PREVENTION RATHER THAN CURE MISSION OF FUTURE PHYSICIAN

Dr. Woods Hutchinson Outlines Some New Duties for Doctors of the Future.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
New York, Feb. 4.—The man who first said: "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" spoke even more wisely than he knew. He put up a sign post that an ever increasing number of doctors are following and laid the foundation for a community in which the family doctor will be a far different and far more useful individual than he is today.

This is the opinion of Dr. Woods Hutchinson, A. M., M. D., formerly of Portland, Or., one of the best known and most progressive medical men of the United States. As a writer, lecturer and practitioner, Dr. Hutchinson has done much to make plain the real mission of the doctor and to remove the old time conception of the "family doctor" as a mere dispenser of quinine, pills and syringes. In an exclusive interview given the United Press, Dr. Hutchinson said:

"The chief mission of the doctor of the future will be to prevent illness, rather than to cure it. He won't sit in his office and wait for the physical vals to see that deterioration is not working in some secret way.

"The doctor will have so many clients and he will be retained at so much a year to look after their health. I once made a careful study of this plan, and some 15 years ago, examined the lodgers of numerous colleagues of mine in towns ranging from not over 1500, to towns of 10,000 and 100,00, and their collections showed that they averaged less than $15 per year from all the families they attended.

"Where is there a family that would not agree to pay $25 a year to have the health of its members looked after? Some would pay many times this and do it gladly. Families could be graded into three or more main classes, say those with incomes below $75 a month, those between $75 and $200, and those above $200. A corresponding fee could be made possible under the new regime, $25 for the second and $50 for the third.

More Doctors and More Time.

"This new scheme isn't intended to put the doctor out of business. We can't have too many doctors—good doctors. The way the profession is run now, I know of cases of a single doctor treating 75 patients in a day. This won't be possible under the new regime. Doctors will have fewer patients, but they will have to give them more time. Instead of rushing them in one door and out another, shooting them on the run with pills and capsules and prescriptions, we will study the individual needs of our patients and try to elevate the practice above some of its penny-in-a-slot features.

"There is this point that I would like to emphasize. The mission of the doctor is to improve the human race from a physical standpoint; improve the breed, if you will. This involves questions that under the old regime it would have been considered impertinent for the doctor to have concerned himself with. We must go deep into the lives of our clients if we are to fulfill our mission. We must look to the mating of couples, advise in the matter of children and in regard to a number of other things which are considered of the utmost importance in such places as stock farms, but which have been passed over without serious thought in the home.

"Some may imagine that under the plan here outlined there wouldn't be much opportunity for the poor people to get the best service. There never was a bigger mistake than that a doctor doesn't care for practice in poor families. Why, the working classes are the mainstay of the medical profession. There are lots of streets in New York that pay out more in doctor's bills than Fifth avenue.

"Do you know that the doctor's paradise in these United States is San Francisco? They are better paid there than anywhere else in the whole world. Why? Because the laboring people of San Francisco, through their powerful unions, have forced up wages until they are higher than in almost any other city in the world. The workers are able to have medical services and pay the best prices in the country. Why? Because the laboring people of San Francisco, through their powerful unions, have forced up wages until they are higher than in almost any other city in the world. The workers are able to have medical services and pay the best prices in the country.

"Knowing all these things, it is going to be an easy matter for the doctor to guard the health of the family and to make actual sickness a rarity. He will be a sort of family health inspector. Like the mechanic with his auto, he will 'go over' his patients at regular intervals.

MILK COMPANY SUED FOR $1950 DAMAGES

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Forest Grove, Or., Feb. 4.—S. A. Moulton, a barber of this city, has entered suit against the Pacific Coast Condensed Milk company, which has a plant in South Forest Grove, for $1950 damages, because of injuries alleged to have been sustained by his son, Lowell Moulton, about April 2, 1902, while the lad was working at the condenser. Moulton states in his complaint that the boy, who was then between the ages of 13 and 14 years, was ordered to steady a load of cans that were being taken to the second floor on an elevator, and that the boy's left leg became caught between the elevator and the timbers that support the second floor, severely lacerating the member.

The complaint alleges that the elevator was not properly safeguarded, and that the injury was due to the carelessness of the defendant company. Suit was brought for a sum under $2000, it is thought, so that the case would have to be tried in this county, and not be carried to the United States court at Portland, as was the suit of Mrs. Shaver of this city, who brought suit against the milk condenser company for a sum over $2000 for the death of her son, which was caused last year by the elevator in the local plant.

WOUNDED LION KILLS EAST AFRICAN HUNTER

(United Press Leased Wire.)
London, Feb. 4.—Dispatches from Nairobi, East Africa, today tell of the death there of George Grey, brother of Sir Edward Grey, the British minister of foreign affairs, as the result of being mauled by a lion.

Grey, who was hunting in the same country as that traversed by Colonel Roosevelt, became separated from his companions near the Athi river. Rousing a lion from a thicket he fired and wounded the animal, but was knocked down by its charge and before he could fire a second time was frightfully clawed.

Fat Man Falls in Mud; Injured.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
La Center, Wash., Feb. 4.—M. Beckman, a carpenter weighing 200 pounds, fell from a scaffold here yesterday, landing in two feet of mud. His head struck a board as he fell and it required 20 stitches to mend the wound. Had it not been for the mud Mr. Beckman believes he would have been killed.

wrecks to come, or be brought in, nor will he make calls only when patients are in such dire straits that they are willing to pay—or promise to pay—for the sight of his face and medicine grip in the doorway.

Physician's Mission is Prevention.

"He will call at the houses of the wealthy, talk over family affairs in intimate fashion, learn what is going on within the household to interfere with or promote health. He will know what goes on at the dinner table and what's more important—where it comes from. If necessary, he will visit the dairy that furnishes the milk, the meat shop and other provision sources. He will know the school hours the children have, what games they play and he will try to know all about their personal habits. If he is the right kind of doctor he would rather hear about the plumbing in his patient's house and the way the cellar is arranged, and whether any of the servants have a suspicious cough or an eruption, than about the prizes his wife won at the last bridge party.
