

WEST RECALLS 7 GAME AND FISH BILLS; NOW LAWS

Deputy Game Wardens' Positions Declared Vacant—Must Pass Strict Examination in Future.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Salem, Or., Feb. 24.—Governor West has caused notice to be sent to every deputy game warden in the state that he will be off the payroll on and after March 1. With the notice is carried a suggestion that they may apply again for the old positions, but it was expressly stated that competency will be the test. This step is made in preparation for the reorganization of the game and fish administration under the new fish and game commission created by the legislature. That commission will hereafter be the sole judge and will pick the master fish and game wardens as well as the deputies.

After finding that some of the 16 game and fish bills vetoed by him originated in the offices of the game or fish wardens and were not entirely the whim of a single legislator, the governor yesterday rescinded his action and recalled seven of the bills. The recalled bills were house bill 249, removing the protection from Dolly Varden trout; house bill 217, regulating fishing in the Willamette river; house bill 254, relating to fishing in the Umpqua river; house bill 337, prohibiting the shooting of water fowl from a skiff; house bill 184, prohibiting the sale and shipment of fish caught in the Rogue river; senate bill 263, protecting salmon in the Klamath river, and senate bill 69, protecting wild geese.

PLAN TO CAN ROOTS OF YOUNG ALFALFA

Spokane, Wash., Feb. 24.—Alfalfa roots, white and tender, will take place of early asparagus if Louise F. Weinland, an irrigation rancher in the Spokane valley, is successful with her plans for marketing the newest table vegetable in the western country. Miss Weinland, who came from Pennsylvania last spring, has broached the enterprise to members of the Spokane Chamber of Commerce and several have promised to assist in establishing a cannery. The discovery that alfalfa root is nourishing to man as it is to livestock was made by Miss Weinland several months ago, but the proper method of preparing it was not ascertained until a few days ago, when the young woman, after peering for hours in a huge tone on cookers, decided to try recipes for cooking asparagus. They say the flavor is similar to asparagus.

JONES IN FAVOR OF JAP TREATY

Believes It Goes Farther Than Present System and Will Operate to Exclude.

(United Press Special Wire.)
Washington, Feb. 24.—Senator Jones of Washington today came out for ratification of the new treaty. He said he was as strong as anyone in opposing the admission of Japanese laborers, but he believed the new treaty went a step farther than the present method of exclusion and accomplished its purpose better. He believed the senate should shoulder the responsibility and that further agitation and misunderstanding should not be allowed.

When Speaker Joseph G. Cannon resigns his gavel on March 4 he will have achieved the longest record for the speakership, with one exception. Mr. Cannon has served four full terms, or eight years. This record is surpassed only by that of Henry Clay, who was chosen six times and served an aggregate of ten years. Mr. Clay's service in the speaker's chair, however, was not continuous.
