

ALL CREEDS JOIN TO PAY TRIBUTE TO CARDINAL GIBBONS

Jubilee Services in Honor of Catholic Prelate's Ordination to be Participated in by Many.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Baltimore, Md., June 5.—Jubilee services in honor of Cardinal Gibbons will be held in the First Regiment armory tomorrow afternoon. The celebration commemorates the fiftieth anniversary of the ordination of Cardinal Gibbons in the priesthood and the twenty-fifth anniversary of his raising to the position of cardinal.

All creeds will participate in the celebration.
President to Speak.
President Taft and former President Roosevelt head the list of speakers. Others who are expected to deliver addresses are Chief Justice White of the supreme court of the United States, Vice President Sherman, Speaker Champ Clark, Governor Crothers of Maryland, Mayor Preston of Baltimore, and Bishop John Gardiner Murray of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Maryland.

The celebration Tuesday is to be of a purely civic character and entirely distinct from the ecclesiastical jubilee services to be held next fall and in which noted dignitaries of the Roman Catholic church throughout the world will participate. The present demonstration is designed as a recognition of the influence which Cardinal Gibbons has exercised for high ideals in citizenship and patriotism.

The years of life have told lightly upon Cardinal Gibbons, and to look at him one would not imagine that he is in his seventy-seventh year. Never what can be termed robust, a frugal husband of his physical powers has more than stoned for what nature did not bestow.

His eminence was born in this city July 23, 1834, of Irish parents. During his boyhood he was taken to Ireland, where he received the elements of a liberal education. On returning to the United States it was determined by his parents to consecrate him to the service of God and he entered St. Charles college, Maryland, where he graduated with distinction in 1857. Thence he went to St. Mary's seminary, where, after taking the usual courses of theology and philosophy, he was ordained a priest June 4, 1861, by Archbishop Bayley.

Father Gibbons was at once assigned to duty and hard duty at that time, in the city of Baltimore, serving first as an assistant priest at St. Patrick's church, East Baltimore, under the famous James Doyle, and then as appointed vicar apostolic of North Carolina. He remained four years in North Carolina and displayed such remarkable administrative abilities that on the death of Bishop McGill he was transferred to Richmond, Va., where he was installed bishop in 1872.

His administration in Richmond was marked by practical results of the most important character. In 1877 Bishop Gibbons was appointed coadjutor with the right of succession to the late Archbishop Bayley of Baltimore. He was installed archbishop at the cathedral in this city February 10, 1878. In 1887 he received the red hat of the cardinalate in Rome at the hands of Pope Leo XIII.

JAMES A. RICHARDSON, PIONEER DOCTOR, DIES

Dr. James A. Richardson, one of Oregon's pioneer physicians, died at his Woodstock home yesterday after a long illness. He was more than 70 years of age and had lived in Oregon practically all his life. He came to this state with his parents by ox team and grew to manhood in the Willamette valley. Dr. Richardson was a pioneer politician and represented Yamhill county at the Union State convention held at Corvallis in 1868. He was at one time mayor of Salem, a member of the legislature, and physician at the insane hospital. He resided in the capital city for the past 25 years, but returned from active practice nearly two years ago. Later he removed to Portland. He is survived by his wife, a son, Dr. Boyd Richardson of this city, and a daughter, Miss Frances K. Richardson, who also resides here. The funeral will be held tomorrow from Finley's chapel at 2 o'clock p. m.

"THE GREAT DIVIDE" BOLD IN CONCEPTION

Story of Wretched Miner Depicted in Variety of Shades.

"The Great Divide," one of the best dramas from the pen of William Vaughn Moody, began a week's run at the Baker yesterday with the house crowded. The performance is very creditable and the actors fitted their parts well, though in one or two instances it strained their skill to depict the characters in the climax, owing to the whirlwind emotionalism that fairly sweeps through the three sensational acts.

