Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Jackson returned yesterday from the east, where Mrs. Jackson has been for the last three months and Mr. Jackson since the middle of April. Mrs. Jackson went by way of Los Angeles, New Orleans, Birmingham, where she visited relatives, Atlanta and Richmond, Va., where she was met by Philip Jackson who spent his Easter vacation there with his mother. From Virginia Mrs. Jackson went to Washington, D. C., where she attended the D. A. R. meeting as a delegate from Oregon in company with Mrs. Warren E. Thomas and Mrs. Wallace McCamant. Philadelphia was also on Mrs. Jackson's itinerary as was Carlele, where she was the guest of Miss Gardner. In New York she was met by Mr. Jackson and the most interesting portion of their journey came later when they spent considerable time looking up the old colonial churches in Virginia, many of which have been restored to their original condition during the last five or six years. The Jacksons attended "The Pilgrimage" which is an annual event of May 13 in Jamestown, Va., held in celebration of the first white settlement in America in 1607. Philip Jackson will be graduated from Haverford preparatory school on June 13 and will return to Portland the very last of the month.

Miss Joan Brownlie will be graduated from Oakman on Wednesday and start immediately for home, reaching here the last of this week or the first of next.

To be sure of good weather this year, Tuesday, June 6, has been chosen as the annual Baby Home tag day and those in charge are now busy completing arrangements for its success. Practically the same chaperones will be in charge this year and the young women of the Junior auxiliary of the Baby Home, under the direction of Dorothy and others, will sell the tags.

Colonel Gardner was called to command the Department of the Columbia in March during the absence of General Marion Maus. Colonel and Mrs. Gardner had headquarters in Portland where they made many friends during their stay. Mrs. Gardner was Miss Patton, of Detroit, before her marriage. The Gardners sail today on the Jefferson.

Miss Gertrude Emily Gaynor, daughter of Mayor William J. Gaynor of New York, who eloped to Wilmington, Del., and was married to William Seward Webb Jr., son of Dr. William Seward Webb and grandson of William H. Vanderbilt. Miss Gaynor and Mr. Webb were accompanied by Mrs. Edith Vingut, a sister of the bride, and her husband, Harry K. Vingut, who themselves eloped to Wilmington and were married less than a year ago. The new Mrs. Webb is one of the prettiest and most popular of the younger set of New York society.

OREGON CONGRESS OF MOTHERS AND PARENT TEACHER CIRCLES

"To Cure Is the Voice of the Past; to Prevent the Divine Whisper of Today"

THE CONGRESS of Mothers and Parent-Teachers association originated from the consciousness of certain parents that there was a necessity for some intelligent and concerted action in the rearing, training and teaching of the offspring of all mothers.

Doubtless some of these women were enlightened on these subjects and were rearing and training their children with the greatest care, according to the limits of their wisdom, but the greatest wisdom they displayed was when they determined that other women should share in the blessings they had enjoyed by the achievement of their efforts.

The point that it is now desired to emphasize is that the first thing necessary to initiate any reform, any advance, is to be very conscious of its necessity. Parents must learn to think for themselves, and not rely on the judgment and opinion of others, if they form their course of actions on the mold of another, they have not made much advance, but if they are conscious of the desirability, the advantage and the necessity of any course of action, it is always satisfactory to find it confirmed by the united testimony of others.

Most mothers feel they need strength and wisdom in the training of their children; the most capable, perhaps, might realize this more fully than those not so highly endowed. These capable and good mothers are apt to invoke divine aid and guidance in their efforts; this may or may not be a factor in their success, but it is perfectly evident that the aid the child obtains is from the parent; that seems to be God's way of answering such appeals for aid. The mother can be God's aid, and if she realizes this, she can do the things that will produce the results she desires to obtain.

