

BUYER IS LIABLE FOR REAL TAXES

In Personal Property, However, Judgment Is Lien Against Owner.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)
Salem, Or., May 30.—An interesting opinion was given out yesterday afternoon by Attorney General Crawford, in answer to a question asked him by B. F. Mulkey, district attorney of Jacksonville, concerning responsibility for the payment of taxes on real and personal property transferred after assessment and prior to the tax levy. The attorney general takes the stand that in the case of personal property the owner at the time of assessment is personally liable for the taxes, but that in the case of real property, but not constitute a lien upon the property, but are held as a judgment against the owner. In the case of real property, however, the one to whom the property is transferred is liable for the taxes, as they are a lien against the property. Bank stock is an exception to the rule governing personal property, and follows the rule governing real property. Answering Secretary of State Glcott's question whether or not the certificates issued for rebuilding stove foundries at the penitentiary after the first two years ago should bear interest on the interest accrued at the time the warrants were due 90 days ago, Attorney General Crawford replied that there was no rule of law for payment of compound interest in this state without express contract to that effect. And he added that the warrants should bear only simple interest from maturity until paid. The controversy and the extra interest on the warrants since the legislature adjourned is the result of a notion on the part of the legislators that the emergency clause should not be attached to the measure. Master Fish Warden R. E. Clanton asked if the state board of fish and game commissioners were empowered to raise the salary of his head clerk to $125 per month. The attorney general expressed the opinion that the board has the right to fix the salary at any sum, but that money for that purpose was made available by appropriation, which was $2000 for salary of his head clerk as the clerk has been getting but $100 per month, he may safely be raised to $125 so as to consume the appropriation in two years.

3 GRANTS PASS YOUTHS ASTOUND BY ROBBERY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Grants Pass, Or., May 30.—The arrest of three boys and their subsequent confession of house robbery has caused a wide sensation at Grants Pass. The boys, Lloyd and Frank Parker and Merle Mook, sons of prominent families, admit entering the home of E. E. McKee Sunday night, May 21, while the family was at church, and stealing $100. The boys first blamed a drummer, who was arrested and brought to town, but later entangled themselves and confessed.

100 WORDS TOO LITTLE TO TELL FULL STORY OF PUBLIC UTILITIES BILL

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)
Salem, Or., May 30.—Just how little is going to condense into 100 words the full substance and purport of the public utilities bill is a problem over which Attorney General Crawford is perplexed at the present time. He has just been instructed to prepare ballot titles to four measures which have to be referred to the people for ratification or rejection at the next general election. According to law the title on the ballot can not contain over 100 words and the attorney general fears that is not space enough to set forth to the voters a clear conception of the purport of the measure. In addition to the public utilities bill, ballot titles are being prepared for the two University of Oregon appropriation bills and the month dormitory appropriation bill.

TEDDY FUND GOES PAST $400 MARK

Mt. Tabor Children Give Fairy Play for Half Blind Boy's Aid.

Previously acknowledged: $387.70
Mt. Tabor children..... 13.65
Albess Bros. Milling Co..... 5.00
Afton Oliver, La Grande..... 2.00
Or..... 2.00
Total..... $408.34

The Teddy fund went over the $400 mark today with a bound. Its growth was given renewed impetus by gifts from several different sources. None among these was more expressive of the interest and sympathy for half blind Teddy of the Baby Home, than the $13.65 given by the Mount Tabor children, who earned the money by a delightful play called "The Frog Fairy," given last Saturday evening in the ball room of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Buehner. The play was written by Margaret Sutton Briscoe, adapted from the Grim fairy tale of "Twelve Dancing Princesses." The cast was as follows: The soldier, William Groot; executioner, Claud Holden; king, James Ghtenbein; princesses, Virginia Trent, Mollie Green, Ellen Cassel; herald, Virginia Trent; pages, Ollie Green, Helen Trent, Edward Gantebeln; "The Frog Fairy," Helen Berry. It was announced that a matinee would be given today, with the expectation that another tidy little sum would be realized for Teddy's education.

HONOR AMONG THIEVES? "NO SIR," SAYS DUTTON

(United Press Leased Wire.)
New York, May 30.—Trimmed by a woman who looked as though she would not steal toothpicks, Samuel F. Dutton gave himself up in disgust to District Attorney Whitman today to answer the charge of stealing $200 from the office of the Interborough Metropolitan railroad, where he was employed as a ticket agent. Dutton had "worked the game" on William Spencer, an employe of the same company. He invited Spencer to come over to his booth to ascertain the cause of trouble between several passengers who were quarreling, and in Spencer's absence got away with $100 of the company's money and $30 belonging to Spencer. Feeling rather flush, he unwisely invited an innocent looking young woman out to supper and in the course of the evening she, in spite of her apparent angelic moral standard, managed to beat Dutton at his own game and got away with his brand new bank account.

LAYMEN TO TELL HOW TO "RUN" NEWSPAPERS

That members of the Ad club may learn some practical and humorous facts about newspaper publication they will be given a newspaper program at their luncheon in Richards' restaurant tomorrow. W. T. Buchanan has been announced as chairman of the day, and he has arranged some stunts that will prove, it is expected, extremely interesting to the men who make a business of publicity. The program for tomorrow is printed in the form of an ancient newspaper. It announces that Archbishop Christie will be guest of honor. There will be an address by the archbishop, also by F. W. Hill, general manager of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company, and the last subject is "How News is Made and Gathered," by unknowns.