The plot is a bold one. It tells of the development of a rough, uncouth miner, from a whiskey soaked wretch to a clean minded man, through the influence of an educated eastern girl, whom he gambled and fought for, then forcibly compelled to marry him. As the girl, "Ruth Jordan," "Muriel Hope," the new leading woman, has her hands full, for the burden of the play falls equally on her shoulders and those of John Sainpolis, as "Phillip Ghent," the miner. Both proved able to carry through their parts in splendid style although they seemed to fall down slightly in the quarrel scene when she buries back the chain of gold nuggets that she considered part of her purchase price.

As Polly Jordan, the quick tempered wife of Phillip Jordan, Fay Bainter proved one of the evening's hits. Her dainty garments looked much out of place however on the top of a dusty Arizona peak. J. Frank Burke, likewise proved a laugh producer in the role of Lon Anderson, the uncommunicative Scotchman.

The stage mountains were excellent, particularly the settings for the second act which depicted the top of a mountain, with the stark peaks surrounding silhouetted against a coppery summer sky.

FORM A TRUST TO FIGHT

their fault. They have done their best to make muckraking impossible. "Just how far they have gone in their efforts is not appreciated outside a small circle in the 'professional magazine' world of New York.

McClure's began work. "S. S. McClure's magazine originated muckraking, as we understand the term. McClure's began the story of the life of John D. Rockefeller. It proved a tremendous circulation builder. It was followed by the history of Standard Oil. These features brought advertising and prestige. Yet McClure's was in troubled waters financially. He had so much trouble that he, Sam S. McClure, reached the point where he did not believe he could continue the fight. Unexpected financial assistance came just in time.

"Then came other muckrakers. Lawson's 'Frenzied Finance' brought a storm to 'Everybody's.' That magazine has since entered a combination with a group of other magazine interests. "I have just gone through a struggle with Ben B. Hampton, perhaps the bitterest fight of them all. The magazine that bore his name exposed the Sugar trust, the Beef trust, the Southern Pacific, started the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy, and did many other things that muzzed up the plans of the gentlemen in Wall street. They fought back. Sometimes they fought in the open, more often in the dark. "The combination just effected is the only method, however, by which magazines can be kept free. Its cardinal principle is ownership by the people themselves and cooperation among the owners. Under the consolidation there will be a total of 24,000 stockholders."

MRS. JEANETTE M'DONALD BURIED AT THE DALLES

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
The Dalles, Or., June 5.—The funeral of Mrs. Jeanette McDonald of Wasco here yesterday was largely attended by people of eastern Oregon. Mrs. McDonald was born in Scotland in 1831, and came to Canada in 1854 with her husband. A few years later they came to eastern Oregon, where she had resided ever since. Five daughters survive. Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. E. O. McCoy of this city, Mrs. J. N. Fordyce of Portland, Mrs. J. S. Amos, Mrs. G. N. Amos and Mrs. G. N. Crossfield of Wasco. Mrs. McDonald would have been 80 years old in August.

Indian Canoe Given Society.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
The Dalles, Or., June 5.—E. A. Gifford, photographer of Portland, formerly of this city, presented the Old Fort Dalles Historical society with an Indian canoe 30 feet long. The aboriginal boat is a dugout made from a fir log, and was procured from Indian fishermen several years ago. The canoe, up to the time Mr. Gifford procured it, had been in use nearly a century, and is still in good condition, the wood not being decayed at all.

The Center of Attraction Today

IS THE GRAND OPENING OF THE NEW EILERS MUSIC HOUSE

To all of our friends, to every reader of The Journal, we extend a most cordial invitation to visit us during these grand opening days. Call in the morning or in the afternoon, or in the evening, but don't fail to come.

We anticipate the pleasure of enjoying with you numerous pleasant surprises we have planned for this opening. The faithful work of architect and artisan, having at their disposal everything of the best obtainable, has culminated in one of the handsomest business structures anywhere. The choicest achievements in American musical instrument making are here displayed.

The opening of this superb new establishment will definitely mark a period in Northwestern musical history.

To give everyone an opportunity for inspection, a reception will be held this evening and tomorrow. There will be concerts and recitals throughout the building hourly, to which admission is free.

Nothing will be sold this afternoon or evening. The housewarming spirit must prevail—commercialism for the time being must take its place far in the background.

We bid you cordial welcome.