It is a new idea to most women that mothers can aid one another. It is a modern thought that parents and teachers can be beneficially brought together for mutual welfare; women are becoming more and more aware of its advantages; noble women are devoting their leisure energy to the cause; thousands of women in all the states are responding to the call; they perceive their own limitations and they welcome the light that is dawning for them; it is a new era in womanhood; it will continue to expand until it reaches to every home, and with its expansion will come an ever increasing consciousness of higher, purer, nobler life.

We have made the start, we have taken the initial step, we are aware of the necessity for it, and we shall learn from the wisdom of others that if we are to accomplish any good we must do it, not ask for it, wait for it, hope for it, long for it, or pray for it, though we may well pray for strength to be given us to learn wisdom.

BABY STRAYS FROM HOME, DROWNS IN WILD HORSE

Athena, Or., May 29.—Thomas Parr, the 18-months' old son of Isaac Parr, a prominent resident of Athena, was drowned yesterday afternoon in Wild Horse creek at his home, seven miles south of town. Mr. Parr's home being on the creek, the child strayed down to the stream and was missed in a very few moments. The parents went out to look for the little boy the parents were horrified to discover him in the water with his head bobbing up and down out of the creek. They quickly got him out, but it was too late to attempt to resuscitate him. The inquest was held by Justice of the Peace E. B. Richards of this city. The funeral is being held at the home of the child's parents this afternoon under the auspices of the Catholic church.

For Your Hair

Here Are Facts We Want You to Prove at Our Risk.

Marvelous as it may seem, Rexall "93" Hair Tonic has grown hair on heads that were once bald. Of course it is understood that in none of these cases were the hair roots dead nor had the scalp taken on a glazed, shiny appearance.

When the roots of the hair are entirely dead and the pores of the scalp are glazed over, we do not believe that anything can restore hair growth.

When Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will do as above stated, it is not strange that we have such great faith in it and that we claim it will prevent baldness when used in time. It acts scientifically, destroying the germs which are usually responsible for baldness. It penetrates to the roots of the hair, stimulating and nourishing them. It is a most pleasant toilet necessity. It is delicate perfume and will not gum nor permanently stain the hair.

We want you to get a bottle of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and use it as directed. If it does not give scalp irritation, remove dandruff, prevent the hair from falling out and promote an increased growth of hair and in every way give entire satisfaction, simply come back and tell us and without question or formality we will hand back to you every penny you paid us for it.

We lend our indorsement to Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and sell it on this guarantee, because we believe it is the best hair tonic ever discovered. It comes in two sizes, prices $1.00 and $1.00. Rexall "93" Hair Tonic can be obtained at The Owl Drug Co., Inc., corner 14th and Washington Ave.

Circle News

The Elliot school circle has promising plans for the coming year. The election of officers resulted as follows: Mrs. Stella Van Vleet, president; Mrs. Boyer, vice president; Mrs. C. M. Brody, secretary; Mrs. Booth, treasurer. The personnel of the program committee spells success, with two teachers, two mothers and Miss Dewart of the Albina library and Mrs. Alpha as chairman, there is no question as to the character of the entertainment for the year. The aim of the committee is to get teachers of ability; speakers that will instigate and interest the teachers as well as the mothers. The committee has arranged to have good music at all meetings. The membership committee with Mrs. McCants Stewart as chairman, is another important spoke in the wheel.

Besides the regular monthly meetings, there will be "Cottage Meetings" for the benefit of those mothers who have been unable to attend the regular meeting. These will partake more of a social nature.

Last Wednesday at the Sellwood parent-teacher meeting Mrs. Thomas Hawkins aroused the mothers and teach-

For the Steamer Trip

Have a cloth suit that will stand rough wear.

Dampness and sitting in a steamer chair is ruinous to any frock.

This, if pressed after landing, will do for traveling.

Blouses of cotton crops will be found invaluable.

They may be washed and dried over night and do not need pressing.

A thick steamer rug for wrapping about one in the chair is absolutely necessary.

So is a comfortable cushion for the head.

A hot water bag should not be forgotten.

A long ulster or fur lined coat should also be in the outfit.

Even in summer it is often cold at sea and nothing makes one feel more miserable than to be cold aboard ship.

