

SANDY BOULEVARD LIENS ARE READY

List Will Be Published Tomorrow, 30 Days Only to Pay.

A complete list of property affected by the proposed widening of Sandy boulevard, together with the amount assessed against each individual, will be published by the city auditor tomorrow, at which time the amount of the published assessment will become a lien against the property specified. Thirty days later, these assessments become delinquent and 20 per cent penalty and 10 per cent interest is added. Thereafter the delinquent property may be sold without notice.

The Rose City Park Improvement club has appointed a committee consisting of John Leland Henderson, chairman; J. W. Travers, Floyd J. Campbell and O. G. Huxton to see that money is provided from some source to take care of sales of property for delinquency, if any become necessary, but prior to that to see that all interested property owners get due notice of the assessment. For an strict is the ordinance governing assessments of this kind that not only is the period before delinquency only 30 days, but the entire assessment must be paid in cash and cannot be bonded. The reason is that the entire amount is used in liquidation of damages.

Sandy boulevard is to be widened from 60 feet to 80 feet from East Twenty-eighth street to East Eighty-second street, the city limits. The assessment touches all land 800 feet on either side of the boulevard, and the assessment per lot ranges from about $25 for the lots fronting on the boulevard to as low as $5 for lots 800 feet away. The whole amount to be raised is a little over $52,000.

As soon as the damage money is paid in, notices will be sent to move all buildings back, and as the better plan paving are already in, that improvement can immediately follow, making Sandy boulevard one of the city's greatest thoroughfares.

TEN MEASURES FOR 1912

house passed both of them, but they were halted in the senate, where certain features were objected to and where it was decided the better plan would be to let all tax bills, as distinguished from constitutional amendments, be framed by the special legislative committee.

If the Beals bills had been passed, they would still have required submission to popular vote under the amendment adopted last November. Thinking the Beals measures were defective in some respects, the senate yielded to the argument that they should be defeated and the special committee given a free hand in framing comprehensive legislation.

The only other important measure affecting taxation was the bill imposing a tax of one-half of one cent on mortgages. As Senator Callicott, one of the strong champions of this bill, is a member of the special committee, this may also find its way to the ballot one year from next November.

Miscellaneous Items for Ballot.
Aside from the three tax amendments ordered submitted, the people are certain to vote on the following questions, because the legislature has so determined:

Creation of the office of lieutenant governor.

Making stockholders of state banks liable to depositors for twice the amount subscribed, the same as stockholders of national banks.

Requiring a majority of all votes cast at an election to carry a constitutional amendment, instead of a majority of those voting on the particular question at issue.

Although the woman suffrage question will go on the ballot by the initiative, the legislature passed a resolution commending it to the people of the state, and thereby gave formal approval.

In addition to all this, numerous local measures have been passed with a clause providing for the use of the referendum if desired, and several counties will vote on salary increase bills if these bills escape the veto.

In just one respect did the legislature take steps to reduce the length of the ballot. This was by the passage of Senator Wood's bill, providing a manner for voting on county division or annexation by the people directly interested. This plan, if the bill becomes a law, will make the elections on such subjects local, and also probably limit the number as well, for many new county divisions which took a chance on the vote of the state at large will not find encouragement in the local vote.

BI-WEEKLY TO BALBOA

cargo of the steamer Stanley Dollar, which will be due to arrive here tomorrow from Balboa direct. This will be the first direct shipment to this port by way of the Panama route and will probably be the first shipment from Philadelphia, with the exception of the steamer Astor, which arrived here last summer, by way of the Straits of Magellan, on the Bates & Cheesbrough line. The steamer following the Stanley Dollar will be due to arrive here from Balboa about April 1 and will probably be the Riverside, which ran in here on the American-Hawaiian line before the Falcon.

From Away Up the Mississippi.

We started the Panama run October 1," said Mr. Chapman, "with four steamers, which have now been increased to 14, and we are giving Portland and San Francisco merchants the first direct water line to New Orleans, with the steamer San Mateo running between that port and Colon. We are draining the entire Mississippi river valley through New Orleans, and large shipments of freight are being made from long distances up the river. We also gave the first direct water line to Philadelphia, that port being so near to New York that it was apparently not thought worth while by other steamship lines coming this way. We are handling at the rate of about $60,000 tons of cargo a year."

Asked what effect the rate war declared by other steamship lines would have on the Bates & Cheesbrough line, Mr. Chapman replied:

"When the Pacific Mail Steamship company came out some days ago with a rate of $5 on shipments eastbound and the American-Hawaiian Steamship company followed with a rate of $6 per ton, the Bates & Cheesbrough line stood out on the original rate of $5 a ton and the largest shippers are staying with us."

It is simply a matter of the railroads trying to play the old game of crushing the independent line, and I believe that the shippers have been 'bunked' so many times that they will see the advantage of continuing to give us their support."

