce a bill that if passed will make inoperative the present act filed for the benefit of the citizens of Portland.

"And, again, if the Malarkey bill were passed, it would be a victory for the railroads, every one in the state, as the additional duties which the Malarkey bill would impose on the railway commissioners would make it impossible for this railway commission to give the proper time and attention to adjusting matters arising between shippers and railroads in the state of Oregon.

"These facts are entitled to your most careful consideration. It is simply a question of the corporations against the people.

"In order further to show the extremity to which the corporations are going, a rumor has been made current that the public service commission act, which was created for the city of Portland, is backed by corporate interests in Portland, and that a certain man in the city of Portland, who is reputed to represent certain corporate interests, created this bill. This rumor, black as the night, is, has been injected into the different local councils in order to poison the mind of the working man."

The message concludes with an exhortation to all Portland citizens who were corporations controlled to write to the members of the legislature demanding that the Malarkey bill be defeated.

GHIGLIONE COMPLAINS OF SEATTLE POLICE

(United Press Leased Wire.) Olympia, Wash., Jan. 28.—The state authorities are today in conference with the Italian consul at San Francisco relative to a communication received by Governor M. E. Hay from Secretary of State Knox bearing upon the complaint of Dr. Ghiglione, Italian consul agent at Seattle. The automobile garage on the premises of Dr. Ghiglione was blown up by a dynamite bomb on December 8, last Tuesday Dr. Ghiglione sent to Governor Hay a full account of his failure to get police protection. Dr. Ghiglione is now awaiting the return of United States Marshal Hopkins from Spokane when he will lay his case before the federal authorities in default of duty on the part of police officials. Dr. Ghiglione said last night:

"I have appealed in vain for protection. I have little fear for myself, but I do fear for my family. I have been threatened. I have told the police and they have paid little attention to me. I have engaged a private watchman to guard my home."

STREETCAR HITS TRUCK; BOTH BADLY DAMAGED

Had Motorman Carl Peterson, who was running a Thirteenth streetcar this morning at about 8 o'clock, not jumped when he saw that a collision with a motor truck at Taylor and Thirteenth streets, seemed imminent, he might have been killed. The front vestibule of the car was smashed and the car knocked off the track. The streetcar was running north, the truck was running west on Taylor street. Neither the motorman nor M. Ward, driver of the truck, which was owned by the East Side Fuel company and was loaded with wood, was badly damaged.

Professor Hesse Dead.

Oakland, Jan. 28.—Professor Frederick G. Hesse, of the University of California, is dead of old age at his home here. He was 86 years old.

His patriotic and patriotic services were of the highest order. Among the many responsibilities placed upon him in his long career was that of service upon the commission appointed by congress to establish the 46th parallel, which had been enacted should mark the boundary between Oregon and Washington.

NATHAN MULLIA BILL IS PASSED

Joseph's Measure Accepted by Senate; Wood and Dimick Speak Against It.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Salem, Or., Jan. 28.—Senator Joseph's militia bill, which continues the organization already formed and retains the present officers in command, went through the senate yesterday with 21 affirmative votes and seven in the negative.

Wood and Dimick were the only senators to speak against it. Wood based his opposition on general disbelief in the need for establishing this new arm of defense. Dimick declared he does not believe in legislating men into office for life, this being intended as a shot for Captain George S. Shepherd and Commander John M. Nulty, the ranking officers of the militia force.

Joseph, Abraham and Bowerman defended the bill. Bowerman said it was drawn in conformity with the federal government plan, and is intended to keep politics out of the organization. The vote follows:

Yeas—Abraham, Albee, Barrett, of Umatilla, Bowerman, Burgess, Calkins, Carson, Joseph, Kellaher, Lester, Locke, Malarkey, McColloch, Merryman, Norton, Nottingham, Oliver, Patton, Sinnott, Von der Hellen—21.

Nays—Barrett of Washington, Dimick, Hawley, Hoskins, Miller, Wood, President Selling—7.

Absent—Bean and Chase.

NINA CHEWS BACCO, NUTS, CIGARS, ETC.

Tips Cider Cask, Breaks Bottles, Runs Up a $75 Bill for Owner.

A pocket edition of a monkey, of the name of Nina, who pranks last night the streets of the north end, involved the owners of a moving picture show at North Third and Everett streets and the owners of a confectionery and notion store, next door, in a muddle in the justice court, and caused City Detectives Coleman and Snow to assume the role of appraisers.