A dressing gown is important.

This should be preferably a dark one, as one's journey to the morning tub often leads one through the busy ship's corridors.

Warm bed shoes are a precaution, as ship-bins is often damp.

A cap or soft hat is also a very necessary item. This will be found a comfort when lying in the deck chair or when high winds blow.

All this may be carried in a holdall if a steamer trunk is not desired.

A Contributor to Cost of Living.

"In discussing the little-phrase cost of high living" we want to identify it with the slogan of her husband and set "Time is money." She seizes upon every time-saving device. She rushes her housekeeping as her husband rushes his employees. The result is a peculiar form of high living in the home that did not exist when more time was given to its management. Mrs. Seward's Women's Home Committee for May.

"Take the single item of marketing. Investigators have reported that only one-third of the housekeepers in American cities and towns do their own marketing. The other two-thirds entrust it to a specialist, the grocer, the butcher, the children and the telephone. In the average town where the telephone service is unlimited three-fourths of the ordering at butcher shops and groceries is done over the wire. Dealers all approve the telephone method because it is a time-saver as well as a convenience. Many of them maintain that it is fully as economical for the housewife, but actual investigation proves that this is not true. The housewife who selects her meats and green vegetables with personal care and discards comparative prices of different brands in groceries, saves from 5 to 15 per cent on her order. These figures were furnished by representatives of three reliable firms in New York, Detroit and Baltimore, and the same figures have been found to hold in smaller cities and towns. Yours may be the exception to the rule, but find out for yourself if this is so; don't take anybody's word for it."

Boneless Birds.

Round steak of veal sliced thin; breakfast bacon sliced thin; toothpicks. Cut the veal into pieces two by four inches. Cut the bacon into pieces one-half by two inches. Roll up one-half of each slice of veal. Roll up and stick a toothpick through 't hold. Season with salt and pepper. Roll in flour and brown in hot drippings. When brown cover with water, set on a low flame, and stew for two hours. When done with it when served. The size of the birds will vary—they should be about the size of the thumb or larger.

Boneless birds are delicious. One cannot recognize the meat. They are especially nice to serve at church or club dinners. They require 22 pounds of veal and five pounds of bacon, making the cost about $6.50, whereas chicken or beef would cost three times as much.

Factor. The need of playgrounds here is imperative. Every school should have one. It is the consensus of opinion of the playgrounds should be farther apart than one-half mile. It would seem wiser to spend the taxpayers' money for such absolutely necessary purposes than to acquire the high priced Council Crest and convert an already existing private amusement park into a publicly owned park. The Crest will always be in evidence whether owned privately or publicly and other equally beautiful hill tops are obtainable now at low prices and can and soon will be made accessible while land adjacent to school buildings is rapidly increasing in value. Better to vote money for such purposes than to buy Council Crest.

California—From California comes the news that the various educational bodies are recognizing the "power of good" of the Parent-Teacher associations. J. H. Francis, superintendent of schools of Los Angeles after heartily commending the work done by the association adds: "Our board of education has officially recognized their work by making them an auxiliary organization of the public schools of the city."

Dr. E. C. Moore, former superintendent of the schools in the same city says: "The Parent-Teacher association is a part of the organization of the Los Angeles city school district. It has given us strong support and assistance in our school work."

Superintendent Graham of Long Beach, Cal., says in speaking of the Parent-Teacher associations: "I heartily commend them to every school principal and superintendent. They prove a vital force for the betterment of conditions both in the home and the school. They help the home, the mother, the children, the teachers and relieve the school work from much unpleasantness."

State News

Texas gets the next national convention. F. F. Collins, director of the Civic Improvement League of San Antonio has given a playground that promises to be one of the finest in the country. It will be a mile long and two hundred feet wide its entire length and will have a long swimming pool in the center with two bath-houses. Rows of trees border it on each side and an abundance of flowers. It is said that Mr. Collins will expend $60,000 on landscape improvements.