"The Winegrowers' association, the heaviest shippers in California, recently held a meeting and gave us the assurance that they would give their goods to go over our line. Conservative figures would make this about 5000 tons a month. Other large shippers have also fallen in line with them."

Citrus Fruits Handled, Too.

Mr. Chapman said his firm had recently handled citrus fruits from San Francisco to the eastern ports, by way of the Panama railway in 23 days, with less decay than when made by rail. The total citrus fruit business amounts to about $6,000 carloads a year. It also has some tonnage of apples to leave San Francisco.

As yet no bonded freight has been handled by the new line, but Mr. Chapman said that he expected to close a deal for the handling of that class of freight within the next week.

Although the line has been operated by way of Panama only since October 1, Bates & Cheesbrough have been running sailings ships around Cape Horn and steamers by way of the Straits of Magellan since 1907. Out of New York they operate in connection with the Panama Railway & Steamship company's steamers Colon, Cristobal, Advance, Panama, Alcon, and Alliance, while from Philadelphia they operate their own steamers, the Millie, Lyra, and the Lewis Luckenbach, which was recently chartered. From New Orleans the San Mateo is operated. On the Pacific coast they operate 10 steamers, and a sailing ship converted into a barge, the Manga Reva.

DECISION AGAINST CITY

and while he was here the injunction case was assigned to him.

Simon Surprised.

"I am certainly surprised at the decision," said Mayor Simon this afternoon. "It is unheard of, in view of the facts in the end it only goes to show that injunctions are too easily obtained against municipalities. It is an outrage that a corporation should be permitted to twist justice to its ends in such a manner."

On account of the Coke decision the city will not be permitted to remove some dangerous overhead wires that now dangle loosely from tree to tree and from building to building along Fourth street between Madison and Morrison streets. City Electrician Charles A. Savarian declares that these wires are a menace to human life.

"I can't understand how such a decision could have been made," said Mr. Savarian today. "I thought it would have taken but five minutes to decide the case in favor of the city."

"There is nothing on record to show that the National Automatic Alarm company ever received any legal authority to connect its system with the wires of the city, though the company has used these since 1903."

Wires Not Needed.

"The city has duplicated its overhead system with an underground one and now has absolutely no use for the aerial wires, yet by this decision will be compelled to maintain the overhead wires for the benefit of a corporation which does not pay a cent to the city for the privileges it enjoys."

"The Western Union company and the Portland Railway, Light & Power company were compelled to remove their poles, on which the wires of the city are strung, to place their own wires underground. Yet the wires are permitted to hang in the air supported only by trees and buildings. Such a condition of things surrounds me."

The National Automatic company now has 25 alarm boxes for which current is supplied free by the city. The company has asked for a franchise to connect with the underground system of the city, but this has been denied.

mittes amendments by refusing to permit consideration.

By a two thirds vote the house considered the war claims bill and passed it. The District of Columbia bill then was sent back to conference.

The house sent back to conference the Indian appropriation bill because it carried a senate amendment appropriating $200,000 for the Colville Indians, in the state of Washington, for lands sold by the government, of which $100,000 was for Ex-Senator Martin Butler of North Carolina as attorney fees.

Jack London Sets Up Alibi.

(United Press Special Wire.)

Glenn Ellen, Cal., Feb. 20.—Jack London, the author, is not under arrest at Calexico for unlawfully assisting Mexican revolutionists, as has been reported. He is at his home here.

Denying that he has been any nearer the border than Los Angeles since the Mexican revolt began, London said today that the man bearing his name reported in the custody of United States officials at Calexico for violation of neutrality, was an individual who had been impersonating him in different parts of the country for eight months.

"I have been following the fellow by press clippings and in other ways, for eight months," said London today. "He has gone about the country impersonating me and causing me considerable embarrassment. I heard several weeks ago that he was at Calexico. I shall not attempt to prosecute him, as I imagine he is at the end of his rope now."

Rebels to Attack Ensenada.

(United Press Special Wire.)

Calexico, Cal., Feb. 20.—Gathering his supplies and arranging to move fully equipped, several recruits who slipped across the line under cover of darkness, General Simon Berthold, second in command of the rebel forces in Lower California, prepared today to march on Ensenada.

General Berthold announced he would take advantage of the disorganization of the federal garrison of Lower California, at the risk of returning to Mexico and finding it in possession of Mexican troops who are reported to be marching to the city across Arizona and California.

Scouts who were sent out as close to the boundary line as possible, so as not to infringe on the neutrality laws, reported that no trace of the band could be seen as far as Tuba.

As a result of a request by Captain Babcock, in charge of the United States troops patrolling the Lower California border, that he withdraw to a point two miles from the international line, General Berthold will leave a small guard in Mexico when he marches toward Ensenada.