The monkey is being held today by Stancheff brothers, of 78 North Third street, while the detectives are struggling with the wholesale and retail prices of plug tobacco, bananas and cigarettes. Part of the floating population of the north end, who have been in the store, telling stories of monkeys it has seen.

"Nina," the monkey—a miniature, flea bitten animal—is, or was, owned by Fred Nesme, owner of the Model theatre. Some time after midnight "Nina" escaped from the stage, and, after a neat slapping her collar, she crawled over the screen put up in front of the confectionery store and made an onslaught on the chewing tobacco, which she masticated with an admixture of chewing gum. The condition of the floor testified to the monkey's appetite for the wood.

Then "Nina" went after the cigarettes. She threw seven dozen packages upon the floor, evidently worked upon them with her teeth, scattered matches in all directions, mixed her repast with nuts, or rather, nibbled at the candy in stock, tore signs from the walls, turned on a gas jet, threw oranges into the street, trampled on several thousand cigars, which she spilled on the floor, turned on the water in a washbowl and flooded the floor of a closet, tipped over a cask of cider, broke several jars of candy, and with her bodies of flavoring extract used at the soda fountain, and tore up things in general.

When the proprietors of the store arrived this morning, undoubtedly they found "Nina" recumbent, holding her stomach. She was sick. Instead, however, of masticating, they whipped. And they tied up "Nina" in a dark closet, where she suffered the torments of the gourmet. The proprietor of the moving picture show went to get the "monkey" later in the morning, and found that he faced a debt of $75, the amount at which the candy store owners placed the damage. Nesme refused to pay, saying this amount was exorbitant. He took the case to the constable's office and was advised to select appraisers. He and the owners of the store got together and appointed the city detectives.

In the meantime "Nina" is suffering in a cold, dark closet in the candy and notion store.

COURTHOUSE WING BIDS ADVERTISED

Advertisements for the west wing of the new courthouse were ordered today by the county court, and sealed proposals will be opened by the court at 3 o'clock February 25. The bids are to be submitted to Whidden & Lewis, architects. The call for bids today is on the excavation, foundation, structural steel work, stone and cement work, roofing, marble, building stone, and all materials for the construction of the wing. It is planned by the county court to let the bid as early as possible, and arrange to have the contractors begin wrecking the old building as soon as the east wing is ready for occupancy.

The architects have stated the east wing would be completed by July 15. Work has progressed quite rapidly the last four weeks.

TRAPPER IS KILLED BY WOLVES; WIFE ENDURES HORRORS

Terrible Tale From Canadian Wilderness; Woman Escapes Flight in Snow; Found in Cabin Frightfully Frozen.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Cobalt, Ont., Jan. 28.—A tragic story is contained in dispatches received here today from the district 50 miles north of Gowganda, where a trapper named Wilson was devoured by wolves. His bride of four weeks almost perished from cold and fear.

Wilson's wife had insisted on accompanying him, and on snowshoes they went north to Spawning lake. They built a log shack. One day last week Wilson set out on the round of his traps, which would take two days. He did not return on time and his wife became anxious. A man named Dumont, a companion of Wilson, several days later found a tent in which utensils were scattered about as when the trapper left but there was no sign of Wilson.

Dumont organized a searching party and immediately commenced a return trip, making 70 miles without resting. The party found Mrs. Wilson in a terrible condition. She had made an effort to get to the settlement but, without snowshoes, had made only two miles in two days. The snow was deep and she sank to the waist in every step. She returned to the shack. Her hands and feet were terribly frozen and with difficulty she lighted a fire and kept alive. The rescuers took her back to Gowganda. No trace of the husband could be found and his friends are certain that he fell a prey to wolves.

FATES WERE UNKIND TO BANKRUPT BOESEN

Apollo, Minerva and Ceres grappled alternately with A. G. Boesen of Wallowa, finally throwing him, according to his petition of bankruptcy filed in the United States court today. Boesen alleges he owes $5229 and has but $233 of assets.

Prominent in the list of creditors of Boesen is a correspondence school, which he says he is owing for books and instruction. Another attempt of Boesen to conquer the arts is revealed by the item of $357 owing the International Conservatory of Music in Portland for "music lessons." The remainder of his schedule of debts includes a slow self feed, various implements of the farm and general merchandise.

Owen Bogue of McMinnville has asked to be relieved of debts amounting to $1559.70. He says his only assets are $37.50 in debts due him and $50 worth of clothes.

