

NAMES COMMITTEE ON DAIRY PROBLEM

Chapman Appoints Men Who Will Try to Harmonize All Interests.

Four of the five members of the committee which is to have the duty of travelling Portland's dairy snarl and act as a board of arbiters between consumers and producers and dealers and health authorities, have been appointed by C. C. Chapman, manager of the commercial club. Only the consumers fall of representation, and this because the Consumers' league has not yet nominated its representative.

Of the committee as announced today by Mr. Chapman, W. W. Cotton, dairy man, friend of the Consumers' league, and well known lawyer is to be chairman. Dr. Calvin S. White, secretary of the state board of health, will represent the health authorities; William Schumerlich, a dairyman from Hillsboro the dairy interests, and T. S. Townsend of the Townsend Creamery company, will represent the dealers.

All of the committeemen appointed have been named from among the organizations they represent, and are leaders in their various lines. Mr. Cotton announced recently that he would stand for an increase in the price of milk paid producers by dealers. At the present time the amount is four cents a quart from dealer to producer and 10 cents from consumer to dealer. One hundred and fifty per cent profit for the act of delivering is considered unreasonable by Mr. Cotton.

Mr. Townsend is particularly anxious that there be harmony among all classes and that the industry be reduced to a purely business basis, where cleanliness will be not a matter of sentiment, so much as a necessity, if the business is to be continued.

Dr. White's aggressive attitude in requiring the tuberculin test for dairy cows and in insisting upon high standards of cleanliness as a measure of public health protection, is well known. Mr. Schumerlich is not well known, but was recommended for the appointment on the important committee by many of the dairymen and dairy interests.

The commercial club will have sent out 30,000 pieces of literature this month.

GRAY HAIRS BANISHED.

The old idea of using sage for darkening the hair is again coming in vogue. Our grandmothers used to have dark, glossy hair at the age of seventy-five, while our mothers have white hair before they are fifty. Our grandmothers used to make a "sage tea" and apply it to their hair. The tea made their hair soft and glossy and gradually restored the natural color. One objection to using such a preparation was the trouble of making it, especially as it had to be made every two or three days on account of its soiling quickly. This objection has been overcome and by asking almost any first-class druggist for Wyrth's Sage and Sulphur the public can get a superior preparation of sage, with the addition of sulphur, another valuable remedy for hair and scalp troubles. Daily use of this preparation will not only quickly restore the color of the hair but will also stop the hair from falling out and make it grow. It is sold by all druggists for 50c, and $1.00 a bottle, or a visit direct by the Wyrth Chemical Company, 74 Cortland St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

IN SOCIETY

Sig. and Mrs. Alessandro Bonci and Harold Osborne Smith.

Bonci's brilliant accompanist, were guests of honor at a dinner preleaded over last evening by Mrs. Rose Bloch Bauer, in her handsome home on Nineteenth street north. An artistic motif of yellow, was used in all appointments of the dinner. Yellow tulip, daffodils and candles shined in yellow made an attractive board on which were marked covers for eight.

An interesting engagement recently made known at a family dinner is that of Miss Letitia McKinnon and Carleton Harding, both members of prominent pioneer families. Miss McKinnon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McKinnon, East Salmon street. Mr. Harding is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Harding, of Oregon City. He is a Berkeley graduate and a member of the Phi Psi fraternity. The date of the wedding has not yet been decided upon.

During Bonci's stay in Portland, Miss Muriel Williams was accorded the privilege of singing for the great tenor and in so doing won his hearty praise and the declaration that she should by all means continue her musical career. Bonci pronounced Miss Williams' tone perfect, good and was pleased that she let the quality of her voice speak for itself instead of making a possible sacrifice for big tones. Bonci was so taken with one of Miss Williams' songs, a folk song by Hindach, that it is to be added to his repertoire, he said.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. McCracken are home from the south where they have been for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Lewis were registered at the Palace in San Francisco yesterday.

Dr. William Hiram Poulsen read the marriage service at 8 o'clock last evening in the First Presbyterian church which made Miss Daisy Dean the bride of Chester Holt Struble of Holyoke, Mass. Palms decorated the church with pleasing effect. The bride wore a gown of white satin, rich with trimmings of duchesse lace. Over her tulle veil was a beautiful veil of chantilly lace caught in place with orange blossoms. The bride bouquet was a shower of bride roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. William Baker (Mrs. Helen Hudson) was the honor. She wore her wedding gown of white satin with a picture hat of pink. Her flowers were pink roses. Charles Dean, brother of the bride, acted as best man and the ushers were William Baker, Mr. Buxton, Richard Elyce and Mr. Booth. Following the wedding, which was attended by about 200, an informal reception was held at the Dean home when some 70 friends came to extend good wishes. Pink carnations were used to decorate the house. Mrs. Dean was gowned in black mirlouette and lace over champagne silk. Mrs. Struble is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Dean and a sister of Charles Dean. Mr. Struble is a Lehigh man and a member of the Phi Psi. Mr. and Mrs. Struble left this morning for their home in Holyoke, stopping en route at Washington, D. C., New York and Baltimore, Mrs. Struble's former home.

