

PORT COMMISSION NAMED BY WEST

Six New Members Named From List Submitted by Committee, 1 by Himself

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Salem, Or., Feb. 24.—By choosing the names of the persons submitted to him from a list, Governor West yesterday selected the members of the new Port of Portland commission. Six of the members of the commission were named by the governor from two lists, three from a list submitted to him by the committee of 50, the men who started the movement for altering the organization of the Port of Portland commission, and three from the members of the old commission. The seventh member was named by the governor from the outside.

By the method of drawing the names of the candidates from a hat Governor West named J. C. Alsworth, C. F. Adams and W. D. Wheelwright from the present membership of the commission; R. D. Inman, James McGuire and Captain Albert Crowe from the committee of 50, and the governor named himself John F. O'Shea.

The committee of 50 submitted six names, including those of M. O. Collins, Henry Hewitt and B. G. Cobb, in addition to the three whose names came from the hat as appointees. Into the hat also went the names of the members of the old commission. This was because the chamber of commerce of Portland wired the governor suggesting that no changes be made in the membership. From this the governor assumed that the chamber of commerce practically recommended the present commissioners for reappointment.

Alleged Robber Arrested.
(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
The Dalles, Feb. 24.—Ed Butcher, supposed to be the man who robbed a car barn in Portland of $250 Wednesday night, was arrested here yesterday by Chief of Police Harper and Officer Sexton. Butcher had registered at Hotel Dalles under an assumed name, but after being arrested acknowledged he was Butcher, but denied that he was the party who robbed the barn. He had $187 in currency on his person when arrested. Butcher answers the description of the thief perfectly, and the officers are convinced they have the right man.

LIABILITY LAW IS PASSED AT OLYMPIA

First Aid Clause Eliminated, but Fight Is Waged; Game Code Gets By.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Olympia, Wash., Feb. 24.—After a spirited contest the employers' liability law was passed yesterday by the house as amended earlier in the week, with the first aid clause eliminated. The fight began when Groff of Spokane moved to make the bill a special order of business Tuesday afternoon.

Groff, who declared that he desired to wait until the senate had acted on several measures of the same nature, so that all of these measures might be harmonized, was attacked by the friends of the bill, who charged him with attempting to weaken the bill by giving its opponents time to gather votes against it. Those members who fought for the elimination of the first aid clause lined up with the friends of the bill, as they had promised to do, and the measure was finally passed by a vote of 69 to 24.

Senate Passes Game Code.
The new game code was passed by the senate yesterday after a long struggle, in which the enemies of the bill attempted to insert a large number of special provisions for nearly every county in the state. The bill as passed provides that hunting licenses good in one county shall cost $1, and state licenses $5 for residents. Non-residents must pay $10 for county licenses and $25 for state licenses. Persons may hunt and fish without license on their own property. A faunal commission of five, to be appointed by the governor, will have charge of the enforcement of the game laws. A salaries secretary of the commission and two chief game wardens at $1500 a year each are provided for. The act provides for two chief deputies and a sub-deputy in every county. Hunters can bag only 15 upland birds a day, and a week's shooting is limited to 30 birds. Hunting deer with dogs is prohibited and to kill an elk is made a gross misdemeanor. Every fisherman over 18 years of age must have a license. Farmers hunting and fishing on their own lands excepted. The bill to assess for taxation fish traps and paraphernalia on fishing sites will be sent to the governor. It has already passed the senate, and the house is friendly to the measure.

Primary and Local Option.
The house today fiddled with the primary election law by first voting to strike the second choice provision from the bill, and then voting to reinstate it.

The county unit local option bill, which has already passed the senate, has reached the house and been sent to the committee on rules. This bill will be contested in the house and its final passage is doubtful.

Nampa Girl a Suicide.
(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Boise, Idaho, Feb. 24.—Dependancy over disappointment in love caused Bertha Calkins, a prominent young woman of Nampa and a former student at the University of Idaho, to commit suicide by drinking strychnine last night. She was 21 years of age.