CONTRACTOR FAILS TO REMOVE HIS MUD

Owners of property abutting on East Twenty-first street near the intersection of that street with Clinton street are indignant because of the impassable condition that prevails on the thoroughfare owing to the mud that has been left there by the contractor. W. G. Ide, one of the property owners interested, visited City Engineer Morris some time ago to report the matter to him. The engineer said he would notify the contractor, but the street is still muddy.

East Twenty-first street was recently paved with hazzam. The city engineer accepted the pavement, but the executive board did not ratify the action of the engineer, because a large number of property owners protested against acceptance. The manager of the paving company, himself, is said to have admitted that the pavement was very poor and to have promised to repair it.

PACIFIC FLEET SHIPS TO VISIT THIS CITY

There is strong likelihood of some of the vessels of the Pacific fleet visiting Portland during the coming summer, according to a letter received by the Portland chamber of commerce from Rear Admiral Chauncey Thomas, commander of the fleet, in response to a request to have some of the vessels detached to the Columbia river if possible during the summer when there are many out of town visitors in the city.

Incidentally the letter states that during April all the vessels will hold steaming trials and target practice off Santa Barbara. In May, June and July, the West Virginia, Maryland, California and Colorado will exercise in waters of Puget sound, the West Virginia and Maryland will continue the coal tests with Pacific coast coals.

In August all the vessels will assemble for target practice.

In the first half of September the fleet will assemble on the southern California coast, the ships going to their respective navy yards the latter half of the month.

WAR SCARE TO DEFEAT REFORM LEGISLATION

(United Press Leased Wire.) Sacramento, Jan. 28.—Enemies of the initiative, referendum and recall are raising a Japanese war scare for the purpose of defeating reform legislation, according to Senator Charles W. Bell of Pasadena, chairman of the Republican caucus.

"The initiative, referendum and recall will be adopted," said Bell today. "The intention of the men who support Governor Johnson and his progressive policies is to give to the people the right to say what laws shall govern them. If the people of California desire restrictions of the Japanese, let them say so. I believe that if the people can be shown that any law they may favor would endanger the country's welfare, a majority of Californians would vote against it."

Burglars Make Good Haul.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Connopolis, Wash., Jan. 28.—Breaking into the drug store of D. F. Spigle at this place Thursday night, burglars secured valuable booty to the extent of between $400 and $500 worth. A panel was cut out of the front door, through which the thieves effected an entrance. Among other articles they took one or two sets of silver, beads, knives, razors, silver ware, kodaks, jewelry and watches. From the amount and value of the goods taken, it is believed that the burglars must have worked for several hours without interruption.

SUIT FOR DIVORCE FILED BY SCHENK

Proceeding Swift if No Contest for Children; Mrs. Schenk at Liberty.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Wheeling, W. Va., Jan. 28.—John O. Schenk, for whose alleged poisoning his wife, Laura Parnsworth Schenk, has been tried here, today filed suit for divorce. Attorney Handian, who prosecuted Mrs. Schenk, and his partner, Ross Rayman, are the attorneys for Schenk. The specific grounds of Schenk's suit will be stated in a bill of particulars to be filed later.

Mrs. Schenk's lawyers today will confer with Handian, who is acting for Schenk in the divorce suit, as to the amount of alimony Schenk is willing to give his wife. The impression is general that Schenk, to avoid a costly battle in the divorce court, will make suitable provision for his wife. What her rights will be as to the children will probably be settled by the court. In case Mrs. Schenk agrees that they shall remain with the father, it is probable the whole case will soon be settled, but if she persists in her present demand for their custody a long contest is expected.

Before Judge Jordan today Prosecutor Handian protested against the abuse showered upon Judge Isaac Heyman for his refusal to acquit in the Schenk case. Handian urged that the court punish those who have been denouncing Heyman, and Judge Jordan promised to investigate.

Mrs. Schenk out of jail. Judge Jordan, in whose court a jury on Thursday afternoon voted 11 to 1 for her acquittal, today released Mrs. Schenk on her own recognizance. It is believed she will never be tried again.

Mrs. Schenk was freed after strong protests by Prosecutor Handian. Her attorneys today asked that her bail of $1,000 be reduced, Handian strongly opposed the motion, declaring that her bail should be increased. Judge Jordan ordered that she might leave the jail.

Indications that Mrs. Schenk's troubles were by no means over came immediately after the order for her release. Going before Circuit Judge Hervey, Handian asked that the woman be had forth to be convicted be enjoined from entering any mansion, on Wheeling Island or from in any way interfering with her husband or her two children.

Judge Hervey today granted the injunction prayed for by Schenk against Mrs. Schenk to prevent her from seeing her children at least for the present.