GOES WITHOUT LUNCH TO CUT GROCERY BILL

In order that her husband would not object to the grocery bill, and that there would be more on the dinner table, Mrs. Nina R. Divine alleges in her cross complaint for divorce from Thomas J. Divine, that she would frequently go without her lunch. By so doing, she would economize enough to afford a full dinner, and the grocer's bill at the end of the month would be within the demands of her husband. The Divines were married in 1901 at Goldendale, Wash. He started suit for divorce, charging that his wife neglected the home. Mrs. Divine started a counter action today in the circuit court, and charges he was so stingy she was afraid to eat. It is also alleged that he was cruel and irritable. They separated in 1908.

WIFE BESIDE HIM DEAD WHEN HUSBAND WAKENS

(By the International News Service.)
Dayton, Wash., May 30.—Ella, a sudden death took place here yesterday morning in the passing away of Mrs. Georgia Rickard, wife of J. A. Rickard of the Portland Flouring Mills. Mrs. Rickard, who was only 26 years of age, was in usual health until a few days ago. Her husband awakened in the morning to find his wife dead. Death was due to uremic poisoning.

DAYTON BUSINESS MEN LET CONTRACT FOR HOME

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)
Dayton, Or., May 30.—Eids for the construction of a two story brick building for the Commercial club and S. C. Stuckey of this place were opened yesterday and the bid of Messrs. Watson of Dayton and Hoard of Portland was accepted at $1930. Work will be commenced at once and the completion of the building is not to be later than September 1.

Berger Resolution Sidetracked.
(United Press Leased Wire.)
Washington, May 30.—The house rules committee has decided not to report the resolution of Congressman Berger providing for an investigation of the arrest of John J. McNamara at Indianapolis. They concluded that inasmuch as the resolution of Congressman Key provided for an amendment of the extradition laws which would prevent a repetition of the McNamara incident an investigation was unnecessary. Berger issued a statement demanding a recommendation of his resolution.

BUSINESS SUFFERS BY IDLE FISHERIES

Closing of Rogue River for the Season Means Loss to Curry County People.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Marshfield, Or., May 30.—For the first season in many years, the fisheries of Rogue river in Curry county will be inactive, and thousands of chinook salmon will enter the harbor and go up the river to spawn and die. On account of the recent law passed, commercial fishing on Rogue river is prohibited. This means the loss of about $10,000 worth of business and cripples the business interests of the Rogue river community considerably. Gold Beach, the county seat of Curry county, is located on one side of Rogue river and opposite is Wedderburn, the little town started by the late R. D. Hume, who was known as the "King of Rogue river." For many years Mr. Hume operated the salmon fisheries and had his own cold storage plant and cannery. He conducted many legal fights with the government and with individuals at different times, but always managed to maintain his supremacy on the river and controlled the fishing of the waterway. He built his own fish hatchery, which for a time was the only private hatchery in Oregon. It has been sold to the government. Since Mr. Hume's death some of his heirs leased the fishing rights from the estate and conducted the fisheries. Fifty or more men in the locality made their living with the fisheries, and what shipping there was and much of the business of the towns depended upon it. The salmon season on Coos bay opens in July. Many are employed here in the business, and this season it will be more extensive than before, as there is to be a new cannery opened in Marshfield. The cannery at Empire will also be operated and Portland buyers will probably ship fish this year, as they have done in the past. The fishermen expect an increase in the price paid for fish on account of there being an additional demand.

PIONEER WOMAN OF '53 DIES—MANY CHILDREN

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)
Salem, Or., May 30.—Getting a line on the small telephone companies of the state is the work which has been engaging the attention of the state tax commission recently. Commissioner J. B. Eaton has just returned from Lake county and all intermediate county seats. He says it is easy to keep close supervision over the large companies, but the scores of small lines are more difficult to keep track of. According to the report blanks being mailed out by the secretary of state, there are between 6000 and 7000 active domestic corporations in Oregon, and 600 foreign corporations. Every one of these must return their reports to the secretary's office with their license fee to the treasurer by July 1. Chauffeur Gets Verdict.
(United Press Leased Wire.)
New York, May 30.—F. Augustus Heine, the Montana copper magnate, faces a verdict today of $325 damages awarded his taxicab chauffeur. The assault, it is alleged, was committed because of overcharges.

BOOTLEGGER JONES PARDONED BY WEST

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Hillsboro, Or., May 30.—Charles Jones, serving a sentence for bootlegging, was released from the Washington county jail Sunday on a pardon by Governor West. Jones pleaded guilty on January 23 to four indictments charging illicit liquor selling in the grading camps of the P. K. & N. and was sentenced on the first to 115 days in jail and a fine of $150. As he had no money he was also serving the fine, and 132 days remained when the pardon was granted. The judge and district attorney both signed the petition for pardon. Fines of $400 were imposed upon the three parolees granted by the court. The pardon says these fines are not included in executive clemency.

MAX WEISS FINED $500 BUT ESCAPES PRISON

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Roseburg, Or., May 30.—Max Weiss, operator of the local cold storage plant, was given the maximum fine of $500 after having been found guilty of violating the local option law. He would have been given a jail sentence also but for the unsanitary condition of the county jail. Weiss is the third man fined $500 during the present term of court. Six more men are to be tried on practically the same evidence that convicted Weiss and the other two men.

Filing Fee $75.00 on Mortgage.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Hillsboro, Or., May 30.—A mortgage on the Fidelity Trust company of Philadelphia securing a first issue of $5,000,000 by the Washington-Oregon Corporation has been filed in the recorder's office. It will occupy about 60 pages of the records and the fee was $75.00. The company operates the Hillsboro water and light plant and owns the Haines power plant near Forest Grove. The mortgage is filed in all the counties in Oregon and Washington in which the company operates.

Clergymen Slow to File.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Hillsboro, Or., May 30.—But 11 Washington county clergymen have thus far complied with the law requiring that certificates of authority be registered with the county clerk before marriage ceremonies are performed. This number by no means includes all who perform such ceremonies and a few prosecutions of careless ones are looked for.