ROSMULLALENS SOON ACQUITTED

Flaying of His Friend, the District Attorney, Did Him No Harm.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Roseburg, Or., May 29.—After four and a half hours' deliberation, the jury which heard the trial of Roy McCullagh, charged with murder in the second degree for killing Ben A. Mahan in this city on the night of March 13, returned a verdict of not guilty. The trial lasted four days. The jury retired at 9:15 o'clock Saturday night, and a verdict was agreed upon at 1:45 Sunday morning, but was not read until 2:30, as the defendant, judge and lawyers had to be summoned from their beds. The jury took eight ballots before reaching a verdict, the first reading seven for acquittal and five for conviction.

After the reading of the verdict the defendant shook hands with all the jurors and thanked them. He also shook hands with H. L. Eddy, who assisted the district attorney in the prosecution. The district attorney, however, refused to shake hands with the jury. The opinion was that McCullagh would be acquitted. The opinion is also expressed that Judge Cook's instructions to the jury favored the accused man to a great extent. McCullagh was sleeping soundly when an officer summoned him to court to appear to hear the verdict. Previous assertions from many people that District Attorney Brown's prosecution of the case would lack his usual vigor because of his long association with McCullagh in court work was disproved in the closing argument for the state. Never was there a man on trial in the circuit court in this city who was flayed any harder than was McCullagh at Brown's hands last Saturday night.

Hillboro Water to Be Filtered

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Hillboro, Or., May 29.—The city water company has received a Roberts pressure filter and has arranged that all city water will pass through it. Hillboro's supply is drawn from a deep well reaching the underground flow from the mountains and a second well in Garden Creek addition is nearing completion. Tests of the water from both wells have shown no impurities, but recent rapid growth caused the company to prepare for the future while extensive improvements of the system were being made.

Semi-Centennial of Battle

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Philippi, W. Va., May 29.—The great Home-coming week, arranged by the local board of trade and the citizens of Philippi in general, to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the first land engagement of the Civil war, which took place at Philippi, began this morning under the most auspicious conditions. The town is full of visitors from all parts of the state and the crowd is constantly swelled by new arrivals.

The official celebration began this morning with a military salute and later in the day a grand mass meeting was held, presided over by Judge Aiston G. Dayton, Mayor J. Blackburn Ware welcomed the visitors and J. Hop Woods extended the greetings of the old soldiers in attendance. The response was made by Dr. G. W. H. Kemper, of Muncie, Ind. The program for the rest of the day included a balloon ascension, a band concert, and several addresses.

Special programs have been arranged for every day of the week, especially for Decoration day and for Saturday, June 3, the closing day of the celebration, which is the actual anniversary of the engagement at Philippi. One day has been set apart for the old soldiers, one for the ladies, and one for the native West Virginians who came back to the "mountain state" for this occasion.

To Discuss Training

Boston, Mass., May 29.—Many delegates from all over the country are in attendance at the annual meeting of the American Society of Superintendents of Training Schools for Nurses, which opened a three days' session at Park Street church, in this city, this morning. Riddle, superintendent of the Newton hospital, delivered an address, and Miss E. A. Crandall reported on infant mortality. Miss Isabel McInaacs reported on the present situation in nursing in the most famous flyers, Earle L. Ovington and Tom Sopwith, England's famous birdmen, are scheduled to take part in the various contests and exhibitions, and that Harry M. Horton, of New York, the inventor of the aeroplane wireless, is to make daily flights and send messages to the ground station, has greatly added to the importance and general interest of this meeting, which will continue through the week, closing on Saturday. Facts About Motherhood

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at the time of child-birth, but many approach the experience with an organism untried for the trial of strength, and when the strain is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results. There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, women will persist in going blindly to the trial. It isn't as though the experience came upon them unawares. They have ample time in which to prepare, but they, for the most part, trust to chance and pay the penalty.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy, and strong.

Any woman who would like special advice in regard to this matter is cordially invited to write to Mrs. F. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. Her letter will be held in strict