HEALER COLE IN COURT ACQUITED

Decision Against Woman Who Alleged His Methods Were Unfair.

(United Press Leased Wire.) New York, Jan. 28.—Christian Scientists here are jubilant over the failure of the police to convict Willis Vernon Cole, the healer who practiced on Fifth avenue, of infraction of the medical laws of the state of New York. They regard it as a clear victory for the practitioners of their cult.

Cole was arrested at the instance of a police matron who went to him for treatment. She said he simply told her to sit still for 15 minutes, informed her that she was better, and collected a $2 fee.

AUTO SHOW SERVICE INCREASED FOR TODAY

Tonight closes the opening week at the different garages where the 1911 automobile show has been in progress. Augmented service will be in order today in order that those who have put off seeing the show till the last day may be accommodated.

The system of working out calls for printing of ballots in such manner that the name of every candidate where several are in the field for the same office will appear at the head of the ballot an equal number of times with every other candidate. The candidates whose names begin with A will be deprived in this way or any advantage they may possess.

A bill prepared by Barrett of Umatilla and Miller of Linn, which would have required the election of road supervisors instead of their appointment by county courts was killed in the senate yesterday, 10 votes being cast in its favor and 12 against. The majority took the view that it would be difficult to find candidates and result in confusion.

Senator Burgess' bill requiring the posting of notice in depots of time of departure of trains was passed. The bill was passed by a vote of 10 to 12. The majority took the view that it would be difficult to find candidates and result in confusion.

At the different garages cars which have been anxiously awaited, have reached the city and are being exhibited. Many of the exhibits have been made over since the opening of the show, making a second trip desirable. The garages will be open from 7 till 10:30 this evening and probably many of them tomorrow afternoon.

SENATE PASSES BILL TO SELL BURNT TIMBER

Washington, Jan. 28.—The senate yesterday passed a bill providing that burned timber on unreserved public land that was damaged or killed by the forest fires last summer shall be sold to the highest bidder. It is provided that burned timber on land filed upon or entered may be sold in like manner and the proceeds paid to settlers upon perfection of title. Where settlers fail to perfect title, the money is to go into the reclamation fund.

BOOST FOR WEST UMATILLA PLAN IS BEARING FRUIT

Oregon Development League Gets Assurance Government Will Give State Fair Deal on Irrigation Project.

C. C. Chapman, as secretary of the Oregon Development league, this morning received a very encouraging letter touching upon the west Umatilla government irrigation project. It indicates strongly that the united protest forwarded by the Development league, commercial bodies, railroad officials and citizens interested in the upbuilding of Oregon to the authorities at Washington will bear fruit.

"I was in Washington, D. C., last week and discussed this matter with Secretary Ballinger and Director Newell of the reclamation service, and others who were interested and familiar with the subject. I learned from Mr. Newell that as a result of the protest made by the people of Oregon the secretary had authorized him to proceed with the surveys of the west Umatilla project, and that work had been ordered commenced. From what Mr. Newell and others told me I infer that when the surveys are completed, if they show the project to be feasible and meritorious, there will be no great difficulty in securing a re-appropriation of the reclamation fund so that the necessary money will be available to carry on the project. As I gather it from various sources it is deemed inadvisable to disturb at the present time the apportionment recommended by the board of army engineers, but as the president only approved the same tentatively there seems to be no doubt among those who are well informed that when the time comes the apportionment will be changed and Oregon taken care of by the west Umatilla project, if a satisfactory showing is made when the surveys are completed, or by some other project in Oregon, if the west Umatilla showing is unfavorable."

"I found no evidence of hostility to the west Umatilla project. On the contrary, the feeling was favorable and the hope expressed that the further examination of the project would prove it to be all right, so that construction could be commenced."

"I was very glad of the opportunity to say a good word for the project referred to and to be of some assistance to the people of your state."

From Secretary Ballinger was received word some days ago that the matter would be investigated and upon that assurance the Development league and the promotion committee of the Portland Commercial club forwarded a lengthy memorial to President Taft, Secretary Ballinger and others, setting forth all the facts in the case and presenting the various arguments why the west Umatilla project should be continued and carried to completion. It was set forth that it be allowed to rest for any length of time the money already expended would practically be lost.

This memorial was forwarded a week ago today.

BILL WOULD GIVE A'S NO ADVANTAGE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Salem, Or., Jan. 28.—Names of candidates of the same party for the same office on the primary ballot are to be rotated, if a bill approved by the senate yesterday becomes a law. It was passed without a dissenting vote.

