

PACIFIC HIGHWAY DELEGATES CALLED

Commercial Clubs and County Courts of Western Oregon Invited March 3.

All the commercial clubs and county courts from Portland to Ashland were invited today to send delegates to the Pacific Highway meeting, which has been called for 1 o'clock Friday, March 3, in the convention hall of the Commercial club, Philip S. Bates, chairman of the committee of seven, today sent letters of invitation to Oregon City, Salem, Albany, Corvallis, Eugene, Roseburg, Grants Pass, Medford and Ashland. Because they are taking great interest in the plan of building a feeder highway between Portland and the sea, the commercial interests of St. Helens and Astoria were invited to send representatives. The county judges of the counties between Portland and the sea were also invited. The Pacific Highway movement in Oregon and Washington shall promote the building of an interstate bridge between Vancouver and the point on the Oregon bank of the Columbia river. To place the necessity of such a bridge clearly before the authorities of both Multnomah and Clatsop counties, the county courts and commissioners have been invited to come to the meeting and discuss ways and means and feasibility.

Judge J. T. Ronald, president of the Pacific Highway association, is expected from Seattle to tell what has been done in actual construction in Washington and British Columbia.

Size and beauty prizes for babies under one year of age went to Rex O. rage, Frances Jordan, Eleanor Maling, Helen Elaine Ney, Louise Ebbenshade and Eloff Hedland.

Katherine Louise Ehrigott got the prize for being the finest babe between three and five years of age. Edwin Bracher took second prize. Maxwell Page got third prize. DIAMOND PALACE THUGS GET SENTENCE MONDAY

William Johnson and Herbert Duplessie pleaded guilty yesterday afternoon before Presiding Judge Gantenben of the circuit court to sandbagging James Gilbert and robbing the Diamond Palace last week. The men are about 25 years old. They will be sentenced Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The two young highwaymen presented a sorrowful spectacle as they stood before the judge. Neither had nerve to raise his eyes, and both were anxious to escape the stare of the curious persons gathered to see them. Judge Gantenben asked the district attorney to furnish as many facts surrounding the boys as could be gathered, in order to assist him in determining the sentence.

SIXTH AND PINE WANTS SKIDMORE FOUNTAIN

Since The Journal recently called attention to the unappreciated artistic possibilities of the Skidmore fountain, obscurely located in the wholesale district, many plans for its removal to a more slightly place have been advanced. A number of the business men of Seventh and Sixth streets propose that the fountain shall be moved to the intersection of Sixth and Pine streets. At this point there is a broad open space due to the fact that a number of short streets come together. There is plenty of room, it is said, for the fountain and it would be an attractive feature for visitors to the city to view as they come and go from the union depot.

(United Press Special Wire.) Olympia, Feb. 24.—The senate yesterday took up the house bill calling for an investigation of the Ballingram armory, while the house took up a resolution by McNeely asking that the state tax commission be investigated on Connor's resolution, by a vote of 49 to 42. Progressives and standpatners were found on either side in the debate. Many progressives opposed the law on the ground that it compelled a man to vote for some one on second choice who was distasteful to him.

Sacramento, Cal., Feb. 24.—The people of California have not expressed any particular desire for prize fight legislation, so why should we give them any, said a member of the state senate committee on public morals to the United Press today. He continued: "I have been asked to draw up a form of a bill that will eliminate certain brutalities and leave the number of rounds blank to be filled in by the committee, but I cannot say that this bill will go in."

A member of the assembly said several prize fight promoters had been here and had given assurances that fights in the future would be so conducted as not to arouse general indignation.

CHAUFFEUR JOY RIDES IN COUNCILMAN'S AUTO; LICENSE IS CANCELLED

If all automobile owners could be city councilmen the days of the pestiferous joy rider would be numbered.

Which brief preface hides a story. Which story has to do with two reckless chauffeurs, employed by two of Portland's wealthiest citizens. Said chauffeurs took advantage of the temporary absence of both of these gentlemen from the city to take the machines of each out for a marathon run and nocturnal pleasure jaunt up the river.

As a result Theodore B. Wilcox received an astounding bill from a local garage, which repaired the damages done to his Wilcox's limousine. Councilman Gay Lombard received a bill no less startling, but he got some satisfaction this morning when he achieved the revocation by the council of the license of his former chauffeur, Earl Owens.

"I am not asking you to do this, gentlemen, out of malicious personal motives," said Mr. Lombard, "but simply because I believe that this sort of thing should be stopped. The best way to stop it is to revoke licenses of chauffeurs found guilty of indiscretions."

Woman Tells Story of Intense Suffering

At the age of about 40 years I was attacked with hemorrhage of the kidneys or bladder, which continued for several years without a check. I finally took advantage of your generous offer and procured a sample bottle of Swamp-Root. Believing it helped me, I purchased a fifty-cent bottle, which convinced me that it was helping me. Three other bottles cured me. In two or three years, over-work brought my ailment back, but one bottle stopped it. I feel as if I owe my life to you for the great blessing Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root has been to me. I recommend it to all human beings suffering as I was. You have my permission to publish this letter and if any person doubts it, if they will write me, enclosing stamp, I will give full particulars.

Yours very truly, MRS. T. B. PHELPS, Rocky, Ark. Personally appeared before me this 31st day of August, 1908, Mrs. T. B. Phelps, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact. L. P. PURVIS, J. P.

MUTT AND JEFF LEARN SOMETHING

"Some class to us, Jeff." "Yes, Mut, and classified, too. Heard the classified makeup man ripping us up because our popularity increased interest in the 'fant Ads and caused him m'e work and worry. But this new position among the wants has 'wised' me to many things. I read the ads and know where I can get the highest price for my old dress suit—and where I can buy a suit cheap from a guy that was disappointed. You ought to read want ads, Mut, and get an education."

The trouble started when Blaser was summoned to arrest Adkins, who was creating a disturbance. When the marshal started to place Adkins under arrest, the latter drew a revolver and fired at Blaser, the bullet hardly missing the officer's head, knocking his cap off. Blaser struck the revolver from the drunken man's hand, and with another blow from his club cut a severe gash in Adkin's head, knocking him out. The drunken man was placed in the county jail, where he is now considering the seriousness of his offense.
