

DIVIDES TEACHERS INTO SEVEN KINDS

S. B. 101, Passed, Grades Them From "Lifers" to Mere Specials.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Salem, Or., Feb. 7.—With the passage of senate bill No. 101 by the house yesterday afternoon, an act of great importance to the teachers of Oregon awaits only the signature of the governor to become effective. It provides for teaching certificates enabling the holder to teach in any county, also for the establishment of normal training classes in any high school.

Seven classes of certificates may be issued by the state superintendent of public instruction under the act as follows: Life state certificates, five year certificates, primary five year certificates, one year certificates, special certificates, temporary county certificates and special district certificates.

The superintendent is empowered to appoint nine professional teachers, whose duty it shall be to prepare questions for all state examinations, also to name as many teachers as necessary to prepare the manuscripts for state papers. The bill also specifies the preparation necessary to obtain the various grades of certificates. Examinations will be held in the county seat of each county on the first Wednesday in June and December of each year.

To establish a teachers' training class it will be necessary for the city or county to provide at least one teacher who shall devote four hours each day to the class and this teacher must have graduated from a standard normal school or its equivalent. At least two teachers, exclusive of the city superintendent, must give their entire time to instruction in subjects above the grammar grades. The training course can be given in the tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades, but the county school superintendent, at his discretion, may admit other pupils.

BILL PROVIDES COUNTIES SHALL VOTE ON DIVISION

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Salem, Or., Feb. 7.—Approval of the idea of creating new counties by vote of the people of the district directly interested, and exclusion of county division contests from the general ballot was given by the senate yesterday in the passage of Senator Wood's bill, senate bill 151.

As finally acted on the bill requires a 65 per cent vote in favor of division within the proposed new county and a 55 per cent vote in the old county or counties from which the new county is to be subtracted. On questions of annexation, the bill calls for a vote of over 50 per cent from both counties affected.

Joseph raised the point that the proposed establishment could result in the swallowing of smaller counties bordering Multnomah, but did not press this as a serious danger, and voted for the bill. Only two opposing votes were cast, by Kellaher and Miller.

Because of a mistake in engraving the bill, Wood later had the bill reconsidered and it will be again formally passed as soon as the corrections are made.

McKinlay Made Customs Surveyor.
Washington, Feb. 7.—President Taft has nominated Representative McKinlay of California to be surveyor of customs for the Port of San Francisco.

BIRD PROTECTION LAW VOTED DOWN

Voting Days Remain Holidays; Four Bills Killed at Senate Session.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Salem, Or., Feb. 7.—The senate did a little retreating yesterday, the fatal sign "failed to pass," being pinned on four bills at the afternoon session.

First in line was Joseph's bill making the state, county, municipality or district responsible for damages for the failure of a public officer to secure the bond required from contractors on public work. Bean argued that the burden of such responsibility should fall on the delinquent public officers, if there was to be any legislation on the subject, and the bill failed, 14 in favor and 11 opposed, 16 votes being required.

Nottingham's bill designed to make the bird protection law more effective, went down by 12 to 13. It proposed to make the possession of plumage prima facie evidence of violation of the law. Had it passed, the officers of the law might have seized the birds on a woman's hat if she wore the feathers of protected songsters. Nottingham's plea that the present law is ineffective to prevent the wholesale slaughter of birds was futile.

Oliver made a hard fight to pass a bill which would have allowed husband or wife to testify against the other in criminal cases, extending the rule that such testimony may only be admitted in cases of personal violence by one spouse against the other. The bill was given nine affirmative votes and 16 noes.

Another bill to feel the keen edge of senatorial displeasure, came from the house. It was introduced by Representative Neuner, and proposed to change the law making primary and election days legal holidays. The bill was voted down by 17 to 9.

VOLIVA WOULD FLOG USERS OF TOBACCO

Chicago, Feb. 7.—Public horsewhipping in Zion City for all chewers and smokers of tobacco is the novel issue in an election soon to take place in the town founded by John Alexander Dowle. Wilbur Glenn Voliva, successor to the self-proclaimed "Elijah," has announced this as part of his demand for support at the annual election of the Dowleites. Addressing a meeting of 1200 of his followers here, Voliva declared for the appointment of a horsewhip vigilance committee with power to punish on sight all users of the weed. Other purposes of Voliva are to drive out all independent farmers from Zion City, to make all its industries cooperative, and to banish every church from the corporate limits of Zion.