W. H. CORBETT IS DEAD; END COMES UNEXPECTEDLY

In 1899 to take charge of the Willamette Iron & Steel Works, of which institution he has since been at the head and of which he was one of the largest stockholders. He took charge of the Willamette Iron & Steel Works when it was a small struggling concern and had built it up and developed it until it is now the largest institution of its kind on the Pacific coast north of San Francisco.

Mr. Corbett was regarded as one of the ablest business men in Portland. He was also a natural mechanical engineer. It was the union of these two faculties that enabled him to develop the Willamette Iron & Steel Works to the point where it is one of Portland's largest and most important manufacturing concerns. Besides being president and general manager of the Willamette Iron & Steel Works, to which he devoted his entire attention, he was president of the Ajax Auto Traction company.

Funeral Will Be Tomorrow.

The funeral of Mr. Corbett will be held at Trinity Episcopal church, at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Rev. A. A. Morrison, the rector, officiating. At the close of the services at the church, the body will be taken to the Portland Crematorium for the last rites.

The following friends and associates of Mr. Corbett will act as honorary pallbearers: C. F. Swigart, William Brewster, Frank Hart, Morris H. Ingle, William MacMasters, E. C. Greile, Major G. H. Cabell and Albin Gile. The active pallbearers are to be the foremen at the Willamette Iron & Steel company's plant, as follows: Charles Mack, George Dierking, R. F. Straus, Pete Skoberg, Harry Turner, William Casey, J. Otte and S. Papp.

"I don't know any man whose loss will be more severely felt," said William D. Wheelwright, speaking of the death of Mr. Corbett. "He was amiable, useful, full of energy, a thorough gentleman and one of the kindest souls I ever knew."

Harvey Beckwith said that business associates and acquaintances of Mr. Corbett mourned his death. "It is sad," he said, "that so young and enterprising a business man, one so well regarded and so favored, should be taken from us. He did much toward building up Portland."

"He was a valuable, progressive business man," said Judge John B. Cleland, "and his death means a great loss to the community."

MR. CORBETT'S MEN ADOPT RESOLUTIONS EXPRESSING SORROW

Immediately upon hearing of the death of Mr. Corbett, the operating force of the Willamette Iron & Steel company met in a body and adopted the following resolutions:

"Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God in His wisdom to call from this earthly home, to His heavenly home, W. H. Corbett,

"And, whereas, as our employer he had our utmost respect as a gentleman, and we regarded him as our friend; therefore, be it

"Resolved, that we, the employees of the Willamette Iron & Steel Works, wish to express to his family our heartfelt sympathy at the death of Mr. W. H. Corbett. He was not only our employer, but we at heart our friend and did everything he could for his employees that was possible for man to do toward his fellow men.

men, said this afternoon that probably the decision of the court was based upon the fact that interstate commerce commission had, in hearing the case, gone into the entire history of the establishment of the lumber industry in the Willamette valley, and in fixing a just rate, had considered this history. It is probable, he said, that the court felt the commission could not consider such history in determining what was a just rate.

The case now before the interstate commerce commission however is not in any way based upon a history of the

The Druggist Knew From Experience

Sometime since I asked my druggist for something for lame back and kidneys as I had suffered for some time. He recommended Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root and will say it does all that is claimed for it and more, as I only took two bottles, and find that I have no pain or aches since. Yours truly,

LA CENTER, WN., YOUNG FOLK MUST BE GOOD

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

La Center, Wash., Feb. 20.—At a recent meeting of the city council an ordinance was passed which provides that the pool hall may be open between 6 o'clock in the morning and 10 o'clock at night, and that all young men under 21 years of age be forbidden to take part in any games within said hall. A curfew ordinance was passed which provides that all children under the age of 14 shall be forbidden on the streets after 8:30 in the evening except children be under charge of older persons. If these ordinances are enforced, especially the latter, it will make a change, as children from 10 years up are on the streets all hours of the night.

GOLD DUST Digs Deep After Germs

GOLD DUST not only cleans but sterilizes.

Soap merely washes over the surface, leaving a greasy film behind it.

GOLD DUST "goes to the bottom," and insures absolute purity and sanitary safety. Why not sanitize your home, as well as clean it?

Soap needs muscle help; GOLD DUST does all the hard part of the task without your assistance.

GOLD DUST is a good, honest, vegetable-oil soap, to which are added other purifying materials in just the right proportions to cleanse easily, vigorously, and without harm to fabric, utensils or hand.

Foolish, indeed, is the woman who tries to get along without GOLD DUST.

Do not use Soap, Naphtha, Borax, Soda, Ammonia or Kerosene with Gold Dust. Gold Dust has all desirable cleansing qualities in a perfectly harmless and lasting form.