Mrs. W. B. Scott entertained with five tables of bridge Tuesday for Mrs. Oliver King Jeffery, when prizes were won by Mrs. Jeffery and Miss Alice Dougherty. Mrs. Struble is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Dean and a sister of Charles Dean. Mr. Struble is a Lehigh man and a member of the Phi Psi. Mr. and Mrs. Struble left this morning for their home in Holyoke, stopping en route at Washington, D. C., New York and Baltimore, Mrs. Struble's former home.

REWARD OF $750 SPURS

which the detectives might work. Several well known citizens and business men called Chief Cox on the telephone today and told him that they would contribute money to swell the rewards. Even members of the detective department volunteered to help increase the reward.

The autopsy held by Coroner Ben Norden yesterday afternoon showed that the girl had been suffocated to death. This, aver the officers, indicates that the girl was murdered in the room in which she was found; when the man started to attack her she attempted to make an outcry and he threw the bed-clothing over her and smothered her.

No Noise Is Heard.

The occupants of rooms 9 and 11, in the Nelson rooming house, said today that they were in the rooms all of the evening of Tuesday, but did not hear any noise coming from No. 10. The partitions are thin and it would not take much noise to rouse the whole house.

Voellin Holtzman, the father of the child, is lending every help to the officers. He is working with them on every clue that turns up. He has quit work at his trade for the time being.

It is believed that the assault took place at about 3 o'clock in the afternoon of Tuesday. Mrs. Lydia Mattheison, who lives near the corner of Mississippi avenue and Morris street, and is an intimate acquaintance of the Holtzman family, declared she saw the child going in front of her home at about 2:30 o'clock. She was going in the direction of the rooming house where she was later found dead.

BANQUET IS HELD BY PORTLAND CREDIT MEN

Members of the Portland Association of Credit Men held their monthly meeting, accompanied by a banquet, at the Commercial club last evening. More than 100 business men were present.

J. W. Briscoe, district auditor of the General Electric Co., and chairman of the committee on credit department methods, delivered an excellent talk on the necessity of, system and proper methods in the credit department. He urged credit men to recognize their position between customers and the house, to cultivate warm feelings and to assist the sales organization as much as possible.

Several credit department forms were thrown upon canvass, accompanied by a talk by L. B. Smith, secretary of the association. A model credit department was on exhibit and attracted much attention.

MILBURY FALLS FOUR STORIES DOWN SHAFT

Milbury Corp., a bricklayer, who recently came here from Dexter, Ohio, fell four stories down an elevator shaft in the new Corey Motor Car Co. building at Twenty-first and Washington streets Monday and cut his cheek through from mouth to ear. He was taken to St. Vincent's hospital, where he is recovering.

CAN TRUE LOVE EVER DIE?

By Darra More.

TRUE love never dies. The physical soon crumbles away, but true love is eternal, deathless. The heart may have a few drifting fancies and spasmodic flutters, but there is only one real love. It may be modified, moderated, tempered as the years go by, but it never ceases. Disloyalty, deception, infidelity, cruelty, cannot strangle true love. It may withdraw within its shell, but the electric spark never goes out. Nor does the death of the one kill the love of the other. The living one goes on existing upon the memory of the love-filled years that have gone before, inaccessible, impervious to the admiring eyes that may surround.

And when we speak of true love, we do not necessarily mean the love of husband and wife. Some of the greatest love stories ever written have been those that have known no marriage. There are those whose love has been unrequited, spurned, who "have sat, like Patience on a monument, smiling at grief"—true, loyal, constant until death. There are those who have loved too late, and have found their one great love bound to another. They have followed the single foot-path of a love that knows no change even though the object of their devotion is beyond their reach. These are others basking in the love that they covet, they see others receiving the caresses that they have longed for—silently, bravely they fight their way, loving greatly, loving truly until the end, with never a moan of their disappointment.

There are women whose husbands beat them, bruise them, women who go out by the day to wash and scrub, only to bring their earnings home to be squandered by a man-brute. In every police court you will see these same women, disfigured, deformed, lying to protect the beasts that struck them. There are women who have been petted and pampered, who go stumbling down to the depths of poverty and disgrace with the men they love without a complaint. There are men who work their fingers raw and their brains mad that the objects of their affection may be warm and happy. There are men who endure the tortures of Hades from thoughtless, heartless women, and who accept ruin and oblivion because of their wild caprices and still love truly.

There are many whose bosoms harbor a love that knows no change, no death.

in fact, their cases are so common that nobody ever bothers to write about them—and who nowadays is interested in the commonplace man and woman who really love each other? If they were written about, nobody would read. It is the sensational, the unusual, that appeals to our modern fancy. But, towering high above the vulgar mass, avoiding the prying eyes of publicity, self sufficient, perpetual is true love, the most perfect heaven known to mortals.
