

WITNESSES FAVOR
ROY McCLALLEN

State Has 10 on Stand This Forenoon Who Do Nothing to Help Its Case.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Roseburg, Or., May 26.—The state's case against Roy McClallen, on trial for the Mahan murder was not strengthened any by this morning's evidence, except for the statement of Mahan's sister, Mrs. F. B. McCord, and Jack Gorman, that Mahan habitually carried an automatic pistol. In all 10 witnesses testified during the forenoon. They were Sheriff George Quine, Dr. George E. Houck, who made the post-mortem examination; Jack Gorman, P. M. Mathews, Mayor Haynes, Grant Clayton, L. V. Luse, Mrs. F. B. McCord, Ben Baldwin and Court Reporter I. B. Riddle.

Taking of testimony in the McClallen trial began at 2:30 yesterday afternoon. Attorney E. L. Eddy, assisting the district attorney in the prosecution, delivered the opening statement upon behalf of the state, and said it was expected to prove that the murder was committed without great provocation. Mr. Eddy placed special stress on the location of the wounds sustained by Mahan, and alleged that the state expected to prove that Mahan was standing with his back to McClallen at the time the fatal shot was fired.

Straight Self-Defense Plea.
The defense in its opening statement said it would prove that Mahan was insane with jealousy, and further that he had repeatedly uttered threats against McClallen. The defense maintained that the act was justified under the laws of self-defense, and that such a theory would be carried out by the attorneys for the defense throughout the trial.

The first seven witnesses called by the state were Coroner N. T. Jewett, W. B. Hammitte, an undertaker; Mayor F. W. Haynes, George Culver, Charles Taber, Dr. J. H. Vinell and George V. Goodwin. The first five merely reiterated minor details of the case brought out at the coroner's inquest. By Dr. Vinell the state expected to prove that Mahan could not readily have drawn the revolver found in the right hand hip pocket of his trousers, as McClallen declared he attempted to do before bringing his gun into play.

Dr. Vinell was one of the first men to reach Mahan after he fell to the sidewalk. He testified that the coat which Mahan wore was buttoned at the top only, that his sweater vest was buttoned for its entire length, and that he wore dress gloves. The revolver taken from Mahan's pocket, he said, contained a cartridge in the breech ready for discharge.

George Goodwin, another witness, was crossing the street a few feet ahead of Mahan when the first shot fired by McClallen caused him to turn around. Mahan was standing on the edge of the sidewalk facing McClallen, he said. He heard two more shots, and then Mahan turned around, staggered out into the street, then back to the sidewalk and fell. Goodwin did not make the statement that Mahan was retreating from McClallen while the latter was shooting at him, as was expected. This weakens the state's case considerably, for no person is known to have had such a close and clear view of the tragedy as did Goodwin, with the sole exception of Miss Spelcher—who was in McClallen's company at the time of the tragedy—whose testimony is expected to corroborate the declaration of McClallen that he acted in self-defense.

decided the committee in charge of preparations for the parade at a meeting last night in the offices of the chairman, Dr. Emmett Drake.

"Entries must be properly decorated with roses or tropical flowers," said E. O. Downing, grand marshal of the parade, this morning. "The competition is so keen, the standard of the parade so high, and the prizes offered so valuable, that we do not want to have any carelessly gotten up exhibits or floats entered."

After passing upon the list of entries already filed, the committee decided last night that the horse and vehicle parade on Thursday of Rose Festival week is an assured success.

The line of march is laid out, the extent of the parade has been determined. There will be entries not only from neighboring towns, as well as from Portland and Seattle, it was announced this morning, but undoubtedly there will be an entry from each of the three high schools, with a special prize for the most unique and best decorated.

SYMPTOMS OF VILLAGE DISEASE APPEARING IN CITY OF WALLA WALLA

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Walla Walla, Wash., May 26.—That Walla Walla is returning to the days of villagehood is charged by some of the more progressive residents. First and foremost, they state that within a radius of seven blocks of the business center of the city, 14 cows were found picketed across the sidewalks, and one bull. Parkings grown up to rank grass along vacant lots, and parkings which the owners of inhabited lots were deliberately pasturing, as well as grass grown streets being utilized for feed, are cited. Vacant lots overgrown with weeds is another illustration to be cited if the committee, self-appointed, reports to the city council at the next meeting, as it proposes to do. Loose chickens, unclean alleys and many similar charges, it is said, are to be made. It is thought to be a prelection move.
