

HATCHET SHOULD BE BURIED, SAYS RAILROAD HEAD

Traffic Manager of C., M. & P. S. Believes Portland and Seattle Do Too Much Villifying of Each Other.

"Friendly rivalry does no harm, but insistent and persistent knocking should be discontinued," said R. W. Calkins, traffic manager of the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound Railway in discussing with a number of newspaper men and railroad officials at Seattle Thursday how best and most effectively to promote development of the Pacific northwest.

"Knocking never does pay and both Seattle and Portland would find it a mutual advantage to bury the hatchet and harmonize. Narrow minded, indeed, must be the person who cannot see an abundance of room for more than one large metropolis in the Pacific northwest or on the Pacific coast. Knocking will not prevent the growth of the cities nor will it mean the death blow to any city, but it does no good and by working in harmony, I am sure much better results could be obtained.

One Helped, Other Aided.
"Anything that benefits Seattle will indirectly benefit Portland, and vice versa, and it should not be lost sight of that the effect of an injury to one is felt by the other.

"We are in need of a larger population in the Pacific northwest, not in the cities, but in the country. We need tillers of the soil, men who will work on the farms. Upon this, I think, we all agree. The prosperity of the cities depends largely upon the development and the prosperity of the country, and since most of the cities of the Pacific northwest are in agricultural districts, it should be to the interest of us all to work in harmony for the development of the bountiful natural resources.

Chicken Raisers Needed.
"Think of it, on Puget sound, we have to import farm products in very large quantities to keep our city people alive. We must import butter, yet ours is an ideal dairy country where the grass grows green the year round. Again I had occasion to learn that we have had a great deal of trouble to get cartloads of chickens to supply our market for a short period. Think of it, have to send back into the middle states for poultry to supply our tables, when the best birds could be raised at our very doors. All because of the fact that we have not the people to raise these chickens.

"And potatoes. I am in position to know that several carloads are now en route to Seattle from Ohio and other states. Yet potatoes will grow in abundance and of the very finest quality anywhere in the state and in Oregon.

"We should bend every energy to induce the industrious farmer to come here and build for himself a home and an independence, which he surely can do when so generously aided by nature, and then we should help him get a start.

"I have reason to believe that the opening of the Panama canal will in a large measure solve the problem now confronting us, for it will make it possible to bring direct to the Pacific coast people acquainted with farm work from northern Europe who love to own and till the soil. In the meantime we should not let the cities suffer from the lack of development of our natural resources.

"The settler should not be expected to pay fancy prices for land distant from cities for he can in most instances not afford it. Large landowners should be satisfied with a fair profit. Nor should everybody be encouraged to attempt to grow apples or fruit. Diversified or intensive farming will pay most substantial returns and prove most satisfactory all round. Man does not live on apples alone; there is a greater demand for beef and pork, or butter and cheese than for fruit, and they are staples that seldom fluctuate very much.

We Want Cheap Beef.
"The days of cheap beef, have passed. We will never hear of a cent beef any more. The demand is steadily increasing whereas the supply is diminishing. We have packing plants within easy reach, a tremendous advantage as compared with a few years ago, and this should prove a strong inducement for intensive farming and stock raising.
"The farmer with a tract that he, with the aid of his family, can well care for without having to rely upon hired help, will soon be the man to envy, for under conditions that exist here he should soon become independent.
"The thing for the people of Portland and Seattle and all other cities in the Pacific northwest to do is to pull together in the most harmonious manner for a larger rural population both in Oregon and Washington and the development of the farming industry at least to an extent that we do not have to send to less favored districts for our farm products."

THREE LARGE DEALS IN REAL ESTATE MADE

E. J. Daly closed three considerable deals in real estate yesterday, the considerations aggregating $22,500. The largest sale involved a 2x100 foot lot located at the northeast corner of Union avenue and East Burnside street, which was taken over by a local investor for $27,500. A large three-story building known as the Gibson hotel occupies the lot. Dr. E. F. Foy sold through Mr. Daly a 23x250 foot parcel at the northeast corner of Eighth and Pender streets for $15,000.
Four acres of Abernathy Heights property was purchased by Mr. Daly. The consideration amounting to $10,000. This tract adjoins the Lockwood home and is near the handsome new residence under construction for Hunt Lewis.
Ground was broken last week at the northwest corner of Grand avenue and Belmont street for the four-story combination rooming and store building to be erected by Edwards & Daly. This structure is to be the handsomest building of its kind on the East Side. Its estimated cost is $75,000.
Strong Brothers have begun wrecking the old frame building at the northwest corner of East Sixth and Morrison streets, preparatory to the erection of a five-story brick hotel covering the quarter block.

