

SIMON ASKS FOLK TO FORGET PAST, SAYS RUSHLIGHT

Candidate Says, Also, That He Stands on His Record; Accuses Simon of Organizing New Machine.

A. G. Rushlight, the Republican nominee for mayor, in a statement today again bombards Mayor Simon for his independent candidacy, charges him with organizing a new machine, and accuses him of favoritism to members of the present park and executive boards. He also declares the mayor is guilty of undue generosity to the Portland Railway, Light & Power company in the settlement of the disputed lighting claim carried over from the Lane administration.

The Republican candidate also gives a share of his attention to the political acrobatics of the Oregonian, and says that while that newspaper has asked the public to forget the mayor's past, he is standing on his own record as a member of the council. He ridicules the effort of the Simon forces to create the belief that his election will frighten capital, saying that fair treatment of all classes will have no such effect.

Mr. Rushlight's statement reads: "It is interesting and amusing to note that the Morning Oregonian can see things in any light that its fancy leads it. It would make the voters of this city believe that the great principles of the direct primary law were only fancy, and should be set aside when this near Republican organ advises it."

Mr. Simon and his millionaire club of political managers would make the voters believe that the system whereby the home owners and taxpayers have the right to select their own candidates for the various offices within their gift, is bad and dangerous, and should be repudiated, and would no doubt advise, did they care to go back to the old days when one man could dictate the policies of the great Republican party.

The people that live in Portland today would be amazed could they take the files of the Oregonian and read what clever acrobatic feats it could perform with its political policies. This same paper, in years gone by, has condemned Mr. Simon just as severely as it is attempting to condemn him at this time.

Want Past Forgotten. "The Oregonian yesterday morning, editorially advised the people to forget Mr. Simon's past, and it promises great things for him in the future. I have no apologies to make for my past, and I feel certain that if elected mayor of this city, that when my past is reviewed, it will not be a source of apology."

FOUR LEAF CLOVER LOSES ITS POWER

Only Piece of Jewelry Not Recovered From Burglars Held Lucky Plant.

"I put a four leaf clover in the pocket that the burglars took from our house Saturday night, and it is the only piece of jewelry that has not been recovered," said Miss Hattie Gruss of 414 Elliot avenue this morning at police headquarters where she was checking up the valuables recovered from Joe Doyle and James W. Riley the two men arrested for the burglary of the Gruss home.

The Gruss home is one of the most valuable in the city, and the great factories and industries would not be surprised if that our gates would be locked against outside capital.

"I would advise Mr. Simon's new machine to give the people credit for possessing some little intelligence. Fair treatment to all classes will not disrupt or disorganize any condition that is honest and just."

"The Oregonian commends Mr. Simon's administration as one of the executive and business ability. Will it explain why Mr. Simon entered into an agreement with Dr. J. R. Werthebe, a member of the park board, to lay water mains for the King's Heights addition, of which Dr. Werthebe is one of the principal owners, at a cost of $10,000, where there is not a house built, and which is purely a speculative scheme, while on the other hand any number of districts, where small property owners live, are famishing for the want of water for actual domestic purposes?"

Kind to Executive Board. "Will the Oregonian explain why Mr. Simon has always been kind to members of his executive board? Negotiations are now pending for the purchase of the Woodmere water plant, in which Mr. Brown, another member of his executive board, is the principal owner. One of the considerations of the purchase of this water system of small pipes and inadequate service, is the furnishing of free water to a sawmill in the vicinity for four years, the consideration for which Mr. Brown has in his pocket. Does Mr. Brown also own an interest in this sawmill?"

"Will the Oregonian explain why Mr. Simon paid the Portland Railway, Light & Power company $23,000 for lighting, a disputed claim which this company was afraid to take into court, knowing full well it had no standing there, and which Mr. Simon so generously settled? Many questions can be asked regarding Mr. Simon's so called business administration."

TWO WOMEN HURT IN AUTO SMASH

Mrs. C. E. Hulbert and Mrs. H. L. Holmes Confined to Hospital.

While Roy M. Hulbert, a Vancouver real estate man, was driving in an auto belonging to Fred W. Frasp, a former deputy in the county clerk's office, along the Base Line road at 1 o'clock this morning, the car which was speeding at the rate of 40 miles an hour with no lights, was turned off the road at the Mount Tabor fork and ran up an embankment. The machine turned over pinning all the occupants of the car underneath.

Mrs. C. E. Hulbert, the driver's mother, sustained a compound fracture of the right leg just above the knee; Mrs. Harry L. Holmes, Hulbert's sister, sustained a broken arm and Hulbert and Frasp were both scratched up.

The Red Cross ambulance was notified several hours later when the police were also notified. The two women in the meantime had been taken to Mrs. Holmes' residence at 1105 East Salmon street and from there were removed to St. Vincent's hospital early this morning.

The auto was badly wrecked although not put completely out of commission. Both women will be in the hospital for some time as the injuries sustained are very serious and internal injuries are believed to have been sustained.

and that although the foreign companies were doing their principal business abroad, they also operated in the United States.

Both the tobacco company and the government appealed from the decision—the former seeking to have the entire decision set aside, and the government, in the hope of having it affirmed and strengthened by inclusion of the other companies.