The system as worked out calls for printing of ballots in such manner that the name of every candidate where several are in the field for the same office will appear at the head of the ballot an equal number of times with every other candidate. SUES FOR $50,000 ON LOG CONTRACT

Glendale Man Says Oregon-Idaho Co. Hasn't 200,000,000 Feet Promised.

Failure of the Oregon-Idaho Timber company to deliver 200,000,000 feet of logs to F. F. Williams under a contract is the basis of a suit filed this morning in the circuit court against that company for $50,000. Williams is the plaintiff, and claims he is damaged to that extent by the broken contract.

The timber concern owned a mill and mill site at Glendale, Douglas county, Oregon. August 10, 1910, the company entered into a contract with Williams, whereby the latter purchased the mill and all the equipment. It was further provided that the Oregon-Idaho Timber company should furnish the new purchaser with 200,000,000 feet of logs delivered in the mill pond. During the first year, the company was to furnish 10,000,000 feet, and the second year the amount of 15,000,000. The third year, the company was to have delivered 25,000,000, and this amount each succeeding year until the entire amount was delivered.

During the first year, Williams alleges the company failed to deliver the required amount, and further charges that it does not pay $399,000,000 feet of logs to him in a renewed discussion as the new management had planned, due to the failure of the old company to deliver the logs, it is alleged.

"Referring to your telegram exchanged with Mr. Elliott in regard to the reclamation projects in Oregon: I was in Washington, D. C., last week and discussed this matter with Secretary Ballinger and Director Newell of the reclamation service, and others who were interested and familiar with the subject. VERDICT AGAINST OLD DR. BURKE

Convicted of Dynamiting Tent Occupied by Lu Etta Smith; Sentence Monday.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Santa Rosa, Cal., Jan. 28.—Despite efforts of his attorneys to secure his release, Dr. William P. Burke, proprietor of the Burke sanatorium, who, at midnight, was found guilty of having dynamited the tent of Lu Etta Smith last February, spent today in a cell at the county jail. He will remain there until 10 o'clock Monday, when he will be called up for sentence. His motion for a new trial, and for release on bail pending a new trial, will come up before Judge Emmett Seawell at the same time.

The charge against Dr. Burke was "exploding dynamite in a building inhabited by a human being."

The explosion occurred February 5, 1910, wrecking Miss Smith's tent but injuring her only slightly. Her baby, whose paternity was charged to Dr. Burke, was not hurt.

The explosion at first was supposed to have been accidental, but a belated investigation resulted in an indictment against Dr. Burke. Shortly afterward Miss Smith disappeared but later was located in Japan. Other witnesses also disappeared and the trial was drawn out four months.

BOYCOTT NOTHING TO BE CONSIDERED

Settled Out of Court and Supreme Tribunal Attends to Contempt, Only.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Washington, Jan. 28.—Attaches of the United States supreme court are busy explaining an erroneous report that that tribunal had summarily dismissed the contempt proceedings against President Samuel Gompers, Vice President John Mitchell and Secretary Frank Morrison of the American Federation of Labor, which grew out of the Buck Stove and Range company boycott.

The court merely hinted that it would refuse to consider the question whether the Buck Stove company should be granted a permanent injunction restraining the labor men from continuing the boycott. The boycott was settled out of court recently and the refusal of the court in the injunction matter will in no way affect the present main issue, which is the matter of contempt of court.

CUMMINS ARRAIGNS FRIENDS OF LORIMER

(United Press Leased Wire.) Washington, Jan. 28.—Declaring that State Representative White had substantiated his charges that Senator Lorimer had "bought his way" into the senate, Senator Cummins of Iowa, in addressing that body yesterday afternoon bitterly arraigned the committee that investigated Lorimer. He said it was ridiculous to say that Brown, Brydick and Wilson were not corrupted. He assailed the theory of Senators Bailey, Gamble and Pennington that the number of corrupt votes should be deducted from the total number of votes cast, instead of from those which the candidate received.

"This is the most dangerous and alarming proposition ever advanced here," he said. Its establishment would be an invitation to corruption and dishonesty and would encourage the whole sale purchasing of seats in the senate."

TARIFF COMMISSION IN THE HOUSE MONDAY

(United Press Leased Wire.) Washington, Jan. 28.—A bill providing for a tariff commission will be voted on in the house, probably Monday, according to predictions in official circles today. The belief is based on instructions issued to Congressman Dalzell of Pennsylvania, chairman of the rules committee, to report under a special rule whenever he believes the situation in the house will permit the measure's immediate adoption.

Dalzell said he thought