CIVIC COUNCIL TO STUDY NEW PLAN

Commission Form of Government to Be Discussed by Improvement Clubs.

The Civic Council, composed of representatives from all East Side improvement clubs, will systematically study the commission plan of government. A call was issued yesterday by the secretary, Sherman W. Walker, for a meeting of the Civic Council to be held tomorrow evening, 8 o'clock. It will be the time of the regular meeting of the council. The call issued by Mr. Walker reads:
"The regular meeting of the Civic Council for May will be held in the convention hall of the Commercial club on Monday evening, May 29, at 8 o'clock. The principal topic for discussion will be the commission form of government for our city. The Civic Council realizes the necessity for research into the commission forms now in use in order to form a commission plan which will work out well.
"D. O. Lively has accepted an invitation to address the meeting. Mr. Lively comes here from Texas and is familiar with the Galveston and Dallas plans, which were among the first to be adopted and are now among the most successful in operation in the United States. He is an interesting talker and will give information which will be of value to our organization.
"This meeting will be open to the members of all the improvement organizations of the city, whether they hold membership in the Civic Council or not, and you are invited and urged to have as many members of your organization present as possible."
This call was sent to the officers of all the improvement associations whose addresses were filed with the Civic Council.

OREGON "U" WINS ORATORICAL CONTEST

Seattle, Wash., May 27.—With his subject, "Land and the Immigrant," C. W. Robinson, of the University of Oregon, won the triangular oratorical contest here last night. By winning first place, Robinson will receive a cash prize of $75, which is awarded annually by the King County Bar association. Fred R. Angerine, representing the University of Washington, gave an oration on "International Justice." Miss Florence Matthews, the Montana contestant was unable to be present.

PARENT FINED FOR FAILING TO KEEP DAUGHTER IN SCHOOL

Judge Gates of the circuit court and head of the juvenile court system, yesterday invoked the law that parents are held responsible for the attendance of their children at school. He fined Carl Denner, 789 East Twelfth street north, $5 for allowing his daughter to be absent a large part of the time the last two months.
The judge said that there was no one in a better position to compel attendance at school than the parent, and the probation officer was instructed to give special attention to the cases where boys and girls are found absent or tardy. The fine given Denner was suspended as long as he keeps faith with the judge.

VOTE 118 YES ON GARBAGE ISSUE ADVISES LEADER

Mrs. Sadie Dunbar, Chairman of Public Health Body of Federation of Women's Clubs, Sounds Slogan.

"Vote 118 Yes—For Municipal Garbage Collection."
This brief statement was issued yesterday by Mrs. Sadie Dunbar, chairman of the public health committee of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, who has been leading the campaign in behalf of the proposed $75,000 bond issue with which to buy equipment for a municipal garbage collection system.
On the sample ballots that have just been issued the number of the municipal garbage collection amendment is shown as given above. The women's organizations, health authorities, physicians and many citizens have united in an appeal for approval of the project by the voters when they go to the polls June 5.
There has as yet been no expressed opposition to the proposed $75,000 bond issue. It has been estimated that the amount economically used will purchase sanitary, non-leakable steel wagons, horses, harness, build a barn and have enough left to erect a small auxiliary garbage crematory on the East Side. During the past week speakers have appeared before the various civic organizations of Portland, and all have, without exception, endorsed the project.

Plan in Other Cities.
Harry Napier, superintendent of the garbage crematory, and one of the leading exponents of the need of municipal collection as a protection to public health, and as a public economy, addressed a letter this week to the Women's club, in which he stated that the following cities have adopted municipal collection with most satisfactory results:
Cambridge, Lynn, Springfield, Summerville, Mass.; Norfolk, Va.; Houston, Texas; Detroit, Louisville, Dayton, Ohio; Grand Rapids, Mich.; San Antonio, Birmingham, Minneapolis, Worcester, Mass., and nearly a dozen other well known cities.