OLYMPIAN LIMITED BEGINS ITS FIRST TRIP

(United Press Leased Wire.) Tacoma, Wash., May 29.—Transcontinental passenger service on the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound railroad between Tacoma and Chicago was inaugurated this morning when the Olympian limited pulled out for the east amid the cheers of the hundreds of persons who had congregated at the station. Although local service has been maintained by the Milwaukee line for nearly two years, today marks the beginning of through passenger service on a fast schedule. The roadbed has been pounded into perfect condition by the heavy freight traffic and officials of the company say there will be no difficulty in maintaining the 12 hour service on which the two all steel trains will travel daily in each direction. The Olympian this morning was gaily decorated with flowers and bunting and every berth was taken.

DECLARES TRAINS ARE GRANDEST IN WORLD

J. R. Vetch, district freight agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound railway, returned this morning from Seattle and Tacoma where he inspected the new steel trains that began service this morning between Puget Sound and Chicago.

"The Olympian" went out this morning from Tacoma and Seattle absolutely full, and this evening the "Columbian" will leave filled to capacity. These trains are without doubt the grandest in the world, and it is putting it mildly to say that I was pleasantly surprised when I saw them.

"It is only a matter of time when the service will be extended to Portland." Martin Geary, of the Rock Island line, who was one of the Portland delegation that went up to inspect the new trains, also returned this morning.

WILSON DOESN'T WANT TO BE POLICE CHIEF

"In the first place, I don't want to be chief of police. My business is much more profitable, and I have some peace of mind. In the next place, I am not a supporter of Mayor Simon, and will do what I can to defeat him in the coming election."

This is the way in which J. T. Wilson refutes a report that he might be appointed by Mayor Simon as the successor of Chief of Police Cox. He is an auctioneer and a prominent member of the municipal association. He thinks the report connecting his name with the appointment of chief was intended to help the Simon campaign. There is no foundation for it, he declares, for he is fighting the other way.

DR. YOAKUM'S ADDRESS DRAWS VAST CROWDS

The Second Baptist church at East 7th and Ankeny streets was crowded yesterday all day from 10 o'clock in the morning till 10 o'clock in the evening when Dr. Yoakum talked on "Who Is My Brother?" and on "White Heated Love." After the discourse many people came to the altar. It was reported that little Grace Knickerbocker, 12 years old, was healed of adenoids and tonsillitis. Miss Ines Stevens received her speech after seven months of being utterly speechless. Mrs. Terry was present and gave testimony of being healed Saturday afternoon at her home where she had been sick with cancer for several months. Mrs. Charles V. Poull gave testimony of being delivered of tumor and kidney trouble two years ago. A young woman said she was healed of consumption two years ago. V. P. Welch, also testified of being healed several years ago of Bright's disease and several men spoke of their delivery from drink habit. James Manning, who was a sailor for several years up and down the Pacific coast, said he had been one of the worst of men, but was delivered from this terrible curse through the blood of Jesus at Pighah Home, Los Angeles, about two years ago.

Dr. Yoakum will remain till Wednesday night.

LINE TO BULL RUN NEARLY FINISHED

Mt. Hood Road Hastens Work—Facilitates Handling of Machinery.

Within two weeks, the Mount Hood Railway & Power company will have its rails laid to the power plant on the Bull Run river. This prediction was made this morning by treasurer H. N. Mabery. This will not mean that the line will be ready for general traffic by that time, but that it will be possible for the company to ship to the power house the machinery required for producing the 60,000 horsepower of energy that this plant is to generate.

The machinery, or the greater part of it, has already arrived in Portland and the immense penstocks that will lead the water from the reservoir to the power wheels have already been transported a goodly portion of the distance to Bull Run by them.

Completion of track laying will dispense of a great deal of hauling by wagon and auto trucks, and will therefore hasten the construction work materially. The reinforced concrete foundation for the power plant was completed some time ago and nothing further can be done on the massive structure until the machinery has been installed as it will have to be built in. The immense penstocks will be laid in tunnels lined with concrete.

The plans are to have the power house ready for operation by October 1 when it is hoped also to have the line ready for the operation of the electric cars. In the meantime steam will be the motive power.

The company's auxiliary steam electric plant on the peninsula is now running at a slight, and generating power for customers. This equipment has capacity for generating 4000 horsepower.

The office will be connected with that of the state game warden and the two will be located in the Yeon building. It is the desire of the state board of game and fish commissioners to have the two offices worked in close harmony.

Some of the land eliminated reverted to the government and was later included in the national forest, of which the state secured 152,600 acres, which are now lying idle; 526,629 acres passed from the title of the government to private owners. Of this, 31 individuals and corporations now own the land. A total of 765,800 acres was eliminated from that reserve in 1901, on the grounds that the lands were chiefly valuable for agriculture, that further development of that section of the state would be prevented, and that the financial condition of the country and which the land was located would be greatly injured through loss of taxes from the land.

Little Under Cultivation. "On timber claims held by 100 settlers the total area under cultivation is only 570 acres, or 5.7 each. That is the average. The stimulation of timber lands for homestead entry does not bring settlement of the lands if the timber value is greater than its agricultural value, because where the timber value is greater, as soon as the land passes to patent the homestead entryman can sell his place for a much greater price to the timberman than it is worth for agricultural purposes, and consequently the natural thing that happens is that it passes into the hands of timbermen.
