Second Installment of Like Amount Sent Today; Saves Lives of 2500.

Ben Selling cabled the second $5000 for the relief of Chinese famine victims to Quan Kai at Hongkong this morning. Mr. Selling had not received the entire amount in popular subscriptions, but reports of the terrible destitution and suffering in the Chinese provinces so moved him that he decided to send the entire amount at once.

Ben Selling cabled the second $5000 for the relief of Chinese famine victims to Quan Kai at Hongkong this morning.

It is estimated that every $2 given will keep the life in the body of one famine victim until the crops are ripe. The $5000 sent today will save the lives of 2500 people. The entire $10,000, half of which was sent by Mr. Selling some time ago, will save 5000 lives.

It will continue to receive gifts of money for the sufferers in China," said Mr. Selling this morning.

"but I will not solicit any more contributions. I believe, however, there are a good many people who will be willing to contribute $2 each for the sake of saving a human life, and all received will be sent forward to the famine district as speedily as possible."

Quan Kai is the agent of the Portland Flouring Mills in China and expects to come to America next month.

Upon his arrival in Portland it is expected that he will tell from first hand knowledge the good done by the money contributed by generous people of Portland and Oregon through the single handed efforts of Mr. Selling.

It has been arranged that there shall be no expense whatever connected with distributing the food, which the money given buys, so that every dollar does one hundred cents of service.

A dollar will buy several times as much in China as it does here.