"No question before the people of the city of Portland is of profounder significance in its relation to the public health than the question of collecting the garbage of the city," said Mr. Napier.
"The present method of garbage collection in Portland is unsatisfactory and objectionable and must soon be superseded by something more efficient. The daily press, public sentiment and public health require that an improvement be made as quickly as practicable.
Disgusting Failure.
"Our present system is a disgusting failure and wholly inadequate. It is expensive and dangerous from the standpoint of public health, and to continue is to court evil consequences. Portland is naturally a clean and healthful city, and has an unusually low death rate. The death rate can no doubt be reduced, and to attain this the issue of greatest importance is the garbage question. A municipal system is the only solution of the problem. Money should be provided to municipalize the present system so that it can be entirely under the control.

W. L. Finley, the new state game and fish warden, made it known yesterday that he intended to make Portland his headquarters and will open an office as soon as a suitable location can be obtained. Mr. Finley is anxious to come in touch with all true sportsmen that he may supply them with copies of the new game and fish laws passed by the last legislature. He will supply copies of these laws upon application free of charge.

LABORER KILLED, THROWN IN CREEK

Latest Murder of Inland Empire Transient Perhaps by Same Gang.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Colfax, Wash., May 27.—Coroner L. L. Bruning and Deputy Sheriff William Cole went to Malden today to investigate the finding of a man in Pine Creek under a Milwaukee Railroad bridge, east of Malden. The body was found by boys fishing and had been in the water several days. The officers could get no identification as nothing was found in the pockets but a razor and pipe. Indications are that the man was robbed and thrown from the bridge into the water.
The unfortunate man was about 40 years of age, five feet ten inches tall, weight about 180, had black hair, slightly gray, and dark mustache and wore a diamond, special shoes, black suit and black saten shirt. His underwear was marked X. X. C. His appearance is that of a well-dressed laborer. Since spring began at least half a dozen traveling laboring men have been murdered in different parts of the inland empire, possibly by the same gang. Three of the murders were committed in Oregon.

INSTALLING NEW CANNING PLANT

Lang & Co. Lease Three Story Building—Will Aid the Fruit Growers.

Lang & Co., wholesale and manufacturing grocers, the largest handlers of groceries on the Pacific coast, operating branches at Seattle, Bellingham, Medford, Baker and Lewiston, Idaho, have leased the three-story building on the southwest corner Burnside and Front streets adjoining their premises, and are now installing an up-to-date sanitary canning plant, which they hope to have in operation by June 10.
It is understood that the California Canning trust has, by purchase, succeeded in getting control of the canning industry in this state, and as a result has boosted prices on this year's pack of canned goods. It has been said that by reason of this condition, Lang & Co. were prompted to embark in the business. This move will bring about competition for the raw products, and result in higher prices to the growers.

Edwards' Credit Plan Is a Great Help to Any Man Whose Means Are Limited

The high rents and big butcher and grocery bills of today make it a difficult problem for the average workingman's family to secure the kind of home furnishings they want if they have to pay cash or submit to the exorbitant prices that the other furniture houses ask. That is the reason we have spent much time and energy to perfect an improved credit system, the kind that enables you to have the kind of home you want in spite of the present high cost of living. We most certainly now have that system, and if you will only take us into your confidence we will explain to you the workings of it. It's based upon lower prices, smaller deposits and more time to pay. See us tomorrow and let us explain to you the details of our improved credit plan.

$1 Sends this magnificent Sweet Slumber Couch to your home.
A couch of such splendid construction and made of such excellent materials could hardly be expected to be sold at the price we are asking for this one—$8.75. It would not be possible were it not for the fact that we use so many of these couches in the course of a year that we are able to buy them in tremendous quantities. This means big economies in our purchasing department. This service as an illustration of why our prices are so much lower than other houses in our line. With this tremendous buying power of ours it is no wonder why we are able to underbill all others anywhere from 10 to 25 per cent.
