AUTO RACE IN THE DESCHUTES ENDS IN DEATH OF FIGHTER

HUSBAND WINS IN A GRIM DASH FOR LIFE OF ANOTHER

Comes Upon Wife, Companion and Pugilist When Long's Machine Breaks—Shoots Fighter in Clinch.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Prineville, Or., June 2.—Travelers on the county road between Opal City and Redmond stopped yesterday afternoon to watch an exciting automobile race between a machine in which were Louie Long, the Vancouver (Wash.) prize-fighter, Mrs. J. L. Riley of Portland and Miss Mono Adams, and a light runabout driven by J. L. Riley, a cigar salesman of Portland and the Riley woman's husband. While the spectators were cheering Riley on to victory when Long's machine broke down, they saw him stop his machine near the other car, draw a revolver, send three bullets into Long's body, killing him, and then shoot his own wife, wounding her painfully.