New Schedule to Seattle, Tacoma and Intermediate Points.

Effective Sunday, February 5, "O.-W. Owl" on O.-W. R. & N. "Puget Sound Route," will leave Portland at 11 p. m. instead of 11:45 p. m. for Seattle, Tacoma, Centralia, Chehalis and all Puget sound points. Sleeping cars open for passengers at Union depot at 9:30 p. m. as usual, and passengers may remain in these sleepers after arrival at Seattle and Tacoma until 8:30 a. m.

FARMERS' WEEK IS ATTRACTING MANY

Believed Attendance at O. A. C. Beginning Monday, Feb. 13, Will Reach 1000.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, Feb. 7.—With the inquiries which have come to the college indicating that the attendance will pass the 1000 mark, the annual farmers' week will be held at the Oregon Agricultural college beginning next Monday, February 13, and lasting for five days, ending the evening of Friday, February 17. The attendance for the exercises of the week last year passed the 400 mark, but so widely known has become the work of the college through its demonstration trains and farmers' institutes, and so general the recognition of the value of its work that the interest shown in the exercises of next week bids fair to more than double the attendance records as the short course now being held has done.

The program for the entire week was announced here today by Dean Cordley, head of the school of Agriculture and save for two hours allowed each day for lunch and supper, every hour from 8 a. m. until 9 p. m. daily is taken up with lectures, demonstrations and discussions on every branch of agricultural interest. Besides the lectures, which will be not alone by the experts of the college but by agricultural leaders throughout the state as well, the college teachers will give hundreds of personal interviews with the visiting agriculturists regarding the particular problems of their own farms and orchards.

Among the speakers from about the state will be William Schulerich, former president of the Oregon State Dairy association; Mrs. Clara Waldo of Portland, a regent of the college; State Engineer John H. Lewis; H. S. Holgate of the state water board, and H. H. Keim, formerly of Pennsylvania, but recently of Newberg, Or.

Two special meetings will be features of farmers' week, the first on Wednesday evening regarding the question of irrigation in the Willamette valley in which the question will be discussed from various standpoints by State Engineer Lewis, Mr. Holgate and Professor Powers. On Friday will be given an elaborate poultry show, in which fowls representing the finest breeds in the northwest will be exhibited, as well as all the latest inventions in the poultry world. Special lectures by the poultry experts of the college as well as by well known poultry fanciers in the state will be given and the day devoted in general to the question of the poultry and poultry husbandry.

Wardens to Kill Crop Destroyers.

Salem, Or., Feb. 7.—Following the defeat of the Hollis bill permitting the killing of beaver in the senate yesterday, Senator Merryman introduced a bill allowing the state game warden and forestry wardens the right to grant permits for the killing of protected animals or birds when they become a menace to crops. Merryman's idea is that this plan should be satisfactory to all concerned, the law protecting the favored birds and animals where it is needed, and relaxed in districts where the destruction of crops is threatened.

Not a voice was raised in a meeting of Stoughton taxpayers against improving the streets.

YOUNG SOCIETY WOMEN DON GLOVES AND FIGHT FASHIONABLES LOOK ON

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Providence, R. I., Feb. 7.—Two young women in a fight, using boxing gloves, with the hand of a young man at the stake, was an event witnessed by a party of exclusive fashionables at a Cranston roadhouse early today, according to rumor which the police are investigating. One of the women, whose name is said to be Anderson, won with a right swing to the solar plexus in the third round.

Whiskey for Colds

Pine Formula for Old Time Remedy Cured Thousands Here Last Winter.

The increased use of whiskey for colds is causing considerable discussion among the medical fraternity. It is an almost infallible cure when mixed with certain other ingredients and taken properly. Mix as follows: "Two ounces of Glycerine and half an ounce of Concentrated Pine compound. Put these into half a pint of good whiskey. Shake well and take one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal and at bed time." Smaller doses to children according to age. This treatment often knocks the worst cough or cold in a day. But be sure to get only the genuine (Globe) Concentrated Pine. Each half ounce bottle comes in a sealed tin screw-top case. If the druggist does not have it in stock he will quickly get it. Don't experiment with cheap uncertain mixtures. It is very risky.
